THE EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION

OF THE WOMEN'S GENERAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HELD AT MONMOUTH, ILLINOIS, MAY 14-17, 1901.

MINUTES.

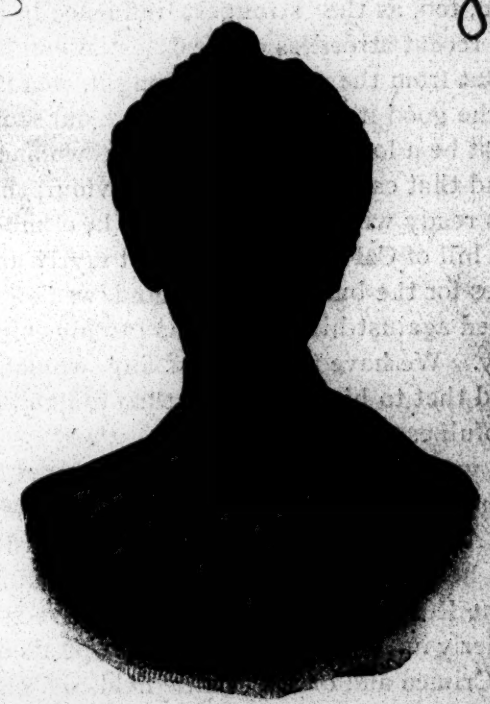
TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 14.

In response to invitation, the Eighteenth Annual Convention of the General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church met on the evening of May 14, 1901, at 7:45 o'clock in the First United Presbyterian Church of Monmouth, Illinois, Rev. Thomas H. Hanna D. D., pastor; Miss Mary H. McCullough, of Omaha, Neb., First Vice President, presiding.

The opening praise and prayer service was led by Miss McCullough; subject, "Commit thy Works unto the Lord." Prayer by Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, singing and the reading of the 3rd chapter of 1st Corinthians, with the closing prayer offered by Mrs. Mary M. Hill, of Monongahela, constituted this service.

Quartette sang, "I will lift up mine eyes to the hills from whence cometh my aid."

Miss McCullough introduced the President of the Convention, elected at Pawnee City, May, 1900, Mrs. J. T. Logue, of Cleveland, Ohio, who addressed the Convention; subject, as follows:



MRS. J. T. LOGUE,
Cleveland, O.

"Only a Woman's Hand."

OPENING ADDRESS BY MRS. J. T. LOGUE, PRESIDENT.

Standing at the harbor entrance of some large lake or ocean city we have watched the great ships gliding majestically into port. We wonder at the apparent ease with which they escape the other vessels with which the narrow channel is crowded and bring up so gracefully at the docks. We do not see, so intent have we been watching the ships themselves, the tiny tugs that amid all the intricacies of the crowded channel have furnished both the motive and the guiding power, and without which the huge vessels, built for the storms of the open sea, must have come to grief. From the creation of the world to the present time, woman has thus been wielding an unseen, silent, ofttimes unappreciated, but always effective hand of influence upon the lives of men and nations.

"Only a woman's hand," we say; but what a part it has played in the world's history for good or for evil, for weal or for woe. It was a woman's hand that received the apple from the tempter; a woman's hand, bejeweled and white, that was stained with the blood of the Lord's prophets of Israel; a woman's hand that made the cruel Nero what he was; that stained the pages of French history with the massacres of Vassay and St. Bartholomew's night; that was seen, too, as the strongest influence in all the recent atrocities of the Celestial empire.

But from the evil it has wrought, we turn to the good it has done, and here our story must be a longer one. It was a woman's hand that cared for the infant Saviour; that was ready with its ministries as he climbed the hill of Calvary; that brought myrrh and aloes for the burial. Man's hand was often raised against him during his earthly ministry. We have no record of any woman's hand that to him was other than a hand of helpfulness.

It was a woman's hand that appeared as the moulding factor in the lives of Josiah and Augustine and the Wesleys; that proved a helpful influence to Luther in the work of the Reformation and that ministered so tenderly in the plague smitten hospitals of the Crimea and on the battle fields of our civil war. Wherever there have been uplifting agencies at work, wherever missionary labors undertaken, wherever philanthropic and benevolent enterprises are carried on, there somewhere you will find the outline of a woman's hand.

IN THE HOME.

We may speak of it, first, as seen in the home. George Eliot has said, "What furniture can give such finish to a room as a tender woman's face, and is there any harmony of tints that has such stirrings of delight as the sweet modulations of her voice?" Furniture is a necessary thing in a home. It is ours to be that piece of furniture which gives the most peace, rest and comfort to the members of the household. Scarce four months have passed since a woman was called to exchange her earthly crown, which she had worn with a dignity and grace surpassed by no other monarch since the world began, for a crown in glory. We may not be Victorias. We may be called to rule over much smaller kingdoms. But queens we may be nevertheless. Ruskin says, "Queens you must always be; queens to your lovers, queens to your husbands and sons, queens of higher mystery to the world beyond, which bows itself and will forever bow before the myrtle crown and stainless scepter of womanhood."

When the master of the house went into a far country, he gave to his servants talents according to their ability; to one, one; to another, two; to another five. The reward for faithful service was the same in each case: "Well done, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." We sometimes hear one say, "Oh, if I could but have some great thing to do, could I but be a Paul preaching and saving the multitudes, could I but be a Dorothy L. Dix, a Florence Nightingale or a Clara Barton, it would be worth while to put forth effort, but it is no use for me to try to do anything. I have no opportunities.'

The Master gave to his servants according to their ability. How kind, how thoughtful, how loving! He did not burden them with work he knew they had not the ability to do. So our heavenly Father has given us our work according to our ability. We may have but one soul to bring to Christ; let us do our utmost to bring it. We may have but one fevered brow on which to place the cooling hand, one pillow to turn and smooth making the tossing head more comfortable; but if we are faithful to the trust given us, our reward will be as great as that of Paul, or the nurses who have ministered to hundreds of suffering ones. Have you sons and daughters? Train them in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Teach them to lead sober, honest, upright, Christian lives. You may scarcely be known outside your home for any great work. But your children shall rise up and call you blessed. The hand of your influence may thus be felt by nations. How many men of prominence and position have said, "I owe all to my wife, or I owe all to my mother; she made me what I am." Your hand of flesh may be chapped and red, it may be thin and wrinkled, it may be shriveled and puckered by the suds of the tub; but that other hand, your hand of influence, may be plump and fair, waiting to be decked with the jeweled circlets of the loving praise of husband and children. Henry Ward Beecher echoed the sentiments of many a man when he wrote, "I can never say enough for women for my sister's sake," and of his mother he said, "Few born into this world are her equal."

In reading a description of the home life of Emerson, we see how Aunt Mary, a woman of abrupt, strong, prophetic speech, seems to have left her impress on the boy's mind. It may not be yours to be the wife or the mother, but only the Aunt Mary. In how many a household is it the Aunt Mary packs the dinner pail, rocks the baby to sleep, ties up the bruised finger, and in numberless other ways relieves the weary mother. Many can say with James Whitcomb Riley:

"Wasn't it pleasant, O brother mine,
In those old days of the lost sunshine
Of youth, when the Saturday's chores were through,
And the Sunday's wood in the kitchen, too,
And we went visiting, me and you,
Out to old Aunt Mary's?

"Why, I see her now in the open door
Where the little gourds grew up the sides and o'er
The clapboard roof! And her face—Ah, me!
Wasn't it good for a boy to see—
And wasn't it good for a boy to be
Out to old Aunt Mary's?

"And O my brother, so far away,
This is to tell you she waits to-day
To welcome us; Aunt Mary fell Asleep this morning, whispering, "Tell
The boys to come;" And all is well
Out to old Aunt Mary's."

God bless the Aunt Marys, and there are many of them.

To all our Master has given at least one talent. Let us not then dig a hole and bury it, but put it to use that it may redound to his honor and glory. Many women underrate their ability and are sure they are the ones with only one talent. It is a mistake, a mistake such as the Master, when he calls us to account, will not make. He will require of each of us an account of each and every talent. Many of us, perhaps most of us, are the two talent women. It is not the greatest wealth or the most brilliant brain that is bringing the greatest happiness or the greatest good to the world, but it is the work of men and women of average ability.

IN THE CHURCH.

Woman's hand appears also in the Church. What can, what has woman done for the cause of Christ in the world? What would the Church of God be to-day, if woman's hand had always been folded in idleness? Since the days of the building of the tabernacle, the "wise and willing hearted women have spun with their hands, and have brought gifts of precious things, that the work of the building of Christ's kingdom in the world might be accomplished. What part are you taking in this great work?

The Sabbath school has often been spoken of as God's flower garden. It is in this garden the willing hearted women can find much to do. A faithful, earnest teacher, who had labored for years in a Sabbath school, asked the superintendent to release her. "I feel I am not a success; I never have any conversions in my class. There is Miss B. who takes my class at promotion, and in no time at all she brings them all to Christ."

When we pass through beautiful parks and gardens, admiring the fine foliage and the magnificent flowers, how little we think of the faithful gardener who has enriched the soil, planted the seed, pulled the weeds and so tenderly watched each bud as it formed! Where would be those gorgeous blossoms, if his rough hands had left their work undone? The owner of the garden is really the only one who thoroughly appreciates his work. But why need the gardener care? For whom is he working, whom is he trying to please? So let us not be discouraged if we are not permitted to gather the blossoms, but remember that only our work may bring forth the healthy plant without which there can be no blossoms, the fragrance of whose perfume permeates the whole earth and rises even unto the heavens. Of what woman has done for the cause of Christ through her missionary societies I scarcely need speak here to-night, for this gathering testifies in itself of her interest in this direction.

What continent or island has opened its doors to Christianity, and woman has not been ready to step in. The zenana and medical work of India and Egypt is reaching and influencing a vast multitude which man's hand could not reach at all under present conditions. The hand of woman is carrying the gospel of Jesus Christ into thousands of homes, and the spiritual eyes of those poor benighted, ignorant, superstitious sisters are being opened to behold wondrous things out of his law. The piteous exclamation of many of these poor creatures, "Oh, I am only a woman!" testifies to their degradation, for a woman is no better than an animal in their sight. Our ears are deaf to the piteous cry of these suffering ones, because we have no conception of their true condition. None but those who have labored among them can fully realize it. Think of the millions of poor women, who have never heard of the Saviour, and who are not allowed the liberty of action and expression which we enjoy while we sit with closed hands and pocket-books which should be open for their comfort and salvation. Are we as individuals, doing all we can in this work? Are we obeying the command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel." It is true the most of us cannot go ourselves, but oh! how many substitutes there might be in the mission fields, if the wealth of the Christian women of the world was consecrated to God's service! A devoted woman, who is supporting a worker in the foreign field, said in speaking of the work to a friend, "It is so pleasant, when one is weary and retires for the night, to gain strength for the duties of the coming day to feel your work for God never stops. While I am sleeping my substitute on the other side of the globe is doing my work." Many are the women who have sacrificed much and have gone out as wives of missionaries, who besides doing faithful work themselves have been an inspiration, a comfort and strength to their husbands. Many a mother, who, not being permitted to go herself, has trained and prepared a son for the Master's vineyard. Who will say that in the day of final accounts Robert Moffat's mother, who first awakened in him the missionary spirit amid the hills of Scotland, will receive no credit for Africa's evangelization? So may we not say woman's hand of influence may be seen in the mission work of the world? But let us stretch forth this hand until the slender fingers shall drop many more dollars into the uttermost parts of the earth. We profess to love Christ; are we willing to sacrifice for him? Are we willing to give a cup of cold water to one of the least of these his brethren? It has been said, "The Christian's love has a broken wing, if it cannot fly across the ocean."

IN SOCIETY.

A little girl was asked how Eve was made, and replied, "Out of Adam's backbone, and I guess it took it all." The moral backbone of our civilization is in its womanhood. Society will always be what woman makes it. M. Worth, the eminent Paris dressmaker, telegraphed the "Boston Herald," saying, "The great and pressing need of the age is a woman of influence somewhere or other to set the fashions." In default of this he has often, after exhausting his genius upon a new dress, been compelled to use various indirect devices to bring it into vogue. If one thinks what a beautiful work of art a lady's dress may be when wealth and Worth have done their best for it, and what an appalling product mere wealth without taste develops under that name, one may well give a sigh of sympathy to this man of genius who could find no woman quite worthy of his scissors. But the great demand of the woman of influence is not only to wear Worth's dresses, but to mould and control all the habits of society. Thus into whatever sphere of society she enters, whether the business, or the literary, or the philanthropic, or the reform, or the teaching world, she should become its conscience.

The business woman is supposed to be a development of the latter halt of the nineteenth century, but women have exercised business sagacity in the expenditure and management of money in small ways almost since American homes were established, and the judicious counsel of many a wife has been the guiding star to her husband through complex affairs. In these times of greed, when the getting of the almighty dollar seems to be, to a great extent, the chief end of man, I have wondered it the business women of the world would follow in the same line, and sacrifice truthfulness, honesty, honor and even souls sometimes, in order to satisfy their greed; or if they, by their healthy moral convictions, would in some degree check the mad rush of waters which is bringing many a bright and promising man to ruin. In the literary world, too, woman today holds no small place and exercises no small influence upon society. Here, through her sweet lullabies, she speaks to the children, the youth and old age. One of the cries of the day is for purer, better literature. Let us then have more Mrs. Aldens, more Frances Havergals. "Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart," is the first and great commandment. The second is like unto it: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." It is in her philanthropies, in their benign influences upon society, that woman is obeying the second commandment to-day, an obedience that has been made possible because of the obedience first of all to the first. Her hands, like the Master's, are beautiful for their ministries. They reach out to the fallen one and snatch her from the terrible abyss; they prepare and administer strengthening food to the sick and weary; they clothe the orphans and bring comfort to the widows; they gently lead the aged to homes of comfort where they may find light at eventide. In the world of reform, woman's hand is ever present. Such men as Cardinal Gibbons and Dr. Parkhnrst freely admit the inability of men to cope with the evils of the time, unaided by the mental and moral strength of woman. And need we speak of her hand as it is laid upon society through the schoolroom?

Next to the mother's, the hand which takes the strongest grasp, and holds the longest, and leaves the deepest impression, is the teacher's, and that hand is oftener than not a woman's hand. Dear sisters, are you tempted to feel sometimes that your hand can do nothing? Weak as it may sometimes appear, it is yet a hand of power and a hand of blessed influence if used aright. Some years ago I was present when a lady came to our house to have my husband make her will. When the document was prepared, it was presented to her to sign. She was an elderly lady, much weakened by disease and at times very nervous. She took a small piece of paper which was lying on the table, and began writing her name upon it. Her hand trembled so violently that, when she had finished, it was impossible to read what she had written. She turned to me with a pitiful look and said, "I was afraid I could not do it. Will you please hold my hand while I try the best I can?" I placed my hand firmly over hers, steadying it while she wrote quite plainly her signature to the will. She has since passed away. That signature has given to needy ones the wherewithal to live comfortable, happy lives. Do you feel vour hand of influence is feeble and unsteady, unfit to perform any service? Ask the Master to place his firm, tender, loving hand upon it, to give strength, confidence, firmness and guidance; and at the last day, when the seal of your life is broken by the great judge, it will be found that the legacy of your influence will contain many precious jewels for those who have mingled with you in this earthly home. The only signature many an ignorant one can place on paper is the sign of the cross. If your life signature be the sign of the blessed cross raised on Calvary, it will bring honor and glory to God and peace and comfort to those about you.

The first and third stanzas of No. 185, Bible Songs, were sung.

The roll was called.

Mrs. T. H. Hanna, wife of the pastor, welcomed the officers, delegates and visitors to the city, the Convention and their homes, with a kind and cordial greeting. She also gave a short history of the United Presbyterian church in this vicinity. Attention was called to the picture of the old Henderson church, situated three miles west of Monmouth, organized in 1830 by Rev. McCarroll. This church with two others were the only psalm singing churches as far west as Monmouth and, as the speaker said, "between this one and the North pole." A gavel made from the wood of the church was presented to the Convention. Miss McCullough replied to the greetings tendered and accepted the gavel in the name of the Convention.

President appointed committee on credentials: Mrs. Mary W. Porter, Miss E. D.

Brown and Mrs. Ella Torrence Hood.

Service closed with singing No. 98, Bible Songs. Benediction pronounced by Rev. T. H. Hanna, D. D.

A reception in the church parlors followed, and judging from the greetings and handshakings of sisters in the work, from New York to California, and from Wisconsin to Tennessee, was a pleasure never to be forgotten.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 9 A. M.

Session opened with devotions in charge of Mrs. Ellen E. Cooley, Xenia, Ohio, and included singing of No. 16 and the Fifteenth Psalm.

Report of the Statistical Secretary read and adopted, with the omission of number of Junior members as reported separately.

The recommendation to omit the column headed "Congregational work" in the reports of the congregational and presbyterial blanks was offered. Many persons took part in the discussion. On motion it was decided to omit the report of this work.

Contingent report itemized and the General Treasurer's report were given by the Treasurer. Both reports adopted.

Report of the Recording Secretary of Women's Board, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, was read by Mrs. Sands. Adopted; also a message of sympathy requested to be sent to Mrs. Campbell, by Mrs. N. W. Stevenson, of Allegheny.

Report of Finance Committee, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, chairman, presented and adopted.

Church Extension and Parsonage Fund. report, Mrs. Geo. W. McDonald, Secretary, was read by Miss E. J. Sloan and adopted

Report of Xenia Training School Committee was given by Mrs. S. M. Kelso, and same adopted.

Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter presented the question of establishing a home for the children of missionaries to be educated in this country. On motion referred to a committee of five to be named by the President.

An invitation from Dr. Lyons to visit the college on Friday a. m. at chapel, was on motion accepted.

Session closed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Crabbe, of Los Angeles, Cal.

WEDNESDAY P. M., MAY 15.

A special conference of Thank-offering bearers, Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, leader.

The devotional exercises of this session were led by Mrs. J. S. Colvin, of Rookwalter, Nebraska; theme, "The Childlike Spirit." Selections from Bible Songs No. 47 and 107 were sung. Service closed with a short prayer service, several members of Convention taking part.

Reading of minutes, on motion, deferred.

The report of the Secretary of Junior work was given by the Secretary, Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson, and, on motion, adopted.

A model missionary society, composed of thirteen boys and girls, conducted by Mrs. Emma Nichol, held the attention of the Convention for almost an hour. It showed what training will do for the young and was in every sense a model missionary meeting.

This hour, devoted to the Juniors, included earnest prayer for their guidance and welfare.

The report of the Thank-offering work was given by the Secretary, Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, and same adopted.

In the conference which followed many of the delegates repeated verses of Scripture suitable to the subject under discussion.

The report of the Secretary of the MAGAZINE Committee, Mrs. E. H. Carruthers, was read by Mrs. W. C. Hutchison, of Xenia, one of the editors of the MAGAZINE. On motion report adopted.

The report of the Treasurer of the MAGAZINE, Mrs. S. M. Kelso, was, on motion, adopted.

The report of the Literature Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Caughey, was read and adopted.

Selection from Bible Songs was sung.

The report of the Juniors' Magazine, which is under the care of the Literature Committee, was given by the editor, Mrs. E. M. Hill, with the financial report by Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson, the business manager. Reports adopted as read.

An address on "Our Publications and How to Use Them" was given by Mrs. E. M. Hill. Members of the Convention took part in the discussion on the subject. In referring to the Women's Missionary MAGAZINE and the labors of its Committee, a resolution was offered and adopted, "That this Convention by a rising vote show their love and sympathy for the Magazine Committee."

Delegates were asked to take part and give experience or suggestions that might prove helpful to this branch of work. Among the encouraging works spoken were those by Miss Elizabeth G. Gordon, our oldest missionary to India, who was received with the Chautauqua salute when she appeared on the platform.

The committee appointed to suggest plans for the establishing of a home for the children of missionaries, as presented at a previous session, is as follows:

Mrs. Mary C. Porter, Allegheny, Pa.
Mrs. John Ferguson, Des Moines, Pres., Ia.
Mrs. Mary Jackson, Philadelphia, Pa.
Mrs. J. P. White, Kansas City Presbytery.
Mrs. A. M. Campbell, Princeton, Ind.

Adjourned by repeating the Lord's prayer.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 15.

The President explained, that in order to comply with the wishes of the President of Monmouth College in regard to time of visiting the college, it would be necessary to re-consider the motion adopted at a previous session: That we would visit the College on Friday morning at 11 a. m. at chapel. On motion that action was re-considered. Moved and carried that the invitation to visit the College on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock be accepted, and that the time of meeting of Convention be changed from 9 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., and from 1:45 p. m. to 1:15 p. m.

The second evening of the Convention is always devoted to the solemn and impressive Thank-offering service, in which the delegates are privileged to take part. The Thank-offering program, as arranged by the Secretary, was carried out to the letter.

The praise service preceding was presided over by Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, and began with an anthem chorus by the choir followed by selections from the Bible Songs.

The Thank-offering service, Mrs. H. T. Jackson, of Stronghurst, Ill., presiding, included an address by Mrs. Jackson, subject, "In Everything Give Thanks"; singing of suitable selections from Bible Songs by choir and audience, and an address by Mrs. Jennie Logue Campbell, "I Am Debtor."

During the singing of "I Love the Lord" the delegates presented the offerings of their Presbyterial societies, while standing sentence prayers were offered by almost every representative, closing with prayer by Mrs. W. C. Hutchison, of Xenia. The prayer consecrating the offerings to the service of God was offered by Dr. T. H. Hanna, of Monmouth, Ill. A consecration service followed, led by the Thank-offering Secretary. The amounts of Thank-offering, as given by Presbyteries, was read, amounting to 39.618.27.

After announcements by the President, Dr. W. T. Campbell closed the meeting with prayer.

THURSDAY MAY 16, 8:30 A. M.

According to arrangement, the Convention came to order at 8:30 o'clock. Change in the time was made to enable the members of the Convention, and visitors to attend College chapel at 11 o'clock, in responce to invitation of President Dr. Lyons. The session was opened with morning worship led by Mrs. J. B. McMichael, of Xenia Presbytery; subject, "Freedom Through Christ." After a prayer, a selection from Bible Songs, "Be Glad in Him Rejoice", closed the morning worship.

The report of the Secretary of Freedmen's work, Dr. C. Jane Vincent, was read by Mrs. R. S. Smith, of Monongahela, and adopted.

"A Glance Southward" was the subject of an address by Miss Christianita Totten, teacher of sewing in the industrial department of our school at Athens, Tennessee. She gave a description of the mission stations, churches and schools in the South and the methods and manner of conducting the work among the Freedmen. She drew the contrast between these brothers and sisters before they were brought under gospel and educational influence and after they had enjoyed these great privileges. Miss Totten's paper evidently covered all the ground, as when an opportunity was given to ask questions, all seemed to be satisfied with the information given in the paper.

The report of the Secretary of the Foreign Work, Mrs. W. J. Reid, was given, and on motion adopted.

The report of the Nominating Committee submitted three names for President. On motion three were added to the list.

On motion it was decided that the person having the highest number of votes be declared President; the second highest, First Vice President, and the third highest, Second Vice President.

On motion Miss E. J. Sloan was elected Treasurer of the Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society, the Secretary to cast the ballot.

On motion Mrs. Mary W. Porter was elected Secretary of the Convention of the W. G. M. S., Treasurer to cast the ballot.

Five names were nominated for Board of Directors, and on motion one name was added.

The Secretary was ordered to cast the ballot for the MAGAZINE Committee, which elected the Committee as formerly constituted; also the Committee on the Xenia Training School which also stands without change.

Chairman of committee on place of meeting reported five invitations, one each from Bloomington, Ind., Xenia, O., Denver, Colo., Los Angeles, Cal., and Sterling, Kan. The Committee suggested that choice be made between Xenia and Denver. It was finally, on motion, decided, by a rising vote of 65 to 42, to accept the invitation to hold the Convention of 1902 in Xenia, Ohio, which was followed by a vote of thanks to the churches who so kindly extended invitations.

Moved and carried that the business of the Convention be made the order of the day after devotions in the afternoon session.

Adjourned by repeating the Mizpah blessing, "The Lord watch between me and thee when we are absent one from another."

THURSDAY MAY 16, 1:15 P. M.

The devotional service of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. R. S. Cook, of Washington, Iowa. Singing of No. 180 Bible Songs opened the service; subject, "Duty to the Unevangelized," Romans 10:14. Several members led in prayer; and service closed with singing 1st verse of No. 190, Bible Songs. The business of the Convention was then made the order of the day.

Chairman announced the result of the election as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF TELLERS.

President, Mrs. H. T. Jackson, College Springs Pres.

1st Vice President, Mrs. H. H. Bell, Colorado.

2nd Vice President, Mrs. A. M. Campbell, Princeton.

Secretary, Mrs. Mary W. Porter, Monongahela.

Treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Sloan, Monongahela.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Mrs. George McDonald, Allegheny.
Mrs. E. M. Hill, Monongahela.
Mrs. Mary W. Porter, Monongahela.
Mrs. Samuel Yourd, Monongahela.
Miss E. D. Brown, Monongahela.

MAGAZINE COMMITTEE.

Mrs. W. C. Hutchison, Xenia.
Mrs. S. S. Wilson, Xenia.
Mrs. S. M. Kelso, Xenia.
Mrs. E. H. Carruthers, Xenia.
Mrs. H. C. Dean, Jamestown, O.

XENIA TRAINING SCHOOL.

Mrs. S. M. Kelso, Xenia.
Mrs. S. S. Wilson, Xenia.
Mrs. R. S. Finley, Xenia.
Mrs. Jos. Holmes, Xenia.
Miss Sarah Reid, Springfield, O.

The chairman of the committee appointed to suggest plans for homes for missionaries children while being educated presented the following resolutions, which were considered seriatim:

RESOLUTIONS CONCERNING A HOME FOR CHILDREN OF MISSIONARIES.

WHEREAS, It becomes necessary for our foreign missionaries to send their children at an early age to this country, on account of the lack of educational facilities, the unhealthy climate for growing youths (especially for girls) and the unfavorable surroundings for them in Egypt and India, and

WHEREAS, These children are during their school years deprived of the care of their parents and of the influence of home training, and

WHEREAS, Missionaries in the homeland are at times located in fields not having advantages of school privileges for their children, therefore,

Resolved 1, That the Women's General Missionary Society provide a home for the children of foreign and home missionaries in active service, at a moderate cost of board while procuring an education.

Resolved 2, In view of the fact that Westminster College is located at a convenient point in our church and already has a number of children of missionaries on its roll of students and others soon to be added, that we establish said Home at New Wilmington, Pa.

Resolved 3, That as a society we direct our business agent, the Women's Board, to promptly take steps to rent a suitable building for the Home, for present use, and to formulate and carry out such plans as it may advise for having said Home in readiness for occupancy, at the opening of the college year next September.

Resolved 4, That said Home be placed under the supervision of the Women's Board, assisted by an Executive Committee of women, part of which committee shall reside in or near the place where the Home is established.

Resolved 5, That congregational missionary societies be asked to furnish the rooms in the Home, with such articles as may be necessary to make them comfortable and attractive, at a moderate expense, with the instruction that money thus used must not interfere with the contributions to the regular work of the Women's General Missionary Society.

Resolved 6, That the women of the church as individuals, be asked to contribute a set sum annually toward a Maintenance Fund for the benefit of the Home and of such children as may need help in gaining an education.

The resolutions were, on motion, adopted as read except the fourth which was amended by the addition of the sentence "That the blank be filled by the Women's Board" Many persons took part in the discussion of the second resolution, some urging the advantages of Monmouth, Ill.: others speaking for New Wilmington, where eight children of foreign missionaries are already in attendance and four more expected.

Moved and carried that the courtesies of Convention be extended to our visiting ladies.

The foreign missionaries present Miss E. G. Gordon and Mrs. B. G. Lytle of India; Miss Anna Y. Thompson and Miss Leonora McDowell, of Egypt, were presented to the audience and received with the Chautauqua salute.

The report of Home Mission Secretary, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, was read by Mrs. J. M. Sands.

Miss Ella Montgomery, missionary elect to the Warm Springs Indian Mission, in Oregon, was presented to the audience. She expects to leave in a few days for her field of labor.

Miss Maud G. Morrow, our home missionary in Seattle, gave an address, telling of her labors and giving general information regarding her work.

The Indian work was in charge of Mrs. Alter, formerly of the Warm Springs Indian Mission; subject, "Clouds and Sunshine of the Home Missionaries Life." The address on this subject, so full of interest, was increased by one of our members appearing in the complete costume of an Indian woman. By means of a banner with emblems and figures, Mrs. Alter explained the stand taken by the Indian woman on the temperance question, after she had been brought under the influence of civilization.

A paper by Miss Elizabeth Wishart, missionary in Pittsburgh, Pa., among the foreign element, gave a detailed account of the Jewish and Polish missions under the care of the General Missionary Society. On motion time was extended on this report. The closing prayers for the work in the home field in this Conference were offered by Mrs. N. H. Brown and Mrs. W. J. Buchanan, of Monmouth, and by Mrs. J. P. White.

Mrs. R. S. Smith, of the Orphans' Home Board, read the annual report of the Women's Association, which has charge of the benevolent institutions of our church—Orphans' Home, Memorial Hospital and Home for the Aged. Report adopted.

At this point a quartette choir cheered the audience by singing the beautiful psalm "By the Rivers of Babylon;"

Miss Esther Patton read a paper; subject, "What Place has Prayer in Our Work."

The report from the chairman of the committee to formulate a plan for the prayer circle was read. A plan was arranged for a weekly prayer circle, but as the year was far advanced before the work was completed, it was decided to print the subjects in the August number of Women's Missionary MAGAZINE.

The Literature committee printed and distributed free of charge, 47,000 calendars. On motion report accepted.

"Our Offering, How Obtained, How Used" the subject of a paper, by Mrs. F. B. Foster of Omaha, was read by Mrs. W. F. Johnston. The writer urged the members of societies to be loyal to their pledges to the regular work of the society. Since the work in each department is planned on the basis of what each society can do, or has done, these departments ought to be supported. If even for a year, a few societies direct their offerings through entirely new channels, upon the strength of special appeals, no matter how worthy the cause, the regular work must suffer. The paper contained a suggestion to omit the report of congregational work as missionary work. Session closed with prayer by Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter.

THURSDAY EVENING, 7:30 P. M.

Sessions opened with anthem chorus by the choir. Devotions in charge of Miss Anna Dowell, of Indianola, Iowa, subject, "Prayer for Workers." "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he would send forth laborers into his harvest." Reading of scripture, singing of selections from Bible Songs, and earnest prayer, constituted this service in behalf of the workers.

In the Symposium, Medical Missions, Mrs. A. M. Campbell, of Princeton, Indiana, had for her subject, "The Physician in the Foreign Field." She told of his work and of his opportunities of speaking for the Master.

"Hospitals and Dispensaries" written by by Drs. Lawrence and Watson and read by Mrs. J. P. White, Topeka, Kansas, was an interesting and instructive paper.

Prayer by Mrs. Emma Nichol, of Monmouth, former missionary.

Miss Rose A. McCullough, for many years one of our missionaries to India, told of the Zenana work in that far off land and made an appeal for more missionaries for India.

Miss Anna Y. Thompson, missionary to Egypt, gave an account of the habits and customs of the natives in that country, told of the reforms in the treatment of women urged by a Mohammedan Judge. She also made a plea for more workers for Egypt.

An address on "Educational Work" was given by Miss Leonora McDowell, missionary and teacher in one of our Eyptian schools. Miss McDowell was dressed in the costume of an Egyptian woman, the significance of which she described, there being two garments representing darkness and light. After announcements, it was moved and carried that we meet at 8:30 o'clock Friday A. M.

Benediction pronounced by Rev. J. F. Jamison, of the 9th avenue church, Monmouth.

FRIDAY, MAY 17, 8:30 A. M.

Mrs. J. J. Henderson, of Greenwich, N. Y., presided at devotions.

Morning Prayer and Praise—The Spirit of the Worker. "Lord what wilt thou have me to do." Acts 9:6. Prayer and singing No. 212, Bible Songs. Trust song No. 74. Prayers by Mrs. T. D. Turnbull, Mrs. Victor Kyle and Mrs. S. B. Reed. Bible Song No. 252. Service closed with prayer by Miss Leonora McDowell.

Minutes of three previous sessions read, corrected and approved.

Committee on Resolutions reported. On motion three resolution as read were added to the report. On motion the report was adopted.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, God in His Providence has permitted the women of the United Presbyterian church to meet in Annual Convention, blessing the work of our hands, crowning our lives with loving kindness and tender mercies, and filling our hearts with joy and gladness, therefore be it resolved, 1st, That we express to the officers of the Convention, to the members of the Women's Board, and to the Secretaries of the different departments, our appreciation of their work during the year, and of their efforts to make this Convention a success.

2nd, That the thanks of this Convention be tendered the editors of the Women's MAGAZINE and the Junior Magazine for the faithful service rendered in promoting an interest in the great cause of missions.

3rd, That we note with thanksgiving the passage of the Anti-Canteen bill, by which our government ceases to provide alcoholic drinks for those who fight the battles of our country.

4th, That we hail with gratitude the federation of the leading nations of the world in a treaty to protect the native races of Africa from the ravages of rum, and we are glad that our own nation stands in the front rank of this movement.

5th, That we, as lovers of God's Holy Sabbath, record our sincere gratification at the act of Congress in regard to the closing of the gates of the St. Louis Exposition on that day.

6th, That we tender to Mrs. Elizabeth M. Campbell the sympathy of this convention in her severe affliction and bereavement and pray our Heavenly Father to comfort her "even as a mother comforteth her children."

7th, That we express our sincere thanks to our Monmouth friends who have entertained us so royally; to Dr. Hanna, the pastor of this church; to the Faculty of Monmouth college; to the W. C. T. U.; to the pages and ushers for their kind attention to our needs, and to all others who in any way contributed to our welfare and comfort.

8th, That we express to the Chicago ladies our thanks for the beautiful and delicious lunch provided for eastern delegates.

9th, That we remember very gratefully the kindness and courtesy of Mr. Tapping, the railroad agent, in attending to his duties.

10th, That in view of the difficulty in obtaining missionaries for our foreign field, we ask that this matter be presented to each Presbyterial and suggest a season of prayer in behalf of the work.

MISS BELLE MCCULLOCH,
MRS. MARY JACKSON,
MRS. R. F. KERR,
MISS MARY STEVENSON,
MRS. JULIA SPEER, Committee.

Greeting from Penrith Congregation W. Va., received.

The American Anti-Saloon League presented a circular requesting that a delegate or delegates be sent to the sixth National Anti Saloon Convention, to be held in Washington, D. C. A motion to lay on the table was carried.

In accordance with notice previously given the following By-laws were presented for action:

Article II, Section 1.—Amended by insertion of the words "Statistical Secretary." On motion amendment adopted.

Article II, Section 6.—Amended by transposing the words, "In the absence of the President" and adding the words, "one of the Vice Presidents." On motion amendment adopted.

Article II, Section 8, (New By-law):—to read, "The Statistical Secretary shall send out all statistical blanks approved by the Board to the auxiliary societies, urging societies to promptly fill out and return said blanks to the Secretary. When correctly filled out she shall compile the same and prepare and present an annual report to the General Missionary Society." On motion adopted.

Article II Section 11.—Amended by omitting the word "stated." On motion adopted as amended.

Article II, Section 12, (New By-law):—"There shall be a committee appointed by the President consisting of three or more members of the Board. It shall investigate all applications for loans, except for parsonages; attend to the investments of all special funds; place all surplus money on deposit; collect all interest due, and present an annual report to the General Missionary Society." On motion adopted.

Article II, Section 13, (New By-law):—"An experienced accountant shall be elected to assist the Treasurer when necessary and audit her annual report; also a legal advisor for consultation in the business transactions of the society." On motion adopted.

Article II, Section 14, (New By-law):—"The Women's Board shall be authorized to use its own judgment in transferring surplus funds from one department to another as the work may demand, reporting all such actions to the Convention following." On motion adopted.

Article II, Section 16.—On motion amended by insertion of word "occurring."

Article III, Section 5.—Amended to read "The travelling expenses of the following officers of the Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society shall be paid from the treasury of the society, namely: the President and First Vice President, or in her absence the Second Vice President; Secretary and Treasurer; also of the President and Secretaries of departments of work of the Women's Board, and other expenses deemed necessary by the Board." On motion adopted as amended.

Article III, Section 7.—Amended to read: "All Presbyterial societies are recognized as auxiliaries, but congregational societies contributing not less than ten dollars ($10,-00) annually may become auxiliaries to the General Missionary Society; provided said societies are not within the limits of a Presbyterial. Such auxiliary societies shall be required to make an annual report to the Board of Directors on or before April 15." On motion adopted as amended.

Notice of meeting of the corporation was read and all delegates urged to attend the meeting in Board of Publication Building on the fourth Friday of May, 1901, at 10 a. m.

Moved and carried that the newly elected officers notify the Secretary of acceptance or non-acceptance by the fourth Friday of May. Carried.

Report of Thank-offering not complete. Chairman later reported to date.

An opportunity was given to the delegates and others to express their parting words and tell of what benefit the Convention had been to them. Many kind, tender and appreciative words were spoken, which encourage us to believe, that the Eighteenth Annual Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society has been an incentive for greater work for the Master, and for Christian fellowship among it memsbers.

After singing one verse of No. 167 Bible Songs, Dr. Lyons, President of Monmouth College, closed the Convention with prayer and benediction.

Executive committee for Convention of 1902, Xenia, Ohio, Mrs. T. L. Magruder, Mrs. S. S. Wilson, and Mrs. George Crabbe.

MRS. J. T. LOGUE, Pres.

MARY W. PORTER, Sec'y.

MINUTES.

The Annual Meeting of the Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church of North America was held Friday, May 24, 1901, at 10 o'clock a. m., in Calvin Hall, Publication Building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Mrs. Annie R. Herron, the President, conducted devotional exercises and presided. After the scriptural lesson was read, a Bible Song was sung and Mrs. T. C. Atchison led in prayer.

By request the minutes of the recent convention were read and corrected. To the roll call the following members responded.

From Monongahela presbytery, Mrs. Annie R. Herron, Mrs. Sam'l Yourd, Mrs. Jas. H. Mitchell, Mrs. August Soffel, Mrs. E. M. Hill; Misses E. D. Brown, E. J, Sloan, Mary Stevenson, Elizabeth Caughey.

From Allegheny presbytery, Mrs. W. R. Wilson, Mrs. J. A. Duff, Mrs. A. C. Grant, Mrs. S. V. Ralston, Mrs. N. W. Stevenson.

From Westmoreland presbytery Mrs. T. S. Stewart and Mrs. A. I. Young.

Representing the United Presbyterian Women's Association, Mrs. R. S. Smith,

Miss E. D. Brown requested by motion, and it was granted, that she be permitted to have her report as R. R. Secretary inserted in the minutes later, as the railroad officials had failed to send her the necessary statistics.

Mrs. W. R. Wilson offered an excuse for the absence of Mrs. Berry, of Mars, Pa., an Allegheny delegate.

On motion the following reports of the various departments were adopted: Statistics, Recording Secretary, Foreign, Home and Ministerial Relief, Freedmen's, Church Extension and Parsonage, Thank-offering, Literature, Secretary and Treasurer of the Women's MAGAZINE, and Finance Committee.

Mrs. N. W. Stevenson moved, and it was carried, that all members of missionary societies present be invited to sit as consultative members.

It was moved by Mrs. T. S. Stewart that the annual report of the Treasurer be adopted. Carried.

On motion the Secretary cast the ballot for the following named ladies as members of the Board of Directors: Mrs. G. W. MacDonald, Mrs. M. W. Porter, Miss E. D. Brown, Mrs. Samuel Yourd and Mrs. E. M. Hill.

It was moved and carried that the following named ladies be elected officers of the W. G. M. S. for the coming year: Mrs. H. T. Jackson, President; Mrs. H. H. Bell, First Vice President and Mrs. A. M. Campbell, Second Vice President; Mrs. M. W. Porter, Secretary and Miss E. J. Sloan, Treasurer.

On motion members of the Magazine Committee and Xenia Training School were elected in the following order: Magazine Committee, Mrs. W. C. Hutchison, Mrs. S. S. Wilson, Mrs. S. M. Kelso, Mrs. H. C. Dean and Mrs. J. B. Carruthers; Training School, Mrs. S. M. Kelso, Mrs. A. C. Holmes, Mrs. S. S. Wilson Mrs. R. S. Finley and Miss Sara Reid.

Resolutions regarding the establishment of a Home for missionaries children were read and on motion of Mrs. W. R. Wilson adopted.

On motion of Mrs. T. S. Stewart it was resolved to omit the blanks for congregational work in the annual report of the Statistical Secretary.

On motion of Miss E. D. Brown, the new by-laws, as amended, were adopted, except Act III, Sec. 5, which was referred to the committee for a clearer statement.

Bills in connection with the Eighteenth Annual Convention ordered paid on motion of Mrs. N. W. Stevenson.

Miss Sloan reported a Thank-offering of $39399.97 up.to-date, a small part of which had not been received but promised.

On motion of Mrs. Yourd the Thank-offering account is to be kept open until these minutes be sent to the Magazine.

Motion to adjourn carried.

Meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

MRS. MARY M. HILL, Sec. pro tem.

RAILROAD SECRETARY REPORT.

The attendance by railroad at the Monmouth convention, May 13—17, 1901, ex ceeded that of all others. Number of certificates from the Western Passenger Association, 105; that of the Central Passenger Association, 63; fiirst-class unlimited tickets, 57. Total, 225.

Our pleasant experience of last year, receiving at that time every attention and kindness from the railroad officials, was repeated this year, and we feel greatly indebted to Mr. J. K. Dillon, District Passenger Agent of the Pittsburgh and Ft. Wayne Railroad, and to Mr. L. C. Sadd, Traveling Passenger Agent of the C. B. & I. Railroad, for their combined interest in the welfare and convenience of the ladies of the convention.

On motion the Secretary was instructed to write a letter of thanks to these gentlemen.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. E. D. BROWN.

VIII. The corporation shall have power to make by-laws and the same to alter, amend and repeal, subordinate to this charter, the statute aforesaid, and the constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvnnia, and the Constitution of the United States, which by-laws shall be deemed and taken to be the law of said corporatfon.

Said by-laws shall prescribe the powers and functions of the directors herein named and their successors, the times of the meetings of the directors and of this corporation, both for business and religious purposes, and the manner in which special meetings may be called; the number of members who shall constitute a quorum at the meeting of the corporation; the manner of selecting officers, the powers and duties of said officers, and all other concerns and internal management of said corporation.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.

CORPORATE MEETINGS.

1. The Annual Meeting of the corporation shall be held in the City of Pittsburg, County of Allegheny, and State of Pennsylvania, on the fourth Friday of the month of May at such hour and place as the Board of Directors may appoint for the election of Directors and the officers and agents and the transaction of the business of the corporation.

2. No person shall be entitled to voice or vote at such Annual Meetings except the delegates chosen by the several Presbyterial Missionary Societies of the United Presbyterian Church of North America to attend the General Convention of said Presbyterial Societies and of persons who may be chosen directors of this corporation. Ten delegates shall constitute a quorum.

3. Persons elected to office at each convention must signify their acceptance of the same before the Annual Meeting of the Corporation on the fourth Friday of May following. All vacancies occurring after the fourth Friday of May each year shall be filled by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE II.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. Each director shall be a member of a Presbyterial Society. The Board shall organize at its first stated meeting by electing by ballot the following officers from their own number, viz: a President, two Vice Presidents, Recording Secretary, Statistical Secretary, three or more Corresponding Secretaries, Treasurer, and such other officers as shall from time to time be necessary to promote the interests of the work.

2. The Board shall take charge of all the work of the corporation; devise ways and means of carrying on that work; give aid to all the various departments of the mission work undertaken by the other Boards of the Church in sending out foreign missionaries, supporting native helpers, Bible women and children in schools and supporting missionaries and teachers in the home field, and for this purpose it shall receive and disburse all money which shall be contributed and placed in its charge by auxiliary societies.

3. The Board shall have power to enter into agreements and make regulations for co-operation with the other Boards of the Church, subject to the approval of the General Assembly and the General Missionary Society; to make purchases of real estate and to sell and convey the same; to sign notes and obligations for the corporation; use the corporate seal, attested by the President and Secretary of the Board, and shall report the same to the Society. Provided no obligation shall be given or conveyance made without a two-thirds vote of the Board.

4. The Board shall hold its stated meetings the first Tuesday of each month at such time and place as it shall appoint. Eight members shall constitute a quorum.

5. The President shall preside at all the meetings of the Board, appoint all committees and perform such other duties as belong to her office. She shall call special meetings at the request of three directors and be ex-officio a member of all committees.

6. In the absence of the president, one of the Vice Presidents shall perform all the duties of her office.

7. The Recording secretary shall be sworn and shall record all the votes of the corporation and of the Board of Directors and the minutes of other transactions. She shall keep a record of the proceedings of the Board and prepare an annual report to be presented to the General Missionary Society and to the General Assembly.

8. (New By-Law.)—The Statistical Secretary shall send out all statistical blanks approved by the Board to auxiliary societies, urging societies to promptly fill out and return said blanks to the Secretary. When correctly filled out she shall compile the same, and prepare and present an annual report to the General Missionary Society.

9. It shall be the dnty of the Corresponding Secretaries to conduct any official correspondence with the other Boards of the Church; also all the correspondence with missionaries, native helpers, Bible women, teachers, and others supported by the corporation. They shall prepare annual reports of all work undertaken by the Board, to be presented to the General Assembly.

10. The Treasurer shall give bond to the amount of Five Thousand Dollars ($5000). She shall keep all money of the corporation in a separate account to her credit as Treasurer, and shall disburse, it as the Board of Directors shall order. She shall report the state of the money at each regular meeting, and close the books on April 15th of each year. Her Annual Report endorsed by the Auditor shall be presented to the General Missionary Society and the General Assembly,

11. There shall be an Executive Committee, composed of the officers and five directors, who shall have power to transact any business that may require attention in the intervals between the meetings of the Board.

12 (New By-Law.)—There shall be a Finance Committee appointed by the President, consisting of three or more members of the Board. It shall investigate all applications for loans and all applications for donations, except for parsonages, attend to the investments of all special funds, place all surplus money on deposit, collect all interest due and present an Annual Report to the General Missionary Society.

13. (New By-Law.)—An experienced accountant shall be elected to assist the Treasurer when necessary and audit her annual report, also a legal advisor for consultation in the business transactions of the Society.

14. (New By-Law)—The Women's Board shall be authorized to use its own judgment in transferring surplus funds from one department to another as the work may demand, reporting all such actions to the next convention following.

15. A failure of any Director to be present at three regular consecutive meetings of the Board, without excuse, shall be considered a resignation and action taken accordingly.

16. The Board of Directors shall have power to fill all vacancies occurring in the Board during the year.

ARTICLE III.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY AND GENERAL CONVENTION.

1. For the furtherance of the objects and purposes of this corporation, the Board of Directors shall approve and encourage the organization of missionary societies, both congregational and Presbyterial, throughout the entire Church, and shall provide for a General Convention of the said Presbyterial societies. The delegates from the Presbyterial Societies shall be in the following proportion. Each Presbyterial Society shall be entitled to two delegates; each Presbyterial Society, consisting of more than five congregational societies, shall be entitled to one additional delegate for every additional five congregational societies.

2. The object of the establishment and convention of each society, and the delegates thereof, shall be for the purpose of receiving the Annnal Reports of the Secretaries and Treasurers of the Board of Directors, the Annual Reports of committees in charge of Magazines for consultation, and for the adoption of such measures as shall further the cause of missions in our own and other lands, and in general aid the society in the accomplishment of its purpose The General Missionary Society shall have charge of the "Women's Missionary Magazine" and "Juniors' Missionary Magazine", which will publish information concerning all missionary work undertaken by the Society, and publish reports of money raised and disbursed.

3. The General Convention of said Presbyterial Societies shall be held annually in May at any place within the United States of North America and the place of meeting shall be decided at the meeting of the previous year. The officers of the Convention, the delegates from the Presbyterial Societies, the members of the Board of Directors, life members, a delegate from the United Presbyterian Women's Association, and two members of the Women's Missionary Magazine Committee, shall be entitled to take part in the transaction of the business brought before the meeting.

4. The officers of such annual meeting shall be a President, two Vice Presidents and Secretery. The Treasurer of the Board of Directors shall be, ex-officio, the Treasurer of such annual meeting. The other officers above named shall be elected at the close of each annual meeting and it shall be their duty, together with three additional persons living near each other and appointed by the President, to make arrangement for the succeeding meeting. Five persons may be nominated for Directors to be elected at the Annual Meeting of the Corporation, to fill the five places of the five who retire.

5. The traveling expenses of the following officers of the Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society shall be paid from the treasury of the Society; namely, the President and First Vice President, or in her absence the second Vice President; Secretary and Treasurer; also of the President and the Secretaries of the departments of work of the Women's Board and other expenses deemed necessary by the Board.

6. Any person may become a life member of said General Convention by paying twenty-five dollars or more at one time. Money paid for life membership cannot be designated for any other purpose whatever.

7. All Presbyterial Societies are recognized as auxiliaries, but congregational Societies contributing not less than ten dollars annually may become auxiliaries to the General Missionary Society; provided said societies are not within the limits of a Presbyterial. Such auxiliary societies shall be required to make an annual report to the Board of Directors on or before April 15.

ARTICLE IV.

AMENDMENT OF BY-LAWS.

These By-Laws of the Corporation may be altered, amended or repealed at any Annual Meeting af the Corporation by a two-thirds vote of the members present—notice of any proposed amendments having been given in writing at a previous meeting.

OFFICIAL REPORTS

PRESENTED TO THE CONVENTION OF THE W. G. M. S., HELD AT MONMOUTH, ILLINOIS MAY 14, 15, 16, 17, 1901.

REPORT OF

STATISTICAL SECRETARY.

It is a great pleasure to present to this Convention the annnal report of the contributions of the women of the United Presbyterian church for the year ending April, 1901, showing, as it does, a marked increase in the number of societies and amount of contributions.

The annual blank reports were mailed in February to the Presbyterial Secretaries, and to Presidents of congregational societies where there are no Presbyterial Associations. Great care was taken in the distribution of these reports. With each package was mailed a card addressed to the Presbyterial Recording Secretary notifying her that a number of congregational blanks had been sent to her address, and asking that the General Secretary be notified as to their receipt. Notice was also published in the MAGAZINE and church papers of the distribution of the blanks, making the same request. By the general observance of these notices and requests, we are enabled to present a report from every Presbytery in the church both at home and abroad.

" " Congregational work	24,581
" " Presbyterial Exp. fund	1,225
" " Orphans' Home	582
" " Memorial Hospital	471

Total	$64,035

Number of boxes, 613; estimated value, $2,294; grand total, $66,329.

Number of Magazines taken 5,543.

Senior Thank-offering, $15,758.75.

Junior Thank-offering, $1,278.06.

The number of Presbyterial societies is increased by one—Assiout, Egypt. The number of congregational societies is increased by 21; one each in the Presbyteries of Des Moines, Le Claire, Wheeling, Princeton, Chicago, Philadelphia, Stamford, Assiout and Sialkot; two each in Lake, Monmouth and Northern Indiana. Four societies have disbanded, one each in Presbyteries of Chicago, Lake, New York and Sialkot. Two have been transferred from Chicago to Rock Island Presbytery, leaving a gain of 17 societies.

Contributions for Jewish and Polish missions and India famine sufferers are reported, the former credited to the Home work and the latter to Foreign societies. We asked to designate the boards to which they wish their money credited or it cannot be reported. We have seven instances of this kind this year, where generous amounts are reported as contributed to objects for which the General Missionary Society is not responsible, and for this reason they are omitted in the report, to the disappointment of the contributing society. If Presbyterial Secretaries would read and act according to the directions given at the top of each Presbyterial blank, and at the side of each congregational blank, the reports would be much improved.

Your Secretary has heretofore made a comparative statement. This year it is deemed wise to ask the members of Convention to compare the amounts for themselves, hoping that the item "congregational work" will impress each one by its amount, representing as it does more than one third of the total contributions.

Many letters have been received expressing interest and enthusiasm in the work. Some of our smaller Presbyteries report prospects for an increase. Wisconsin's Secretary writes that they hope to get two thank-offerings from congregations that have not organized societies as yet, and that their next meeting is to be in a congregation where there is no organization, but they hope to be able to have them organize before they leave. She also says the work is slow, but earnest, and that their little Presbytery needs all the prayers and help possible.

Presb. Secretaries, for some reason, did not report Junior societies in full. Many large Presbyteries do not report any. The instructions on the reports call for reports of all Junior missionary societies and of Junior Unions where contributions have been made through Presbyterial Treasurer. The figures given indicate continued interest in the mission work, as far as the contributions are reported; but the number of members given is not so large as formerly. This is explained by the omitting of all societies marked in last years' report with a star, which meant that they had been carried two years without reporting, the number of members only being given. One Presbyterial report gives 400 members less than last year. The decrease in number of members reported is 3621.

The reports are full of encouragement, and show careful work on the part of Secretaries—many of whom are new to the work of compiling statistics, and we would again advise that a good Secretary be kept as long as she will serve and that a poor one be kept in office and trained to the work.

By order of the Board of Directors, it is recommended,

That in view of the fact that "congregational work," as mentioned in our annual reports, represents more than one third of our contributions, and also that as this sum is reported by pastors in their reports to General Assembly, thus making it twice reported and counted in the contributions of the church, and further, as little or none of this money passes through the hands of the Treasurer of the G. M. S., that this column be omitted from the annual report of the W G. M. S. Adopted.

Let us pray for the continued favor of our God on the work of our General Missionary Society, which He has so signally owned and blessed.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY W. PORTER, Statistical Sec'y.

REPORT OF

RECORDING SECRETARY of the Board of Directors.

The opening months of the new century have been filled with evidences of God's love and favor. It is with songs of praise on our lips and gratitude in our hearts, that we raise our banner, with the inscription "Eben-ezer."

On June 5th, 1901, the Board of Directors met and re-organized. The following named officers and department secretaries were elected:

President, Mrs. Annie R. Herron.

First Vice President, Mrs. E. M. Hill.

Second Vice President, Mrs. J. A. Grier.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. M. Jennie Stevenson.

Statistical Secretary, Mrs. Mary W. Porter.

Treasurer, Miss E. J. Sloan.

Corresponding Secretary of Foreign Work, Mrs. W. J. Reid.

Corresponding Secretary of Home Work and Ministerial Relief, Mrs. H. C. Campbell.

Corresponding Secretary of Freedmen's Work, Dr. C. Jane Vincent.

Corresponding Secretary of Church Extension and Parsonage Work, Mrs. Geo. W. MacDonald.

Secretary Junior Missionary Work, Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson.

Secretary of Thank-offering, Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter.

Secretary of Literature, Miss Emma Mabon.

Railroad Secretary, Miss E. D. Brown.

Editor Juniors' Missionary Magazine, Mrs. E. M. Hill.

Business Manager Juniors Missionary Magazine, Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson.

Finance Committee, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, Miss E. J. Sloan Mrs. M. W. Porter.

Executive Committee. Mrs. Annie R. Herron, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. J. A Grier, Mrs. M. J. Stevenson, Mrs. M. W. Porter, Miss E. D. Brown, Miss E. J. Sloan, Mrs. Jean S. Sands.

Auditor, A. F. Sawhill, Esq.

Legal Adviser, Major R. E. Stewart.

Nineteen meetings were held during the year, beginning at 10 a. m. and continuing until late in the afternoon, Every meeting was crowded with business.

Owing to the serious illness of her mother, our Recording Secretary, Mrs. M. Jennie Stevenson, was obliged to offer her resignation, which was accepted with great regret.

Mrs. H. C. Campbell, in addition to her other duties, was elected to fill the vacancy until the close of the year.

Miss Emma Mabon, our Literature Secretary, offered her resignation, because of a proposed absence in Europe for an indefinite period. The directors very reluctantly accepted this resignation. Miss Mabon agreed to serve until April 1st and prepare the annual report.

Miss Elizabeth Caughey, of Westmoreland Presbytery, was elected a member of the Board and also Literature Secretary.

Mrs. R. S. Smith, of Allegheny Presbytery, was also elected a member of the board.

The Women's General Missionary Society was represented by Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, of Allegheny, and Mrs. T. C. McKelvy, of New York, at the Interdenominational Conference of the Women's Boards of Foreign Missions in United States and Canada. The Conference was held in New York last January. The representatives bore their own expenses. Mrs. T. Anderson represented your society on the program.

The Editors of your Missionary Magazine, together with Mrs. H. C. Dean, upon invitation of your Directors, met in Pittsburg March 5th and 6th, for conference. The Holy Spirit was present at our meeting and we separated realizing that our work had received a new impetus and that, as Christian women engaged in the Master's work, we were bound closer together.

The annual reports of the department Secretaries and Treasurer will tell the story of their work in detail, to which we ask your careful attention.

The following items, we hope, may receive your careful consideration:

At least ten thousand dollars ($10,000) will be required to erect our new hospital at Tanta, Egypt. This sum does not include the furnishment. Suitable plans are now being prepared.

At the Pawnee Convention we decided to send out eight new missionaries; four to Egypt and four to India. Your Board regrets exceedingly that it has been unable to send out the entire number, not for lack of funds, but owing to our inability to secure persons meeting the necessary requirements.

A new worker has been secured to labor at our Indian Mission at Warm Springs. Miss Ella Montgomery has been appointed "Field Matron" and will enter upon her duties soon after the adjournment of this Convention.

Dr. S. A. Tate has been asked by your directors, to have himself transferred to Warm Springs. A favorable reply has been received from him, and if the way be clear we hope soon to have a United Presbyterian medical missionary at work among the Indians. The Board expects to supplement any loss in salary caused by the transfer.

At Prairie, Alabama, a new frame house of eight rooms, with hall in the center, has been erected for the use of the principal and teachers in our schools. The Freedmen's work will require a larger amount of money the coming year than it has received heretofore.

Our Thank-offering Secretary reports a greater outlay of money and a larger correspondence this year than ever in the history of our work. She tells us that the efforts put forth have not been in vain, as the interest already manifested assures us a large Thank-offering.

Last January the Board decided to inaugurate a Memorial Fund, the object for which it is to be used to be decided at some future time.

The terms of office of Mrs. Geo. W. MacDonald, Mrs. J. A. Grier, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Miss E. D. Brown and Mrs. M. W. Porter expire with this meeting.

Because of sore bereavement, our Secretary, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, has been unable to prepare this report.

Respectfully Submitted,

(Mrs.) Jean S. Sands, Com.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The special work of this committee is to investigate all applications for donations and all loans except for parsonage; attend to the investment of special funds; place all surplus monies on deposit, and collect all interest due. We are glad to report that all interest and payments due, during the year, have been fully met. In every case too much cannot be said in praise of the faithfulness of pastor and people in their mutual striving to place their several congregations upon a sound financial basis. In treasurer's report these loans are called Loan Investments." They are as follows:

33d St. Church, Pittsburg, Pa.	$3000 00
1st Chartiers	4169 13
1st Ingram	1000 00
1st Knoxville	2500 00
2d Providence, R. I.	3000 00
1st Central Falls, R. I.	3500 00
7th Allegheny, Pa.	1500 00
6th Chicago, Ill.	400 00
Palisade Ave., Mission, Hoboken, N. J.	2000 00
Presbytery of Philadelpha, Pa.	400 00
Individual	250 00
Total	$21719 13

Three of these loans are new this year and only two of the others were able to reduce principal during the year.

The loans are in every case secured by first bond and mortgage and all insurance policies must be made payable to the society by its corporate name and have a mortgagee clause. All applications for donations and loans should be made to the chairman of the finance committee. We take pleasure in reporting that we had a rare opportunity of securing a few six per cent. gold bonds, guaranteed. The surplus Magazine money was used to purchase three of them, so that the Magazine now has the benefit of interest accruing from this investment. We call attention to the fact that our disbursements this year have exceeded receipts, thereby justifying our policy of always reporting cash balances and thus keeping all our workers promptly paid. We again urge societies to forward their monies during the year instead of allowing so much to remain on hand until March and April. The labor of presbyterial treasurers would be greatly lessened if they could forward remittances quarterly to our treasurer, who would thereby be enabled to avoid the extra heavy labor incurred by having the bulk of our funds reach her during the last two weeks of our year.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. H. C. CAMPBELL,
MISS E. J. SLOAN,
MISS E. D. BROWN,
MRS. M. W. PORTER.

REPORT OF THE

MAGAZINE COMMITTEE.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Days have glided into weeks, and weeks into months, and again it is my privilege to submit the following annual report of the Women's Magazine Committee to the Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church.

Twelve months in anticipation promise many opportunities of service in any laudable undertaking and hope stirs the heart and kindles new zeal to labor, that another year's report shall show improved results.

What do twelve months of retrospect disclose? Not the full realization of our hopes —not the complete attainment of our ideal; yet we are happy to say we are not retrograding as the watchful pen that follows the subscription list eager to record new names says that we have on our list 5365 an increase of 340.

But these figures are by no means a full measure of value, as many enjoy the Magazine whose names are not on our list, and we do not present them in the spirit of self-satisfaction or laudation, as we realize that the subscription list would not be at a stand-still or advance only by 340 if local agents understood the importance of the work committed to them.

But we must have some measure of value in order to place our work properly before you to convey any idea of our efforts in the undertaking. When we consider the addition to the Magazine of four pages for the Thank-offering Department during the past year, so ably managed by Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, and twice during that time four additional pages to meet the demands of the work, also an increased number of pictures, all without extra charge, you can readily see that we have practiced the most rigid economy to have a balance in the treasury —small indeed in one sense, but large in view of the modest receipts.

Every beautiful painting, every handsome piece of tapestry, has shades intermingled with the bright to make a complete finish; so in our work the shades alternate, we trust, for a good purpose. Now and then letters of criticism are received as a reminder of imperfections. It is but candor to acknowledge that for one letter of complaint we have a score in commendation. All such criticisms, and especially suggestions aiming at improvement, have an honest and hearty hearing, for no reader can desire the increased accuracy, value and usefulness of the Magazine more than those who give so much labor to its preparation. We welcome our readers to a share in the untiring endeavor to make it a storehouse both of exact information and spiritual inspiration. The Magazine belongs to the Women's General Missionary Society. Its sole aim is to advance the Master's Kingdom, and it is dependent upon your efforts for its success.

We find, according to the statistics for last year, that our missionary societies have a membership of 30548. Not more than one-fifth take the Magazine. True many are working zealously for an increase in circulation, but very many are indifferent. We believe the women of our church are able and willing to meet the demands of this work and will respond by doing their share if they carefully study its importance. Therefore buckle the girdle tighter, that increased speed may be gained, and all be made alive to the work which is not only a privilege but also a duty. If an increased circulation of the Magazine is desired do not merely say, "It is interesting" but rather, "It is important" and do not be afraid of repeating and again repeating the statement that the Magazine will broaden your views enlarge your sympathies and increase your intelligence. You cannot do without it as it brings you into a fair and correct knowledge of the missionary work of the whole world and will bring you very near to that work which should interest and absorb all loyal United Presbyterian women.

Before closing permit me as Secretary of the Magazine to thank, first of all, a kind Heavenly Father for preserving the lives and health of the Committee during the year. We have held our regular monthly meetings and a number for special business; on all these occasions we have asked for Divine guidance and believe it was secured, as they were characterized by mutual agreement and the spirit of love; second, contributors for excellent productions for our pages; third, agents, particularly those who responded to the suggestion made in our last annual report at Pawnee City. They have given valuable help and their names will yet appear on the "honor roll."

As we enter upon a new year with the music and melody of happy songsters, and running brooks, the air fragrant with early blossoms, with the energy of bright prospects and days of good service before us, let us face the possibilities of our work in relation to the time in which we live and to the vital questions which concern the church, the world and the kingdom of Christ. Of the future we can only say

"God's plans like lilies pure and white unfold,
We must not tear the close shut leaves apart;
Time will reveal the calyxes of gold."

At least we may trust God and wait, resolving that "what will come and must come shall come well." Let us pray that He will make the Magazine His care, and prosper all who love it and labor for it.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. E. H. CARRUTHERS.

REPORT OF

SECRETARY OF JUNIOR WORK.

In the first year of the new century we bring to you the best report of our Junior Missionary Societies it has been our privilege to present. The best because we believe it to be more nearly correct than any preceding report, owing to a change in the arrangement and wording of our statistical blanks. The best because the financial showing is the largest in the history of the societies. The best because of an increase during the year of 1,109 members. The best because the spiritual development of the child has not been neglected, as is shown by nearly three hundred of the dear boys and girls having given their hearts to Christ and uniting with the church. The best because the different grades of membership—Little Light Bearers, Junior, and advance circles of young girls—and the relation of the one to the other, seem to be better understood. The best because more of the societies are conforming to the plan adopted by the W. G. M. S., eight years ago, for the organization of the society in circles or divisions of ten or twelve members, with a leader to each circle and all under one general head. The plan has worked successfully and every superintendent should give it a trial. Many times you will find a teacher with an interesting class in Sabbath-school, who will enroll herself and her class as one circle of the Junior Missionary Society. One society reports having twelve circles, another seven and others four, three and two. It is also interesting to note some of the names given to their circles, viz: Lansing, Gordon, Paton, Judson, Fulton, Kyle, Sunbeams, Morning Star, Ibis, Pine Needles and Bamba. Others distinguish the circles by different colored ribbon badges.

The pink colored blanks, which have been adopted for the Junior Missionary Societies, to distinguish them from those sent to the women's societies, was sent on their way to the Junior secretaries February 1st.

From forty-five Presbyterials we make the following summary:

No. of societies including
Little Light Bearers, 6 in Egypt.....	225
Number members last year.....	5498
Present membership.....	6607
No. new societies.....	20

Twenty-eight Presbyterials report an increase in membership. Those who reported the greatest increase, according to their numbers, are Philadelphia, Colorado, College Spring, Lake, Butler, Muskingum and Chillicothe. Seven show a decrease.

Mansfield, Steubenville, Sydney and Kansas City report, "We have no Juniors' Missionary Societies in our Presbyteries." Will the delegates present from these Presbyterials please call attention to this fact. No recruits are being prepared to take up the work when others lay it down! There are still a few Presbyteries without Junior secretaries.

We cannot give too much praise to many of those holding these positions for the energetic manner in which they stick to, and push the work, thereby enabling your secretary to present to you this excellent report. We would repeat the action of the corporation of May, 1897, "that Presbyterial Junior secretaries will preserve reports of their societies for two years and that where a change in secretaries is made, the incumbent transfer all reports to her successor!"

Twenty new societies are reported—three more than last year. It is our plan to give space in the Juniors' Magazine next year for a report of new societies. Who will be the first to organize and notify me of the same? There is a decrease in the Honorary membership of 131. If our superintendents knew what a help this fund is in many societies in providing printed mat-er, socials, birthday boxes, etc., I am sure there would be an effort to increase this fund.

No boxes and packages fifty-eight; value of same	354 50
Grand Total	$5598 27

Amount given by Junior Unions and Junior Christian Endeavorers to the special work, $217.70. Contributions to other objects under the care of the W. G M. S., $173.35.

As will be seen from the above the two departments in which is shown the greatest interest are the special work and the Thank-offering. The support of the forty girls in the Sialkot school has met with universal favor, and requests have come to us to continue the work for another year. We are proud of our Junior Missionary Societies. Instead of giving us the money for forty pupils they have paid for fifty-eight, eighteen more than we asked for. This hearty response gives promise for greater things in this department in the future. During the past three years your Board has made an effort to interest all the Juniors of the church in this special work and have credited the contributions to the Juniors of the church irrespective of name, but thus far we have failed in interesting the Unions and Endeavorers to any great extent. A special effort was made, this year, to gather these contributions through the Juniors' Magazine and by giving space on the Junior blanks with the above results. Where should the special work be credited?

The Junior Thank-offering is the largest amount ever given. Can it be that some of the societies have reported the 20th century offering instead of that for the previous year?

JUNIOR SECRETARIES' EFFORTS.

Earnest efforts have been put forth by many of the secretaries for the advancement of the work, by "Forming a permanent organization of the leaders, the object being to devise methods of helping one another in the work of our societies," and by "advocating the work at every Presbyterial meeting." One secretary says: "I have really tried to interest our women in this work by writing to some societies and visiting and talking with others. Have written and talked personally with a number of the pastors. Have written the President of every missionary society in the Presbytery where Junior missionary societies do not exist, presenting the work, explaining its purpose and sending sample copies of the magazine. Explained the special work, Little Light Bearers and Honorary members and urged all to organize." The same efforts have been repeated by a number of the secretaries and we believe our good report this year is largely due to these efforts.

LESSONS.

Twenty-two secretaries report, the topics found in the Junior Magazine are used in their societies. A number make no report on this point. Other subjects studied are "Bible Characters," "The character and offices of Christ," "The Tabernacle," "Different mission fields," "Missionary Biographies," "The Bible one book at a time in outline work," "Bible lessons prepared by Mrs. M. G. Kennedy," "committing prayer verses" "Questions prepared by the Women's Board on Egypt and India," "China, Mountain Whites, Negroes." In addition to the above many report using the new Junior Normal lessons prepared by Dr. Miller. Some giving half the lesson hour to this. The topics in C. U. Herald have been used. Thus you see the Juniors have had a wide scope of study.

MAGAZINE.

In reply to the question, "Has the Magazine been helpful in your society?" the answer all along the line is, "Yes" and "Very." "Helps for preparing papers fo the society." "Has created a desire to read more about the people of whom the MAGAZINE writes." "It gave the Juniors a glimpse of the lives of children in heathen countries of which they had no knowledge." "Has furnished a complete and varied outline of the lesson." "Awakened the Juniors' interest in other societies through the cozy corner." "Kept before the societies the special work." "Aroused an interest in missions in the homes of the children which reacts upon our society." "Is stimulating inquiry along certain lines of work suggested." "Through it they gain a knowledge of the work of our own church." "The children are eager to receive it and it should be in every home in the church." "It is helpful because of the plain way of telling the stories and mission facts." "The lessons have been given to us in a very attractive form, and we think we could not get along without this in our work." "The Juniors are interested because they feel the paper is all their own." "It has been very helpful to the leaders in giving them material to work upon."

BEST METHODS.

Some of the best methods reported are:

"An open meeting occasionally inviting visitors."

"Live missionaries to address the Juniors."

"Have the members of the oldest division teach in turns."

"Juniors encouraged to write sermons on different characters of the Bible."

"Occasional meetings at the home of the superintendent give good results."

"Each girl wrote a Christmas letter to some missionary in Egypt or India."

"Have a Scripture reading contest; let the Juniors select their own representative and invite the parents to the meeting."

"Have each member give a birthday offering."

"Divide the society into two divisions, the red and the blues, distinguished by the color of ribbons. A banner is given to the side that stands best at close of quarter in attendance, lesson and conduct."

"Graduate the Juniors into the Y. P. society at the age of sixteen. Have graduating exercises, give diplomas and make much of the day."

"Regular and prompt attendance of the superintendent, who is full of the subject; motto, "Others not Self."

"No two lessons are presented in the same way. We use the spelling match method on the ten commandments. Have a roll of honor and give a star to each child who reads the Bible every day."

Sewing socials, scrap books, hay rides and picnics are used to hold the interest. Presbyterial Junior Rallies and awarding of banners have created great interest. Quarterly meetings and conference of Junior leaders have been exceedingly helpful. Various systems of rewards. See May number of Women's Magazine.

A banner was given in Des Moines Presbytery to the society showing the best average attendance and largest number of Bible verses repeated correctly during the year. Number of verses recited, 2143; membership, 20.

The objection to a Junior Missionary Society is frequently made because of the inability to gather the children owing to the distance at which many live from the church. Four societies report holding the Junior meeting at the same time and place at which the Women's Missionary Society is held. One superintendent in Muskingum Presbytery reports that once a month, the Sabbath on which there is no preaching, the younger members of the Sabbath-school meet as the Juniors, and says "nearly all the Sabbath-school are present at the exercises."

We are endeavoring to provide help for our Junior workers by giving a page each month in the Women's Magazine under the title of news and methods of work. These items are largely gathered from Junior workers over the church, and we earnestly ask that those to whom this page has been helpful will give their methods that they may prove helpful to others.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

We recommend, first, that in order to encourage the organization of Little Light Bearer's Circles they be counted as one society, and that the names of these circles appear in the printed annual statistics.

Second, we recommend, as the special work, that we continue for another year the support of pupils in the girls' school at Sialkot, asking this year for the support of sixty at $25.00 each, amounting to $1500.00.

Respectfully Submitted,

ELLA J. STEVENSON, Junior Sec'y.

REPORT OF

XENIA BIBLE TRAINING SCHOOL.

Again it becomes the duty of your Committee on Xenia Bible Training School to render a report of this important branch of Christian work; and again with disappointment and regret we have nothing to report except the "open door," and the lack of acceptance of this opportunity offered for training in mission work.

The announcement that this school offers gratuitous instruction to persons of our own and all other denominations has been repeated again and again in our annual report, and emphasized by an appeal to each individual delegate to send the invitation broadcast on her arrival home.

Printer's ink has been liberally used for the same purpose, and our church papers and MAGAZINE have given space for announcement and invitation. The seed of invitation has, we think, been thus faithfully sown. But despite our efforts we have had no regularly organized Training School for the past two years, the conditions made by the Seminary Board, which required ten enrolled training school pupils to secure special instruction and lectures, having been unfulfilled Yet several ladies have attended the seminary lectures.

That such an inestimable opportunity for instruction—instruction so vital to the increasingly important work of missions at home and abroad—should find so few desirous to avail themselves of it, is a problem your committee fails to solve; and now the question presses upon us, Shall we who so earnestly advocated a Bible Training School, and who regard it as a most important factor in mission work, advise its discontinuance?

We shrink from a decision involving so great responsibility. What we prefer to say is, having made our report, the future of the Xenia Bible Training School is submitted to the judgment and decision of this convention.

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF

JUNIORS' MISSIONARY MAGAZINE.

In presenting the second annual report of the Juniors' Missionary Magazine, we feel that our little story of the little publication for little people must of necessity be very similar to the first one told. We therefore would have you see this year's work in a word picture and ask you to look with the mind's eye to that interesting scene of long ago, by the deep blue waters of the lovely heart-shaped sea of Galilee, where an audience of thousands had gathered to listen to the wonderful words of Jesus. It is eventide and the people are hungry. The loving Master has pity on them and gives the command, "Give ye them to eat."

The lights and shadows of this picture are familiar to all. We see the wonderful miracle—the multitude fed and satisfied by the Lord's blessing resting upon and magnifying the loaves and fishes. In obedient imitation of the loving kindness of the Master, the W. G. M. S. has seen the mind and soul hunger of the rising generation and has offered the loaves and fishes of missionary information through the medium of the Juniors' Missionary Magazine. As of old this food has been divided into portions by the disciples so directed, and the sustaining food and invigorating refreshment of the last year has been sent each month to about 6000 boys and girls stationed, as they are, in companies large and small all over our denominational field.

As we remember the smallness of the loaves and fishes and the weakness of the faith of those who distributed them, we are deeply grateful for the wonderful way in which the food has been multiplied and blessed. We are assured by kind friends who have written to say so, that the Juniors have been strengthened and invigorated by its use. The bread of information has given new strength and new hope to weakened organizations, resulting in more courageous and energetic effort; so that members and dollars have increased. This mental food has been attractively served and in such small portions as to create a desire for more, this desire growing with each issue; so that one of the questions that confronts us is, "How shall it be made possible to satisfy the appetite which is constantly growing more keen for a knowledge of what is being done to hasten the coming of the kingdom?

Who can measure the results of this gift to the Juniors? And can we call our small efforts in this direction the full measure of our privilege? May we not, should we not, multiply our loaves and fishes and crave still greater blessing?

But there is another view of our picture. In the story of old we are not told of any who refused to eat. All shared in the food provided and twelve baskets remained. But in the modern description, truth compels us to show you a great company of 15000 boys and girls who should be partaking of the food furnished, but of whom not one half have consented to share in the mental and spiritual nourishment supplied by the mother society.

Then again the scriptures have no record of any of the Lord's disciples refusing to serve the food provided; but by looking closely you will find many of the mothers and Junior workers missing in the picture presented—mothers and sisters whose hearts have not been stirred with compassion for the boys and girls under their influence and care, who are really famishing for the life-giving qualities found in the columns of our Juniors' Magazine. Without the help of these disciples who are responsible for those who come after, the Lord's plans must be retarded and many boys and girls grow up without the missionary intelligence which it is possible for them to receive but for the indifferent disciples who do not heed the divine injunction, "Give ye them to eat."

The aim has been to make the Magazine an educational agency in the home and the church by carrying into the home circle, the Sabbath-school and the Junior society messages from our own and other missionaries, lessons on missionary themes, methods which have proven helpful, and by endeavoring to create a real interest in the current events of missionary activities.

That our efforts have been appreciated is apparent by our financial report which follows, and by the enthusiasm and results secured through the O. S. W. column, that one feature of the Magazine being worth more than the small subscription price paid.

This work of publication is no longer an experiment. The Magazine has proved its right to be, and as we enter the new year and the new century the outlook is full of encouragement for enlarged plans and effort. Shall we not hope and pray that the hearts of the women of our church may be so stirred as to cause a forward movement in the use of the means to the God given end—the evangelization of the world?

Your committee has but one note in our hearts—that of thanksgiving and praise for divine guidance, for the helpful articles and letters received from Seniors and Juniors, for words of commendation, and also for the few accents of criticism, two of which we present as expressing all that have been made.

First, the Magazine is too small and too much given to the interests of the L. L. B., or smaller children; therefore not interesting to the older Juniors. We will allow two other correspondents to respond to the above when they write saying: first, "The Magazine is heartily appreciated not only by the Juniors but by the older people also; second, "Glad to see that you recognize that children can appreciate something substantial, and that your articles are not of the namby pamby order with a moral tacked on."

The second criticism is the wish that all the issues might be similar to that of March, which was a symposium on China. If this wish were fulfilled, it would mean that, with the present limitatious, much of interest pertaining to our own and other mission fields would be crowded out and our readers deprived of many valuable items. We have our ideal, dear friends, but until the subscription list is doubled we can not double our capacity, nor hope to do much more than indicate lines of thought for study and research rather than provide more fully for a complete study.

We therefore seek an interest in your meditations and prayers that the way may be opened for the now popular expansion theory as applied to Junior Missionary publications.

Very respectfully submitted,

MARY M. HILL, Editor.

REPORT OF MAGAZINE COMMITTEE.

The publication of the Juniors' Missionary Magazine has proved an effort in the right direction and has been blessed in carrying missionary information to the boys and girls in the Sabbath schools and Junior societies. Subscribers generally express appreciation of its helpfulness, and the regret is that so small a proportion of the children of our church are reading it. About 15,000 members are reported in the Junior societies, while our subscription is but 5,717. At the small subscription price of 15 cents per single copy or 10 cents when sent to one address in clubs of ten or more, there is no reason why this little messenger of the coming of the kingdom should not be in the hands of every child in the Church. May we not ask and expect the co-operation of every pastor and elder in securing the interest of parents and Junior workers in the more general circulation of our little Magazine? As stated last year the work was begun without any pledged support, except a subscription list of 2,000 names, and as the list increased month by month we have been enabled to meet all expenses and close both years with a balance in the treasury, a fact declared to be impossible by friends who had some experience in publishing. We are therefore pleased to append the following financial report in the hope that it may commend itself to all, and be rewarded with a subscription list of not less than 10,000 names, and so make it possible to enlarge our borders:

Number of subscribers, April, 1901	5,717
Balance on hand, April 15, 1900	$348,73
Received for subscriptions	$551,41
Disbursed	684,70
Balance on hand April 15, 1901	215,44

REPORT OF

THANK-OFFERING SECRETARY.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1901.

It is with joy and thanksgiving to God for His continued guidance and help that we present the annual report of the Thank-offering department of our women's work.

The entire twelve month's work has been characterized by zeal and energy in all parts of the church. The "mark set before us"—$75,000—by the convention at Pawnee, Nebraska, one year ago, was so high as to make us realize that it would be only through unceasing efforts by tongue and pen and prayer that the women and the children of the church could come near reaching the desired goal by the close of the year. Even in the Thank-offering work "the King's business required haste" so there was no time to lay down our implements of labor for rest at the close of last year's work; no, not even for a single day. "Be up and doing" was the call to the workers all along the line.

As a beginning of the year's work, the special Twentieth Century boxes were ordered the same day the corporation endorsed the recommendation of the Pawnee convention to procure them. Four weeks of the hottest weather in June and July were spent in packing, marking and shipping the 48,075 boxes of the literature. Everything indicated that societies were anxiously awaiting the arrival of the supplies, that they might do their part in the distribution thereof. Being thus brought nto close touch with many active workers throughout the church, gave us renewed reasons for thankfulness, day by day, that the arduous work had been undertaken. Encouraging letters were received from time to time showing that in many congregations every home was supplied with the "blessing-boxes."

The President of a country congregation wrote: "We have placed a Thank-offering box in every family, with no refusals, no unkind comments or other disagreeable things. We will do our utmost to have the entire congregation come together on "Ingathering Day next March and hold a real thanksgiving." Another, a president of a city society, reported having had the boxes taken to the homes by a committee of two ladies who, at the close of the church year, would call and see that they were all brought in in time for the "Ingathering." Can you wonder that, especially in the latter case, this year's offering has proved to be over four times the amount given one year ago?

Miss Susie Young, the Presbyterial Thank-offering secretary for India, each year orders copies of our Scripture Responsive Service that she may adapt them to the need of their native societies. They hold their "Ingatherings" annually in the month of February and conduct their programs much as we do. Miss Young writes that the native women each year show increased delight in the giving of Thank-offerings to the Lord.

Mrs. McClenahan, Thank-offering secretary for the seven women's missionary societies in Egypt, reports having distributed the 200 boxes sent her some five months ago, and that the native women and children were exceedingly enthusiastic in giving their first Thank-offering. She writes that the natives were very much pleased to have the offering of $165.20 sent this year to America; but while they are already looking forward to a larger offering the coming year, they wish to give a part of it for the work in the Soudan. Mrs. McClenahan adds: "We are very anxious for the church in Egypt to undertake the financial help of the mission work in the Soudan, as well as to supply the workers, and the women missionaries are already planning for it."

The Pawnee convention, seeing the need of a direct medium, through which your Thank-offering secretary could come into frequent and close touch with the women of the church, recommended that the Magazine Committee enlarge the MAGAZINE four pages, and allow these to be devoted to the interest of the Twentieth Century offering. This request was cheerfully granted, and beginning with the August number of the MAGAZINE, the four pages have been filled, from month to month, with messages and articles bearing on the subject of offerings. The principal articles published were written by women of our own denomination who are deeply interested in this beautiful form of giving gifts to our God. The "Message" each month was sent forth for the purpose of deepening the interest and directing the prayers and efforts of the workers all over the church in the Twentieth Century fund. The result of our feeble efforts we hope to see in a large Thank-offering being placed upon God's altar at this evening's service.

The only recommendation made by the Pawnee convention that was not fully carried out was the one which asked that special leaflets be published and sent out quarterly to Presbyterial Thank-offering secretaries for free distribution in the congregations. For three reasons the articles written for publication were given through the Women's MAGAZINE instead of in leaflet form: 1st, because of the expense of printing and shipping the leaflets; 2nd, more women were reached through the columns of the Magazine; 3rd, many Thank-offering secretaries report that no funds are provided by Presbyterials for meeting the expense of mailing literature to societies. The avidity with which many of the workers studied the "Thank-offering Question Box" leaflet sent out by the Literature committee, and the large orders received for additional copies to enable societies to place at least one copy in every home, indicated the need of such help in our work and also served to greatly lessen the heretofore legion of interrogation points received on the subject.

During December and January an important work was quietly accomplished through letters sent to women of means, (so far as the names and addresses of such could be procured) asking for special offerings toward raising the Twentieth Century Thank-offering fund, these to be given over and above the offerings through the boxes. This new departure in our work was entered into at the advice of representative workers in several Presbyterials, who believed that many women who were financially able to give large offerings would willingly and cheerfully give liberal offerings if the need of having such to carry on the work assigned by the General Assembly to the women of the church was but known. As a result of the private letters the sum of almost ten thousand dollars was pledged on "Promise Cards" as special offerings to be given through congregational societies the same as the box offerings. This hearty response gives evidence that five women at least were ready and willing to give $1,000 each, while ninety others added nearly five thousand more—merely for the asking.

What saith the Master to us? "Hitherto ye have asked nothing in my name." "Ask and ye shall receive." Many of the givers of special offerings gave expression to the real joy they experienced in being able to give large offerings. One liberal giver said: "I have never enjoyed giving a gift to God so much as I have my special Thank-offering. I am glad you asked me for it." Said another: "I promise you $150.00. I only wish I could give ten times that amount." Said another: "I will now promise $500.00 over and above my box offering, and will add to it before 'Ingathering Day' if possible. It seems so little to give to God who has done so much for me." A third wrote: "I have delayed replying to your letter thus long because I was planning to give, as my special offering, a larger sum than you name on your 'promise card,' but I find now that $1,000 is as much as I can promise at this time." Wrote another: "I will promise you $100.00 and if you will send me some letters and cards I will try to get others to give similar amounts," and she succeeded.

Among the most touching letters received in response to the appeal were from women whose hearts desired to give large offerings while only able to give small sums. Think you, did not God look past the gifts themselves to note the beautiful spirit manifested, and would not His touch, in blessing the gift given, transform the silver offering into the finest gold?

The love of the women of our entire United Presbyterian church for the cause of missions was well tested during the past year, and tonight's Thank-offering will reveal the results in dollars and cents. The full value of these offerings to the giver, to the church, to the cause of missions, only heaven's arithmetic can compute. Let us earnestly pray that the givers of large offerings may increase in numbers, in interest, in zeal and consecration, year by year, while the great majority of givers of lesser sums may be abundantly blessed with means wherewith to continue to give as the Lord hath prospered them.

We are prepared to open the coming new year of giving with brighter prospects of generous offerings for the future than at any previous period. Never were the women of our church in a better condition, we believe, to enter into enlarged efforts for the extension of Christ's kingdom. Upon the officers of our congregational societies will largely devolve the work of fanning this flame of generosity into a blaze such as will penetrate the entire church and serve to bring the men and women and children into touch with its warmth giving properties.

The merits of the Thank-offering work in itself should be an incentive to increased efforts in this department of our work in the future. Let not one be content with the work already accomplished, but aim to deepen the interest in giving to the Lord by securing regular, systematic gifts of gratitude from the interested ones while reaching out to make new friends for our cause among the indifferent and careless ones.

In closing this report permit me to give to each society five watch words for the coming year, viz.: Promptness, System, Courage, Perseverance and Prayer.

Be prompt in beginning the work of securing a large Thank-offering for 1902.

Be systematic in making and in carrying out plans for the regular and systematic giving of offerings.

Be courageous in undertaking what may seem hard to accomplish, and in overcoming any difficulty that may arise in your work.

Be persevering in following up every effort that gives any promise of success.

Be prayerful for God's guidance in all your work, and for His richest blessings to rest upon the gifts and givers in their efforts to win souls to Christ Jesus.

Not until your entire congregations will have become a grateful, loving people, with every member and adherent a liberal giver to God's cause, will your work as societies for the Thank-offering department be completed.

In giving the statistical part of the year's report, the sum expended in efforts to secure a liberal Twentieth Century offering, may seem large. But remember that the expenditure for boxes and literature sent out free to societies is seed sowing. "He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly: and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully."

May God's blessing rest upon our seed-sowing of the past twelve months and from it bring a rich harvest to His honor and glory, good to those with whom and for whom we labor, and blessings upon our own souls.

REPORT OF

SECRETARY OF CHURCH EXTENSION AND PARSONAGE WORK.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1901.

In presenting the annual report of this department we would record with gratitude, a steady, onward and upward tendency in all that makes parsonage work a success.

The first parsonage aided by our Women's General Missionary Society was in 1888. Thirteen years of effort since then have wrought desirable results, created and sustained a more healthy, spiritual growth in the congregation with which this work has come in touch and placed it upon the vantage ground of progress. In these years we have assisted forty seven congregations in building parsonages and four others in building churches. In these years, also, many members throughout our church have become more symmetrical Christians because of their prayers for and contributions to the parsonage work.

We would urge, in the distribution of money by societies, that this department be not overlooked. There has been improvement in the matter of giving to this fund; more societies each year contribute to it than formerly. But, if we would judge from the statistical report a large number still overlook it. If you refer to the Treasurer's report you will observe a good balance to this account, and perhaps you think your money is not needed here.

But we reason from another standpoint—Each society should be interested in all the departments of our work. By giving to all, in smaller proportion to some than others, you are in touch with all our women's work, and each department is encouraged and better equipped by your interest in it. In passing, may we remark that, conformably with the action of Convention of 1899, in case more money comes to one department than is needed there, it may be transferred to others in greater need of it.

None will doubt the fact that we should build up congregations more rapidly in the future than in the past. This is Home Mission work, you say. It is true, but in many places the necessity for the parsonage arises almost as soon as for the church building; hence to keep this fund in a healthy and vigorous condition we need the prayers and contributions of all our women. In view, therefore, of an increase in number of mission stations, indications point to an increase in parsonage applications for the coming year.

During the year many inquiries have been made relative to the scope of this work. Letters were received, in some instances, from congregations organized many years ago, and composed of members apparently in comfortable circumstances, asking if aid might be secured from this Fund. To such we gave discouraging reply, feeling that this Fund should be reserved for mission stations and for struggling congregations that by force of circumstances have met with reverses. In either case the parsonage gives a fresh impetus and permanency to our church in that field. Parsonage blanks are, however, never refused, and with accompanying circulars give all information for application.

We extend to the trustees of congregations having loans, our thanks for their prompt replies to communications from the Board relative to the conditions of their payments. A few congregations in arrears at the beginning of the year have been able to meet their deficit, also the year's payments to date. A small number have not been so fortunate and are still back in their payments.

With possibly a single exception, congregations and trustees have shown much interest and made strong efforts to liquidate their parsonage debts. One congregation that had fallen behind in its payments, and had become much discouraged, has an active women's missionary society, and these earnest women have taken up the work and are doing well. Special mention might be made of another—Mt. Washington, Pittsburg, Pa. This congregation had always been prompt in its parsonage obligations. About a year ago the notes yet to mature amounted to $1700. Payment of the last note would not fall due for several years, but the Women's Missionary Society felt that by persistent effort the amount could be raised in six months. The enthusiasm spread until it permeated the entire membership of the church. In the given time $1400 was paid over to our treasurer; two months later the balance was remitted and their legal papers returned. Thus the pastor is enjoying a permanent home next door to the church and the parsonage is the unincumbered property of the congregation. Their plan for lifting this debt was novel and interesting. None were burdened.

We trust our women's missionary societies will make a study of parsonage work; how it is conducted from the time a congregation decides to make application to the repayment of the loan.

We would ask also that societies, in congregations having parsonage loans look into the condition of their repayments. The trustees will be encouraged by your interest, and we venture to affirm payments will be forwarded at the proper time. Thus, it may be, more needy congregations can receive similar benefit.

The total receipts for the year, including balance from April 15, 1900 were $20,306.12. Missionary societies (Women's and Juniors') contributed $934.95. Received from re-payments of loans, $6,791.99. From Thankoffering, $1,030. Total disbursements, $7,- 065. Balance, April 15, 1901, $13,241.12. Of this balance $5,300 belongs to grants made, and as soon as called for will be forwarded.

Twelve applications for loans were received. Eleven were granted, aggregating $15400. Later it was found that two of these grants, amounting to $3400, would not be called for, owing to inability of the congregations to give proper security. One application was not granted because the Board felt it did not belong to the class of congregations that should receive aid from this Fund and was referred to the Finance committee at a higher rate of interest. In two cases the loans have not as yet been paid, but will as soon as certain legal matters are adjusted. The last payments on three others have not been forwarded, but in all these cases the money granted will be paid at an early date.

The following is a detailed list of congregations that have received aid through this department. The nine last named are the grants of the year which this report covers.

REPORT OF THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

As we place before you to-day the Twenty-second Annual Report of the United Presbyterian Women's Association of North America, its successes should be the occasion for general rejoicing, as there is no inspiration like success. The story of the Association work is always attractive, especially so as its purpose involves the interest of the entire church.

We are apt to be impressed most by those successes which are unexpected, which surprise us and challenge our wonder, while those of gradual development, resulting from prolonged effort, are often unappreciated. Our history has been one of evolution; how much of sacrifice this history contains is only known by one whose kingdom is in heaven.

Our present danger is that which might be regarded as a penalty of success, the impression that there is no urgent need of assistance and support because of prosperity. In our retrospect we have disappointments and failures to remember, but with a loving Father the perspective of years sometimes accords the privilege of experiencing how even seeming failures are made good.

The expenses of the work are increasing every year; we cannot place a limit and say here expenses shall cease. How much the Association does for its orphans and sick and aged depends upon the church. Some one has said that prayer is asking for what you intend to get. This describes the spirit which has brought the United Presbyterian Association with its institutions to its present splendid efficiency. Our first care and work, as you all know, was the Orphans' Home, which was an inspiration of our beloved Dr. Fulton.

Since our last report to this convention, in May, 1900, there has been received into the home 38 children, our number to-day being 80. Owing to the growth of the Home we were, during the summer months, compelled to enlarge our building costing about $4,000, a description of which you will find in our annual report. Good Christian homes have been secured for nine orphans. We have but one death to report; one of the nursery children, little Ethel Bell, was gathered in the Saviour's arms, April 12th.

If time would permit we could cite many instances showing what a blessing your home is to the orphans of the church and other friendless children. Last May a member of the Ninth church of Allegheny was suddenly called to his heavenly home leaving a wife and three children, and on July 3rd the mother was taken. The three orphan boys were taken care of in your Home. We have found permanent homes for two of them.

Another sad case was that of a Scotch family who came from Edinburgh, being members of the United Presbyterian church. The mother was sick in bed with grippe. The father came home from his work on Saturday evening, washed and dressed the four children and made his wife comfortable, then took a basket and went to market. Being hard of hearing he was struck by the train and killed. We have received the four children into the home, as it was necessary for the mother to support herself and them.

Three years ago, for the lack of funds, we were obliged to abandon kindergarten training with our nursery children. Think of from 25 to 30 well, hearty children under 6 years of age with nothing to do but amuse themselves, as our care takers are not competent to develope their faculties in this direction. It is a well known fact that kindergarten work is being recognized as perhaps the most important training for children. Play is the natural instinct of child life. To disregard this, to make no attempt to build them up in all ways by means of it, with wise and sympathetic guidance, is wasteful and even criminal; so in view of these considerations we would ask contributions to completely equip with apparatus a kindergarten in the Home with an instructor, so that the vim and energy of the child, its memory, perception and judgment be properly directed. The child left without employment for growing and restless energy is in great danger of developing indolence, selfishness and impurity. We are preparing for donation day, which occurs June 6th this year, and we hope at that time to receive donations for this purpose.

To every one who has remembered us in the last year we return our heartfelt thanks, feeling that the Master's loving recommendation "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me," is the highest reward of faithful giving.

Memorial Hospital.

The managers of the Memorial Hospital send greeting to our convention and beg kindly hearing. After another busy year we come to tell our story. While our facilities are just the same and members and responsibilities are increasing, our building has not assumed the stately proportions that we have hoped and prayed for. If you could visit our hospital to-day in its crowded condition we feel sure we would never lack for your sympathy and support. Children of all ages, from the babe of a few days to 16 or 17 years, are received. Women are also admitted when there is room. Oftimes the Humane Society and the Children's Aid send us a little bundle which proves to be the emaciated form of a starved baby. Little cripples spend months with us passing through severe operations hoping for ultimate recovery. Patient, cheery little creatures they are, too.

We might spend hours enumerating cases like these, and it was for such as these our Saviour gave the command, "Heal the sick." During the past year we have treated 158 cases, 25 more than during the corresponding period of last year. Of these five were women, all of whom recovered. Of the remaining 153, only four failed to respond to the treatment and were removed by death; as you see, a very small percentage. We had hoped to be able to report at least progress on the new building, but it is still in the future although the outlook is bright and we expect the act of Assembly, which prevented us from building, will be repealed by the Legislature now in session.

The building fund is now $16,409.30, and reliable unpaid subscriptions make it about $25,000.00. The proposed Hospital was to cost $45,000.00, but as the price of building material and labor has advanced so much, we feel we cannot build for that sum. However, we know that He who supplies all our needs will not permit us to lack anything in our endeavor to promote His honor and glory while obedient to His commands. Kindly carry our hospital story with you, and by "our" we mean the Memorial Hospital of the United Presbyterian Women's Association of North America.

Home for the Aged.

We come again to present to you the report of our tenth year. As we have often told you our Home for the Aged is an ideal one, out from the confines of the city, with nothing to jar or disturb its peacefulness. The hearts of the managers are often made glad by the expressions of gratitude for the comfortable Home which you have so kindly provided for them. Our home, no doubt most of you are aware, is supported mainly by the proceeds of the annual bazaar, lawn fete and contributions from churches and individuals, with the admission fee of those admitted to the home. This only covers the running expenses, as the most of our family are feeble and some unable to care for themselves, which renders it necessary to employ quite a number of caretakers. We still have our very efficient matron, Mrs. Ecoff, who has been with us since the opening of the Home. We have a garden which supplies our table with vegetables in season and our aged enjoy the fresh milk from our own cows. We have at present 47 in the Home, one of these being an old man whom we reported last year. We did have another, but his home had been by the seashore, and the change was so great he became homesick, and after six weeks returned to his friends. His money was refunded deducting the $3.00 per week for board.

Dear friends, we think if you knew the meager accomodations we can give the old men, you would not expect them to stay; they are placed over the laundry as the home is full and has been all the year. We again make a strong appeal to you as we did last year to help us enlarge our building. You have been generous to us in the past, and we believe will be now, to meet this pressing need. We have a waiting list of 10 for admission of both men and women. The Board has set aside $700,00 as a reserve fund, but this is a very small portion of what will be needed to rightly equip our Home for the Aged. Many pathetic appeals are made to us and we long for the time when we shall not have to send them away. We have had no bequests this year, and it is to such funds that we look for our building fund.

The Dorcas Society, composed of some of the aged, assist and delight in making garments for the orphans and the sick. This gives them a feeling of helpfulness and makes them happy in doing for others. Services have been held in the Home every Sabbath during the past year, and communion services once for the comfort of those too feeble to attend church. The Young Ladies' Auxiliary is still very faithful in their efforts to entertain both sick and well.

Dear friends, in closing this little sketch of our Home for the Aged, we ask your prayers that the Father of all good gifts may open the hearts and pockets of the Christian people of our church to provide a larger building so we can do more efficient work and provide a haven of rest for the aged of our own church until they are called to a better land.

The Association has been called upon to mourn the loss of two of the Advisory Board—Mr. William J. Sawyer, and Mr. H. C. Campbell. "And I heard a voice from Heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

We would urge that you remember our Orphans' Home, Memorial Hospital and Home for the Aged, in your prayers and donations. These institutions belong to you and we would be glad to enroll you all as members of the Association for the fee of $1.00 per year, or $20.00 for life members, or $100.00 for Life Directors. How thankful we should be that we are permitted to work in His vineyard.

MRS. R. S. SMITH.

Report of

FREEDMEN'S DEPARTMENT

FOR YEAR ENDING, APRIL 30, 1901.

In the year just closed, passing from the old into the new century, our work for the Freedmen has gone on smoothly and prosperously. Never before were we so instrumental in doing so much. Surely "the Lord of us hath mindful been and He will bless us still."

The same work reported last year was continued with some additions. A sewing department is organized and is doing good work at eleven of the thirteen stations. Dressmaking is taught also as time and circumstances will permit. The pupils are enthusiastic and eager for this work universally and would gladly give much more than the alloted time to it. To show that they are ambitious to do good work, a prize of a silver thimble was offered to each doing the best work in her grade at three stations, and twenty were recommended as worthy.

Another good feature which has had its influence is the improvement in the personal appearance and habits of the puplls. Order and neatness, both in personal habits and work, are prominent among the requirments. While cooking has had a place in the instruction given at Knoxville and Chase City in the Girls' Industrial Home for quite a while, it was not a regular department at any station until last year when it was instituted at Norfolk, Va., very successfully. It was continued there this year, and like departments were opened at Miller's Ferry, Ala., and Henderson, N. C. At Knoxville, under the name "Domestic Science," cooking was taught this year scientifically, the chemistry and physiology of foods being among the requirements. Here it is hoped not only to train housekeepers, but also those who will make efficient teachers of this science, and from each station where these two industries are we hope soon to send out many who will make their knowledge thus gained a means of livelihood.

While we watch with anxious interest our work at each mission, it is to Prairie, Ala., we look with great expectation. And why? Because it is here our farm is located. About one year ago a new superintendent, Mr. Napoleon Cotton, took charge of the farm and has managed it with satisfactory success. Three hundred acres are being cultivated. While cotton is the predominent crop, corn, oats and grass are also cultivated sufficiently to supply the needs of tenants. Thirty-four bales of cotton were gathered last year. which were sold for $1525.10. After giving tenants their share and deducting expenses for ginning, bagging and shipping, $780 were sent to the Board. This includes the $300 advanced to tenants early in the season and leaves a net income from farm of $488.

The business feature, though important, is only one phase of this work. Another is the fostering and stimulating a love for home and home-life. There are nine cottages for the tenants, each containing not less than two rooms. The cultivation of habits of industry and thrift is also one of the prominent objects. The farming is all done systematically under the supervision of Mr. Cotton. Each crop must be planted in a certain way, at a certain time, and the ground must be prepared according to specified rules laid down. Again all are required to work harmoniously with the mission. The children have the benefit of the privileges offered by the school and all, old and young, attend the religious services. A home for the Principal of the mission and the teachers at this station was erected during the past year at a cost of $1400. It is a square two story building containing eight rooms, four on each floor and a hall through the center. The arrangement is such that the principal and teachers can have separate appartments as though in two houses. This house is located quite near the school building, both of which stand on a slight eminence and can be seen for several miles distant—nice neat frame buildings painted white. The original farm or plantation home is about a quarter of a mile distant. Here the principal of the farm and assistant principal of the mission live.

In addition to the improvements mentioned, extensive repairs were made on the buildings and grounds at Camden, Ala., also at Athens, Tenn., in buildings and grounds. The cooking departments at Knoxville and Henderson were fitted out by the Board. Miller's Ferry furnished its own equipment, including Industrial teachers and matrons. In all twenty workers were reported this year, a larger number than ever before.

The supply of clothing has been fair, but much more could have been used to good advantage.

EXPENDITURES.

For materials for cooking	$121 91

This has been quite a successful year in my department. More has been done, more interest manifested, by the pupils and great aid has been rendered the needy and the sick. In fact, I cannot but feel encouraged. We expect next year to be able to dispose of the food cooked, to a saving to the Board, also to have a few girls in a dormitory to whom we expect to furnish most of their food from the cook room. We thank the Woman's Board for prompt aid in carrying on this work.

F. A. GAUEY, Ind. Teacher.

W. MCKIRAHAN, Principal.

CHASE CITY, VA.

Thyne Institute.

We wish to call attention to both the report of the sewing department and Girls' Industrial Home at this station. This is one of the oldest stations of all the missions Sewing has been taught almost from its beginning. Starting with a straight seam, they are taught through all the various gradation up to the making of a dress complete. Many have gone out prepared not only to make their own clothing, but to earn their living by sewing for others. In the Girls' Industrial Home, all the various phases of housekeeping are taught in a very practical way, as you will see by the report of the matron. We also give a bill of fare for one day, which will show you that they get good nutritious food gotten up in an appetizing way. Also you will find a copy of the rules formulated for the benefit of all in the Home.

SEWING DEPARTMENT.

I wish it were possible for some of you to visit this mission and see for yourselves what the girls are doing in the sewing department. Since this will be impossible this year, I shall, in my feeble way, attempt to write you something of our work.

Seven classes receive instruction in sewing, five days each week, each class sewing from thirty to sixty minutes according as the program can be arranged. The girls are required to come to the sewing room quietly and orderly. When seated one girl distributes the work to the class. Each girl has her own work-bag with her name on it. In this bag her work is kept, together with her needle and thimble. In this way there is no confusion, and little time is spent in giving out the work.

All the girls are taught plain sewing, while in the advanced grades instruction is given in cutting and fitting. Those from primary grades make quilt patches, thus learning the straight seam. Several quilts have been made this year by the little girls. Then they learn to hem, baste and back stitch. Their first garments are the straight apron and underskirts. Next comes the ruffled aprons, dresses and shirt waists. Proud indeed are they when they are permitted to make these garments. They realize they are making some advancement, as well as doing garments for themselves. There are girls here only ten years of age who can cut and put together a dress and do it well.

The girls from Senior class in Normal department learn to cut and fit by chart, and can turn out dresses "in fashionable style." At present they are making their commencement dresses. These are plain white, two ruffles on skirt, waist with yoke and ruffle. They will be quite pretty though plain, and the girls are proud of their work.

Indeed all the girls are pleased with the garments they make, and when their circumstances allow always buy them, paying for them about the cost of material. The girls all enjoy sewing and are always cheerful and happy, often singing as they sew. Many of them sew during play time, so much do they love it. During the past eight months they have made 109 dresses, 75 shirtwaists, 152 aprons, besides 76 other garments, including boy's waists, undergarments, sheets, dust caps and numerous other useful articles. I give them nothing along the line of fancy work, except a little hem-stitching. Such work looks much out of place in their homes, and they certainly need the plain sewing, learning to mend, etc. The material used for their work is gingham, calico and muslin. In winter we made a number of dresses and underskirts of outing cloth; but very little of wool dress goods, except for the class in dressmaking. The girls take pride in keeping the sewing-room neat and clean, taking turns in sweeping and dusting. They have made cheap muslin curtains for our windows, which we hope to have up before commencement. The floor is without carpet and they wash it, doing all such work cheerfully and seeming to appreciate the many good things they receive from the hands of the kind Christian friends of the North.

Hoping this may give you some idea of the good work you are doing here, and asking God to abundantly bless all efforts made to help this needy race, I am yours in the Master's work.

MARGARET T. KERR,
Industrial Teacher.

J. M. MOORE, Prin.

Girls' Industrial Home, Norfolk.

I wish that you might all visit our home, and see for yourselves the plan of our work; but since this does not seem possible I will endeavor to, at least, give you a faint idea of what is being done, and how our work is conducted.

First, every girl is required to be in school six hours each school day. We begin our days work by the matron calling the breakfast girls at 5 a. m. Rising bell for all students rings at 5:45, and breakfast bell, to call boys from cottage, rings at 6:15. At 6:30 all are seated at the table.

Immediately after breakfast we have devotions in which all join in singing and reading of scripture and each one will lead in prayer when called upon by myself.

Two girls are appointed for preparing each meal. Dishes are washed by the same girls, assisted by those who prepared the preceding meal, thus allowing four girls for dish-washing, and enabling the girls who get the next meal to partially prepare it while the dish-washing is in progress.

The two girls who care for the kitchen do all work belonging to that department except cooking and washing of dishes. One girl takes charge of all dining room work except caring for the tables. One girl does all baking of light bread, pies and cakes, makes yeast and keeps the pantry in order. The hall girl is responsible for all halls and stairways. One sweeps, dusts and builds fires in the office or teachers' sitting-room and assists in my room any time I wish her. These girls continuing at the same work for a period of two weeks, when I have a new roll ready. However, although the girls in the culinary department change each two weeks, yet they cook for six weeks in succession, for while the dinner girls change to a new work, those who prepared lunch pass to the dinner work and those on for breakfast to lunch, with new girls to begin on breakfast.

For washing and ironing I have them divided into three classes, which gives them one wash day each third week. They prepare for washing Saturday morning before school and wash in the afternoon. The ironing is done Monday by a different class. All extra work, such as scrubbing porches, cleaning windows, yard or any outside work is done Saturday evening and Monday, which is the school holiday.

Yours Respectfully,
RHODA A. LAWTHER, Matron.

BILL OF FARE FOR ONE DAY.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE.

In this mission we have special interest owing partly to the fact that we support more workers here than at any other, viz.: the matron of cooking department, Bible reader, sewing and dress-making teachers, and also teacher of domestic science. Dr. McGranahan, the president of the college, writes that excellent work has been done in each of these departments this year.

The teaching of domestic science, as it has been done this year, is a new departure and much interest was manifested in it. It is hoped to train not only home-keepers here, but also those who will be able to give instruction in this department satisfactorily in other missions.

The work of the Bible reader was seriously interfered with by the prevalence of small-pox during the winter, she not being able to visit among the people or to hold meetings.

Sewing Department.

Seven full classes, with the exception of the boys of the Sixth and Seventh Grades, have been sewing during the entire year. Each class has a period of forty minutes every school day, which gives each pupil the advantage of over three and a half hours sewing each week.

Last year we introduced the models in sewiug, but this year we have thoroughly tested this plan of teaching and have found it altogether satisfactory. A certain number of stitches or models are required of each grade, and each pupil must fulfill the requirements of his grade before he is promoted to the next higher grade. If a pupil enters one of the higher grades in the Training School, he is required to take up the model work at the very beginning in the sewing and work up to his grade.

We have required our pupils to get books, which we furnish them at whole-sale prices, in which these models are put and along with each model the instructions for making are copied in ink. We furnish material for all models and at the close of the school year each pupil gets his book of models for his own.

The Second and Third grades work entirely upon models, completing the running, backstitching, basting, straight-seam and weaving, which teaches the first principles of darning.

The Four B grade works on more advanced models and does very plain sewing. The models completed in this grade are the overhanding, overcasting, cutting on the bias and folding hems.

The Four A's have hemming, felling and gathering, and plain sewing, such as table linen, sheets, pillow-cases, etc.

The Fifth grade models in sewing on tapes, putting in gussets and work on plain garments.

The Sixth grade models in hemstitching, rolling hems, catch-stitch and plain garments.

The Seventh grade must complete all models of stitches, all kinds of patching and darning and have instruction in cutting plain under garments by measure and in making same.

Button-holeing is required one day each week from all above the Second grade, and patching and darning are taught to all above the Third grade.

When a pupil has completed the course in sewiug in the Training School he has learned all the stitches required in plain sewing, also has a pretty fair text book on sewing.

Our model work receives our best attention, but aside from this we have accomplished something in the way of plain-sewing for the boarding department. Among the latter we have made over 70 large aprons, which as some of our friends know, our girls wear while at work.

During the year we have used over 1000 yards of material and have made over 600 articles. Our aim has not been to make money, but to accomplish that which may be the means not only of making money but of saving and of helping our pupils who in turn may be helpers. The average number sewing this year has been 102, the largest average of which we have record. The interest has been good and the improvement in work decided.

In addition to the usual articles cooked the students are taught to fry out suet and lard, to clarify fat, and the various ways of using cooked meat and fish; also to prepare escaloped dishes, and fresh and dried fruit, canned fruit, potted meat, etc. The chemistry of foods is given a prominent place in the instruction. Thus by learning what elements foods are composed of, and the essentials to the making healthy flesh and bones, indigestable foods can be avoided.

This department has progressed fairly well during the past year. A few of the larger girls have learned to cut and put together plain garments. The smaller ones have learned to hem stitch, patch, darn and make button holes. We hope to report greater progress another year.

PRAIRIE, ALA.

A change in the management of the farm was made about one year ago and we are pleased to report that Mr. N. B. Cotton, the new superintendent, is giving satisfaction, showing an active and conscientious interest in the farm and the tenants. We feel that he is capable and will do good work; that with him as our representative we will be able more nearly to accomplish the object we had in view in purchasing the farm, viz: the cultivation of industrious and methodical habits, teaching the colored people how to become useful and a credit to their race and the community in which they live. We ask special attention to the report.

The Home for principals and teachers, which was erected here this year, adds to the comfort of those for whom it was intended and is both an ornament and object lesson to the community. The sewing department gives evidence of good work being done also.

Mission Farm.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT COTTON.

Since I was not here until July, 1900, I cannot make out a report prior to that time.

In the year 1900, there was raised on this farm 34 bales of cotton, which sold in the market for $1525.10, of which amount $870.25 belonged to Board and $654.85 to the tenants. I received from the tenants for advances, $301.17, and to pay their part of expenses for ginning, shipping and selling, $104.33. In all I received $1275.75.

Ginning	those 34 bales cost		$42 50
Bagging and ties	"	"	45 00
Freight on	"	"	26 00
Selling	"	"	100 10
Picking part of	"	"	25 25

After deducting the expenses I had left $1036.90, of which I sent to the Board $780.

Since I have been here I have expended :

Advanced to tenants	$201 86
Taxes	35 67
Brick for chimneys	10 60
Wall paper & canvass, R. H. Adams.	7 63
Lumber for houses and fences	20 00

Mowing machine and rakes	65 00
Expenses to Tuskegee	6 25
Collars for mules	3 75
Shovel, saw, wrench & drawing knife	5 00
Fodder and hay	2 85
	$501 11

INVOICE.

7 mules (average $110)	$770 00
9 cattle	90 00
4 hogs	10 00
2 wagons	30 00
Plows	28 00
Harness	12 00
2 cotton planters	6 00
Other tools not before included	10 00

There are 8 houses for tenants, one house occupied by R. H. Adams and myself, and one barn and one house to stow cotton.

I cannot tell the exac t number of acres cultivated; but I think there are about 150 acres in cotton, 75 in corn and 90 in pasture. The balance is in woods and taken up by streams of water.

I hope this is about what you wanted for my annual report. If anything else is necessary, let me know.

Your Truly,

N. B. COTTON.

Number of students, girls, 29. Number of grades 5; average number in grades 5.

Number of articles cooked: corn-bread, biscuits and muffins quite often; rolls, ginger bread once; pastries 9 times; cakes 6 times; cookies 3 times; fries 6 times; broils salads twice, roasts 3 times; stews twice; vegetables, corn, beans, potatoes, tomatoes, macaroni; puddings once; desserts twice; cereals twice; beverages, coffee, tea, lemonade; soups 4 times; eggs 5 times.

It is gratifying to see the progress made by the different classes in the Industrial work. Many of those in the boarding department often spoke of the things they learned, saying they would put them into practice in their homes. Encouraging news often came from the parents of the day students telling of the work done in the homes from what they had learned. Unusual interest was shown the last week. Almost every girl in the dormitory wanted to be first in the laundry, to get her clothes done nicely to take home. The day students took great pains in ironing pieces to go on exhibition. The cooking classes were very busy preparing for exhibition. On the last evening the laundry and cooking departments were represented. The cooking was tasted by visitors and friends, who expressed their surprise and satisfaction of the work being done by the students.

Sewing Department.

We opened our sewing room with supplies sent from directors of sewing department to the amount of $20. This included calico, domestic gingham, thread, scissors, etc.

Garments were made for and by the pupils, with as little profit as could be allowed, to cover expenses and to keep the sewing-room in a state of gradual growth.

We are very grateful for the goods that were sent for our work. The boys and girls took quite an interest in the work. All seemed to do their full part to make the work successful. Seventy-one kindergarten cards were made by the little boys and girls in the primmer class. We hope the work will be successful the incoming year.

CAMDEN, ALA.

This is reported to have been the best year in the history of this mission—thorough work, harmony among the workers and the manifestation of confidence on the part of the pupils.

In the sewing department, great interest was manifested, many anxious to spend more than the allotted time in sewing. An exhibition of work done was made at the close of school and was much praised by parents and friends. Mr. Smith, the principal, speaks gratefully of the clothing received, enabling many to attend school and Sabbath services who otherwise could not have done so. Some were furnished gratuitously; from others a small sum was asked, according to circumstances.

A railroad has just been completed to Camden, which will simplify shipping very materially. The address now will be, Rev. E. K. Smith, Camden, Ala., via S elma, Ala. The freight will be less this way and the time required much shorter.

HENDERSON, N. C.

A revolution in the working force was made at this mission this year, in that the workers are all colored. Rev. J. L. Cook, formerly of our mission at Athens, Tenn., is principal. The sewing teacher, Miss Alice Burris, is also from the same mission. Mr. Cook was very anxious to have a cooking department established this year, and the matron of the girls' dormitory was appointed to take charge, but so many girls came to the dormitory that her entire time was required there. The kitchen having been equipped, however, one of the other teachers, who was an experienced cook, took charge and devoted a part of several days in the week to this department until April when it was found best to discontinue for this year. There is a great desire among the pupils for an education in this department, and it is hoped to open the department again. The influx of students was so great that it was with great difficulty that the mission could manage the great numbers with the limited facilities at hand. With an enrollment of 708 in the day school and 1110 in the Sabbath-school, it can be readily seen what effort would be required by the workers.

I have examined the foregoing statements and find them correct. Have also examined the accounts of the Treasurer for the year ending April 15, 1901, compared the receipts with bank deposits and disbursements with vouchers and find all correct.

A. F. SAWHILL, AUDITOR.

Report of

FOREIGN CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

MRS. W. J. REID.

Standing on the threshold of a new century, and looking back on what has been accomplished by our beloved church in Egypt and India during the last half of the preceding one, there is great reason for thankfulness to God for all that has been done through his blessing upon the efforts put forth for the extension of his kingdom in those far away lands, which should lead us to take courage for renewed and greater efforts in the years to come. But turning away from the long vista of the past, we desire at this time to draw the attention of the women of the church to their own efforts in heathen lands during the year just closed.

The brief appended reports from the fields, which will appear in the Minutes of this convention, are most encouraging. They show most faithful service on the part of our faithful missionary women and their native helpers, and it is believed that, through their influence and labors, the truths of the gospel are being so firmly implanted in the minds and hearts of many, very many, who hold, or who will hold the controlling power in the family and over its home life, that ere long a great host will rise up, like trees growing along the river of life, to make beautiful the City of our God.

One of the most visible conditions, or features, of our foreign work at the present time is the many, many doors open to the entrance of truth and instruction for women and girls. It not infrequently happens that a call comes to the passing missionary lady, or Bible woman, "Won't you come in and read to us or teach us?" Most certain it is that there was never a time when there were so many calls to occupy new places and establish schools for girls. True it is that there has been much longing and praying for this happy time, that God in his gracious providence would early bring it about; but how have we shown our faith in getting ready for it? Have we provided an abundant supply of laborers for the rapid growing time, laborers to meet the demands of the present situation, laborers to help gather the approaching harvest? Alas, alas, no! It will be remembered that at our last convention, request was made for more workers for both Egypt and India, and action was taken to grant the full request. I am sure we will all bow our heads in shame and sorrow, when I tell you that each field got only one recruit—Miss Helen J. Ferrier going to Egypt in the early autumn, and Mrs. R. R. McClure being transferred to the force of women workers in India, as she was willing to remain in the field after the death of her husband.

Whose fault was it that large reinforcements were not sent out? Your Board would have been very glad to have executed the will of the General Missionary Society, but again, alas! the reinforcements did not materialize. And just here we want to ask, Are there no more capable, consecrated, strong young women in our church who are willing to give the service of their lives to the Master for the salvation of souls? What are the young women of the church doing that they are so forgetful of their heathen sisters, who sitting in darkness are stretching out their hands toward the light? Credit must, however, be given to three, who would gladly have accepted a commission had they been eligible for appointment in the matter of health and education. But the question still remains, What are the many strong ones doing? To what purpose are the efforts of our young women's missionary societies and our young people's societies being directed? Surely not to a study of the needs of our Foreign mission fields. The same request for more missionary women comes to you again. What shall be done with it? Will we give the needed help, or will we shut our ears and our hearts to that most pitiful of all wails that come to us from the women of India and Egypt, "No one cares for my soul?" May God help us to see our dutv, and to do, in this the most crucial time of our mission work.

What the women in the home land have accomplished in the work of foreign missions during the last year, is best shown in the following financial statement, and we doubt not that these contributions have been made with a spirit of love and self sacrifice.

Total of all money received by the treasurer for foreign work for the year ending April 15, 1901, $37,479.30; disbursements, $31,707.21. Though the increase in receipts was but $1,271.83 over the preceding year, the balance on hand at the close of the two years was not largely different. Meanwhile there was a considerable increase in regular work, viz: the salaries of two extra missionary women, and the support of the girls' boarding school at Sialkot, India. This is not an example of "the widow's cruse of oil" but rather because the special contributions to the famine funds, which are no longer needed, were turned into the chanel of regular work. Truth, however, compels us to state that had the erection of the Martha J. McKown Memorial Hospital progressed as expected, receipts would scarcely have met expenditures.

Owing to delays and hindrances with oriental agents over land questions, everything has been annoyingly kept back in regard to the building. But those questions are all settled now, and it is hoped that when we bring you report next year, it may be said that Tanta Hospital is in active operation.

We are sorry that the building expenses of this hospital must be carried over to the work of the present, yet glad to say that there are some special funds in the treasury amounting to $2,570 for this work, which will, however, need to be supplemented by $7,430 to complete without furnishings.

WORK FOR THE PRESENT YEAR.

The work for the present year will be in a measure as heretofore, viz: the salaries of thirty-nine missionary women, the medical work, the girls' boarding school at Sialkot, India, the support of native teachers and Bible women, all of which footed up last year to $31,707.21. Some new work ought also to be undertaken. That which has been favorably considered by your Board has been the support of a new boarding school for girls to be located at Luxor, Upper Egypt, in answer to an urgent appeal from the Mission Association of Egypt. The present estimate for the school in a rented building is about $800 a year. Add to this the salaries of required new missionaries, their outfit and traveling expenses, and possibly a few incidentals, we can safely say that our foreign work will require at least $40,000 for the present year.

We say, "Our foreign work," for there is no provision whatever for the maintenance of this work outside of our General Missionary Society. It is a work committed to our care by the General Assembly, and the Board of Foreign Mistions does not include it in the appropriations which it asks from the church at large, commonly called "Quota." Shall we have the $40,000 for our foreign work? We think so. The women of the church have been generous with their free will offerings of silver and gold, and we do not believe they have reached the limit of their generosity in this line. But there is a lack still, the lack of the living sacrifice. What mother is there who will give her daughter to the service of the Lord? What daughters are there who, for the love of Christ and humanitv in their hearts, will give themselves to the blessed work of carrying the gospel to those who know it not?

EGYPT.

Report of Work among Women and Girls in Egypt for 1900.

BY MISS ANNA Y. THOMPSON.

There are many things to gladden the heart when one tries to estimate something of the great good which has resulted to the women of Egypt through the mission work of our church. It is especially encouraging to note the effect of a period of training, whether in the day or boarding schools, upon the religious character of the pupils in their after life and home relations.

It is a pleasure indeed to visit homes where there is regular family prayer, and see the wife take her place at the head of the table when visitors are present, doing honor to herself and the school which gave her training, or to find a wife, who has such influence over her worldly-minded husband that she can induce him to make a fair show of religion and attend church; and there are cases where men so fully trust their wives that they give their salaries to their keeping, and even advise with them on business matters.

The most of these things are quite contrary to the customs of the East, and altogether different from the training and practice of the Mohamedan of this country, one of whom once said to the writer, "A Moslem woman tries to get out of her husband all that she can, for she does not know how soon he may divorce her."

There is nothing that will break down prejudice against the teachings of Christ like becoming acquainted with them. "The entrance of thy word giveth light," and it seems evident that here school work shows its great importance in training the mind when it is most pliable and when warm attachments are made.

The increased demand for education for girls is bringing us some difficulties. As the Copts of the Reform party are giving much higher salaries to their teachers than we have been doing, we cannot long continue our present small salaries. A graduate of our Cairo boarding school, who had been receiving ten dollars a month from us, was offered twenty-five by a Coptic school in Zagazig. Of course we lost her. Our Egyptian girls are married so young that we find it hard to keep them until they acquire sufficient experience and maturity to be good self reliant teachers, capable of acting as head teachers, and managing for themselves in towns where new schools are being asked for. We are sorry to say that the effect upon some of our young teachers, of being made too much of by school committees, and being brought too prominently before men of the town, has not been all that was desired; but the great scarcity of teachers, and the urgent requests from so many places, only make us willing to send out all available ones, with the hope that they might prove suitable and efficient. The prejudice against teaching is not all dead yet, as there are some parents who refuse to select as wives for their sons those who have been teachers, as the profession implies that they have been needy people. There are some happy exceptions, however, to this idea. A postal clerk who married one of our Cairo boarding-school teachers, wrote as follows about his wife, "I am pleased to say that I have found a good and virtuous wife. She is not at all like the others, who are only useful as drudges. I feel that I have gained a precious jewel. We shall try to do good to everybody, and hope to lead a true Christian life."

It is wonderful how Christian influences are spreading throughout Egypt. In Berber of the Soudan, one of Miss Smith's former teachers is now living, and she is willing to instruct any who would like to learn; also in Umdurman there is another woman, a church member from Assouan, who has been visiting among her neighbors with the offer to teach them, and the preacher has been asked to have a meeting for women at her house. Thus it may be said that special work for women has been opened in those remote and needy places.

There has not been much apparent success so far in work among Mohammedan women; yet our Bible women report greater interest in listening to the reading of the Bible, while in Boulac some have offered their houses for prayer-meetings. An old woman, who is partially paralyzed, asked one of the missionaries to read and pray with her, and she quoted a verse she had learned years ago, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden." When the prayer was being offered she leaned over and kissed the hand of the missionary, calling down blessings on her head. Afterwards she said, "How I wish I had learned your religion."

Schools.

There are now thirty-five schools for girls under the care of our mission, with nearly 3,800 pupils in them, and 86 teachers are employed. A few girls attend boys' schools in villages where there are no special schools for girls. As girls are allowed to attend boarding-schools longer, or at an older age, than in day schools, it is proposed to start a boarding-school at Luxor the coming autumn for the girls of Upper Egypt. It is also hoped that another may soon be opened in the Delta.

The value of girls' schools can hardly be told. Beside the secular education the Bible is taught, and every school is made a center of religious influence. Various meetings, both for women and girls, are held in them, such as prayer-meetings, Sabbath-schools, and missionary and temperance society meetings. The power o the religious influence is especially seen in the boarding-schools.

In Miss Kyle's report of the Cairo school she says: "Some of the larger girls are members of the Scripture Union and they faithfully read the daily portions. Some of the middle girls have asked to have a class in the study of the Life of Christ, in view of uniting with the church. Among the boarders are six Mohammedans and six Jewesses who have memorized the shorter Catechism and several chapters of the Bible. Of the thirteen graduates of this school this year seven have gone out as teachers."

In the report of the Asyut boarding-school, Miss Hogg says: "Twenty-one of our pupils are members of the church. These, added to the eight Christian teachers, form a strong religious element in our school, who, along with the others who have shared in the advantages of a Christian education, dispersed at the close of the year to some fifty towns and villages in the Nile valley, there to become, by God's grace, centers of leavening influence to Egypt. Seven of our nine last graduates were members of the church.

The buildings of many of the schools are entirely too small to accommodate the large number of pupils, or are not suitably constructed. Referring to this, Miss Hogg further says: "Our opening exercises are daily conducted in two adjoining rooms. The lady in charge stands in the doorway between the two rooms, from whence she makes not always successful efforts to reach the ears of her two audiences and hold their attention."

In addition to a chapel the Assiout boarding-school needs more dormitories and class rooms, and possibly the greatest of all needs is a room where sick ones may be cared for, away from the crowded dormitory in contact with other girls, as they now have to be nursed. Miss Smith speaks in her report of the need of a more suitable building for her school located in the better part of Cairo than where she is. The increased receipts from the pupils of our girl schools show that female education is being better appreciated in Egypt than it once was.

Missionary Societies.

Missionary societies have been started in some fourteen places, the larger number being in the Delta. The Presbyterial of the Delta met at Tanta, March 15. It was a very enjoyable occasion, and some of the papers would have done credit to women in the home land. The Thank-offering amounted to $110, the societies of Tanta giving over $35. There are 353 names of women on the list of paying members and 468 Juniors. Some of the women never attend the meetings, but they take lessons from the Bible women, who collect their subscriptions from month to month. In this way at least twenty-five dollars was raised in Cairo during the year. Total number of women enrolled as under instructors 2,236, of whom 1,065 are regular learners. Of the whole number 611 are Protestants, 174 Mohammdans, and the remainder largely Copts There is na average of 1,200 women and 1,500 girls who attend the women's prayer-meetings, and 2,869 are enrolled in the membership.

It is impossible to give the work of the different missionary ladies in detail. Some of them are in charge of boarding-schools involving many cares and duties; others have charge of day schools, and at the same time they do much visiting among the houses, conduct prayer-meetings, and go to other towns as occasion may require. The married ladies are somewhat tied up by their home duties, but they have done more than can be estimated in the example of home life, the training of children, entertaining of guests, etc., but with all they do find time to do some visiting, help with the schools, and look after Bible women.

Medical Work.

In Assiout the work of the ladies in the medical department is reckoned with that of the doctors, Miss Teas being the superintendent in Dr. Henry's Hospital, while Mrs. McClenahan has the supervision of ailing students in the college who are not sick enough to be sent to the hospital. Both of these ladies have done much to forward the work of Christ in Upper Egypt.

In Tanta Dr. Anna B. Watson and Dr. Caroline C. Lawrence have an extensive work, with clinics in two other towns and many outside calls. A remark, made some two years ago, still expresses the situation in regard to medical work: "The large increase in the number of villages visited shows the increased demand for medical service, and has shown, as nothing else could, the great need of medical work among the women of Egypt. The work at times is most trying, both mentally and physically, but we look to the Great Physician for help and guidance. The Bible readers in connection with the medical work reach many with the gospel who could not be reached by any other means. The imperative needs in the work for women and girls in Egypt are more missionary women, more money for buildings, and salaries of higher grade teachers in the schools and hareem work, and most of all, the prayers of the church in the home land for an out pouring of God's spirit on the work and workers.

Clinics at Benha and Tanta.

Dr. Caroline C. Lawrence and Dr. Anna B. Watson give more detailed reports of their work. Dr. Lawrence says: "In reviewing the work of the past year, to note the conspicious features from which to fashion a report, I find little beside routine and seeming monotony. The clinic at Benha is more and more becoming work among the fellaheen, truly sons and daughters of the brown soil—men and women 'with a hoe.' With the passing years one learns to know, read and appreciate them, and to view life in the Delta from their standpoint. As week after week one's ears are filled with their tales of aches, pains and ailments, in the recital of which they really appear eloquent, the gamut of one's emotions is strangly touched with feelings of sympathy, pity, amusement and sometimes weariness; and thus after daily entering into their lives and feelings of these simple, but canny village folk routine brings unexpected surprises and the monotony resolves itself into a continuous study of human lives and hearts.

"As the influence of the clinic widens, more and more villages are reached, until in a single day a dozen or more are represented. Surely some of the earnest words of the Bible woman and evangelist have been carried back to their hundreds of humble homes, and there have been thoughts of our Christ in some darkened, bigoted minds, questionings as to whether or no there may be a greater than Mohammed. But results of such work are so intangible and evasive of anything like tabulation, that one's spiritual senses need continual invigoration to perceive them. Truly the missionary physician needs daily draughts of the tonic of faith in God's cooperation and the final triumph of the good. Number of patients at Benha, 3,130. In Tanta my work has been mainly house visiting, answering calls to neighboring towns with a small amount of clinic work.

"Of Kafrzyat we must write in the future tense. It is a cotton growing town on the river, about half an hour distant by train from Tanta. We have had frequent European and native calls from there, and a number came to the Tanta clinic; so it was deemed a good opening for dispensary work. Three rooms were fitted up in the boys' school building, and a beginning was made in October. There is good promise for a growing work. We are now in search of a suitable Bible woman and assistant."

Of the work at Tanta Dr. Watson reports; "Number of clinic visits, 3,300; number of house visits, 931; number of village visits, 15: number of operations, 38: patients admitted to house, 28.

"The work of the past year has been conducted along the usual lines—the dispensary, house visits, and a few patients admitted to our house. There have been the usual trials, discouragements, criticisms, and persecutions, but in making a retrospect of the year, we wish first to express thanks to our Heavenly Father for his continual goodness, and to bear testimony that He who has promised is ever faithful to perform that promise.

"The accompanying figures show a wholesome increase in work over the previous year. Bible instruction in clinic has been faithfully given, and through the Bible woman we have been better able to follow up cases in their own homes. A number of clinic patients have become regular pupils. Three little Mohammedan girls from among the patients are going to our day school and a Mohammedan woman has been attending our Sabbath morning services, sitting with veiled face beside our Christian women.

"Some months ago a man wearing a green turban, which marked him as a decendant of the Prophet, was given a gospel by St. John. A few days latter he came back and asked for another book. Weeks after he returned again, this time asking for four or five more books of the same kind. He said the people of his village were very happy from the teachings of this book and he wanted more for them

"The ground for the hospital building has at last been secured. The purchase was attended with many vexations through native fickleness and greed. Plans for the building are under consideration, and we hope soon to have our long looked for hospital completed, where more and better work can be done. Cease not to pray that the medical work may be a means of spiritual life to the suffering and afflicted of Egypt."

SUMMARY.

From the Assiout and Delta Presbyterials: Lady physicians, 2: trained nurses, 2; number of boarding-schools, 2; number of day schools, 35; number of pupils (girls), 3,782; number of teachers for girls, 86; women learning to read, 1,171; regular hearers, 1,065; women church members, 2,869; missionary societies, 14; junior missionary societies, 6; contributions in 1900, $312; Thank-offering in 1901, $165.

INDIA.

Miss Josephine L. White writes of the zenana work at Rawal Pindi, the most northern district of the Punjab occupied by our mission.

"Early last February I left the school-work and began giving my whole time to zenana work. As long as I had the schools I could do very little teaching in the houses, so I confined myself to reading the Bible and singing bhajans to the women as I had opportunity; they are especially fond of singing.

"In December, 1899, I was appealed to by an Englishman and a Parthan woman, who had been living together, to help them toward a better life. For three years they had been trying to find some one to advise them, some one who would teach the woman, Shah Begam, to read and also instruct her concerning the Christian religion. As I was expecting to go out in the district, I could only start her in the primer, and lay out some work for her. She then hired a munshi (a teacher), and I was very much surprised at the progress she had made when I returned from the district. Later I took a house in Sadar Bazar, and Shah Begam came to live with me, remaining un-il her marriage in May, when she went back to her former home a lawful wife. By this time a large number of zenanas had been opened and other work had come up in such a way that I felt it to be the Lord's will that I should remain in Sadar. So during the summer I managed all the female work by spending three days of the week here, and the other three in the city. By September I had an assistant, who, though she had never worked before, seems in many ways well fitted for the work in Sadar. She knows Roman Urdu, can speak the language well and sing nicely. She with Nasiban, one of the famine girls of '97, does the work here while I am attending to my regular work in the city. We now have sixteen women who are regular readers of the Bible. Of this number seven are Mohammedans and nine are Hindus. There are several others who will soon begin reading in the New Testament. A bright young Hindu girl has just gone to the home of her husband in another part of India, and two others, who are readers, are preparing for marriage. We have no Bible woman for the city, but hope to secure one by and by."

Miss Laurella Dickson reports having visited among the Christian and baptized women of the city. Weekly prayer-meeting were held with Christian women who could not be induced to attend the congregational prayer-meeting. One Christian woman died last summer, also two little girls who had learned enough of Christ to trust him as their Saviour were taken away.

Bhera,

Miss Elizabeth McCahon and Miss Mary R. Martin were sent to Bhera a year and a half ago, where they worked together until the latter part of last December, when Miss Martin was transferred to the Girls' boarding-school in Sialkot, to take the place of Miss Lawrence, who has since returned to the home land on furlough. Miss McCahon worked on alone for a time, bearing all the burdens, which were by no means light, until Dr. Johnson, apprehending a general break down, carried her off to her own home in Jhelum, hoping thereby to save her health and strength for future usefulness.

Miss McCahon says of the work: "Although some mission work has been carried on in the city and district for years, the only organized work among the women is in connection with the dispensary, which is a branch of the Jhelum medical work under the care of Dr. Johnson, and it has more or less to do with other work of the station. At the dispensary a class, including all its helpers and zenana workers, meets each day for a half hour of Bible study and prayer, and this daily exercise has undoubtely been a means of grace to all who have attended it. As yet there is no visible effect of the zenana work upon the women of the town. While they greet the missionary pleasantly, they take little interest in the Gospel message.

"One month was spent in the district, and 32 towns and villages were visited. While there are no results yet to report, it is felt that at least some friends were made in the free access to the women and possibly some good impressions. There is no school for girls at Bhera, and it is most desirable that there should be one. One Bible woman is employed, who reports 700 visits in 100 houses. Six women and a few girls have learned to read."

Miss Mary Martin further tells of the Bhera work: "There are no Christians here with the exception of those employed in the work, viz.: an evangelist or colporteur, a Bible woman and the dispensary helpers. The year we spent in Bhera, might be called a year of beginnings, getting ready to work, getting acquainted with the people, and they with us. As we went about day after day among the people sitting in darkness, and yet not realizing their condition, or caring to turn to the light, we felt we could in some measure realize what the first missionaries experienced all the time for a long time. In the district there is an immense tract of land along the course of a canal which is being constructed, and when th a is completed the territory will be quickly settled up, and there will be great need for more missionaries to reach the people.

"As in Rawal Pindi and Jhelum districts, the low caste people have all turned Mo hammedans. Thus bigotry and ignorance are added to their naturally rude and uncouth ways, and they are a hard class to reach and influence. How I longed for a school and a suitable teacher where some of the bright, promising little girls we met might be gathered and instructed, and taught those things which bring light and happiness into their young lives! All the more did I wish this as I saw how the boys were improving under the order and teaching of their schools. We were encouraged by what we thought a slight improvement among the girls who attended our little Sabbath-school, and it was with real regret that I left this field to go to Sialkot at the beginning of this year."

Jhelum

Miss Edith M. Fulton reports of village and zenana work in Jhelum.

"Miss Gordon and I visited this year in 15 villages near and around Jhelum City. For various reasons, but chiefly on account of the famine, we were hindered from doing any itinerating work during the cold season; so our work was confined to the villages within driving distance from our home. In most of the villages we were well received, but occasionally we found people, who would have none of us or our message.

"Zenana work, though interesting, has been somewhat discouraging because of the indifference on the part of those visited; yet there are some who heard us gladly, and who seemed to comprehend our teaching as in the case of one woman, who wept when we told her of the great sacrifice Jesus, had made for our sins. Another, who was in great trouble because her husband had gone away and left her, besought the missionary to pray for his return, saying she had prayed and prayed, but there was no answer to her petitions. Prayer was offered with her, and not long after the husband really did return. The woman was very happy, and gave great credit to the missionaries' prayer. She was instructed that there was no access to God save through Jesus Christ His son.

"Three Bible women have assisted in the work at Jhelum during the past year. One of them, Mercy, made 848 visits in 67 houses, and gave secular and Bible lessons to 38 women and girls; the other two worked only part of the year. The missionaries visited many houses, sometimes together, sometimes separate and sometimes with the Bible women.

"During four months of the summer, while the Theological seminary was in session, the wives of the students and other Christian women of the City were gathered into two Bible classes. All took a lively interest in the class work, and it was felt that the Bible study was profitable to both teachers and students.

GIRLS' SCHOOL.

"The girls' school has an enrollment of 65 names, with an average attendance of 41. Six of the girls are Christian, ten Mohammedan, and the rest Hindu. The head teacher is a good Christian woman. She is assisted by two others, one a Mohammedan the other a Christian. Until within a few months ago a Pundit (Hindu teacher) had always been employed. On dismissing him several of the Hindu girls staid away, and their mothers said to us, 'Why should we send our girls to a school when there is none of our own to teach them.' After a little the girls all came back, and now the Pundit does not seem to be missed. We feel that this is quite a step in advance, when we are able to keep the Hindu girls in school without employing a Pundit to teach them. The school work has been very satisfactory and we are hoping for good results from the annual examinations which will soon take place.

"The Bible is daily taught in all the classes. Bible stories are impressed upon the younger minds by means of picture charts. On one occassion, the picture before a class was 'Christ walking on the sea.' The teacher was trying to impress upon the children what a wonderful thing it was for Christ to walk on the water, when one child remarked, 'Why, no; it was not wonderful at all, because Christ is the Son of God. If one of us should walk on the water, it would be wonderful.'

"During the year the head teacher has conducted a Sabbath-school class, which some of the school girls, both Mohammedan and Hindu, have been attending."

Gujranwala.

Miss Henrietta Moore reports as follows of work in Gujranwala and district:

"During the past year 38 villages had been visited, several of them more than once. Baptized people were found in 28 of the villages, some of whom were evidentily making progress, but a large proportion were careless and indifferent. These said to us; 'Go, teach the people to whom you gave land; we have never gained anything by being Christians.' Happily all were not seekers of gain.

"So far as possible we tried to go to both Hindu and Mohammedan women in every village visited. Almost invariably they received us kindly and listened with close attention. Very rarely was anything said in opposition to our teaching.

"Regular work is maintained in Dogra Basti, and Gujranwala City. I have visited in 34 houses of the city, which were about equally divided between Mohammedans and Hindus. Eighteen women were enrolled in the summer Bible school, but owing to the shortness of the session, and interruptions by sickness and death in our little circle of Christians, the results of class work were not very satisfactory.

"Weekly prayer-meetings for women, and a monthly missionary meeting have been regularly kept up in Gujranwala. The weekly meetings of the Junior Christian Union have been well attended and the children themselves have taken an active part in them.

"Three Bible women are employed. Many hundred visits have been made by them, the word of God has been faithfully taught and many women and girls are receiving regular instruction. There are many wide open doors for the entrance of the Gospel."

Girls' School.

Miss Kate Corbett reports of the girls' schools of Gujranwala City:

"I have not the report to put before you that I had hoped to have at the beginning of the year, but we think on the whole that our schools have done pretty well, especially the higher classes. We have now ten branch schools with a roll number of 225. These are preparing for the infant standard, and we hope a fair percentage of them will come into the Central school after next examinations. The roll number of the Central school is 80. These are in the various standards above the infant and up to the Entrance. One girl took the Anglo-vernacular middle examinations this year. She was successful, and will pass into the Entrance department and also become a pupil teacher in the schools. There are twenty Christian girls in the school. The High-school department has done very good work; four Hindu girls are reading English. We have an excellent staff of teachers, but they are far too few in number. Our good and faithful Miss Mukarjea with her two nieces, Bea Maryam, mentioned in 'One Hundred Girls of India,' and a couple of Mohammedan women, are a lot of teachers and helpers to be proud of and prized for their faithfulness and ability. They carried the work along while I was compelled to be absent, and aside from a few matters entirely beyond their control, did just as well as though I had been with them. All honor to our teachers. O, that we could find two or three more as good!

"Good as is the work here, a single incident will show how easily it can be toppled over. One Saturday, as two Hindu girls of our schools were on their way home for their mid-day meal, they were met by a strange man and woman. The man said to them, 'Come with me and I will give you a doll.' The silly children went with them and were taken direct to the railroad station, given a ticket for Hardwarand and put upon the train. At the first station below Gurjanwala one girl said to the other, 'I have an aunt living here, I am going to get off to see her.'

So they both got out on the platform, and no sooner did they find themselves in a strange place than they began to cry. This attracted the attention of the stationmaster, who asked them where they came from. As they told him and he examined their tickets his suspicions were aroused, and he telegraphed to the Gurjanwala stationmaster to know if any such girls were missing. This was on Saturday afternoon. Monday morning came and the girls were still missing, and the word went abroad that the Christians had stolen them to make 'karanian' Christians, of them. Consequence: Not one Hindu girl was in school that morning. About noon the girls were returned home. Then Miss Mukarjea energetically started out and, through her influence, every girl was back in school before night. You see what a 'block house' our work is. Our poor Jamna is still kept a close prisoner, and we hear no authentic news from her further than that she still stands firm. Did space permit many other interesting incidents could be told of girls anxious to confess Christ. Poor, helpless women and girls; we can only trust and pray and teach them."

GURDASPUR.

The Miss Wilsons have charge of the women's work in this city and district. They find cause for gratitude that amid the many trials and hindrances of their work last year so few of the Christians were called away by death, in comparison with the great mortality among the heathen. In one village of three hundred heathen and seventy-five Christians, sixty of the idolatrous died and only three of the Christian people. Because of the scarcity of food and its high price, many families have left their former places in Gurdaspur and gone to seeks homes in the new country where canals have been made, which will ensure better crops in seasons when there is little or no rainfall.

As far as possible work has been carried on in the usual way. The women have been visited in their homes and taught. The summer school was well attended, and both women and children took much interest in the study of the catechism and in learning Scriptural verses. At its close they passed a very creditable examination under Rev. David Gordon.

Miss Rose A. Wilson tells of the methods of work by the Salvation Army, which had been going through Gurdaspur district, taking possession of many Christian villages. She says: "This Army follows Gen. Booth's orders rather than Christ's, and instead of advancing God's kingdom it is in many ways a hindrance. The custom is to go into a village and set up a banner; then invite all who believe in God to come under their flag. They sing and pray and enroll as members having received the Holy Spirit all who have listened with any respect. Money is collected, but the people receive little or no instruction. Even the heathen do not recognize their converts as Christians."

In non-Christian village many good listeners are found. It is frequently however with the spirit that "your religion is good for you but not for us." One dear old Sheik woman, who could read her own books very well, asked us many questions after listening to the reading of Luke, 18th chapter, and said she had heard that people of all classes were becoming Christians. She wanted to know if there was any caste in America, whether all people were on a level. She admitted that there ought not to be castes, for all people were made alike not differing as do beasts of the field.

One Bible woman, Jane Dennison, has been employed and her report has been translated by Miss Cynthia Wilson. It is as follows:

"The women of Gurdaspur listen very well to the gospel and with love, especially the Hindoo women. At present there are two of my former zenana enquirers who wish to enter God's flock, but they are close prisoners, being veiled Hindoo women. My request is that you all pray to the Father to reveal himself fully to them, and provide a means of escape for them.

"With sorrow I write that my work has been much hindered by sickness and death, but this was God's will. First, my son of ten years was called by the Heavenly Father, and for many days I could not work for grief. Then six months after it pleased God to call his father. I was also frequently sick with fever, so that I have not been able to render full service or show forth God's glory as I desired to do. I desire the prayers of all brothers and sisters, that God would give me strength to show forth his glory day by day."

Lyallpur.

Miss Nannie J. Spencer and Miss Kate A. Hill have charge of work among women in Lyallpur and district. Their report tells of varied experiences, trials with helpers and some disappointments, but there was one helper who never failed them—a faithful horse that carried through rain or sunshine from village to village or miles and miles out into camp. During the summer, when in the city station, the Christian women in seven villages were regularly visited. Not one of those women could read, neither did they show much aptitude for learning; they were however taught the simple truths of the Christian religion and such Bible verses as they could understand. The Sabbath-school lessons were used with good results. From the intelligent questions those women began to ask, it was believed they had made some advancement in a knowledge of the word of God, in Christian living and in spiritual discernment. Women's prayer-meetings were regularly kept up and a monthly missionary society meeting was held in connection with one of the weekly meetings. The members take turn in leading the same, and some of the best are led by women who cannot read. One of these women, Bagam, who had made remarkable advancement during the past two years, has been called to a higher service in heaven.

The first Thank-offering meeting of the society was held last January, while the missionary ladies were in camp. The response was liberal though the amount is not stated.

Four months were spent in camp. The first was put in in Khangah Dogra district, which is a new district and lies between Hafizbad and Lyallpur. Miss Embleton was assigned here at last Annual Association meeting. There was great need of zenana work here, especially in the new Christian village of Martinpur. One of the ladies says: "Our work in this neighboring district seems like bread cast on the water, already it is being returned to us. One day some months ago as we drove into a village in our own district, several women came out to greet us with smiles of welcome and many salaams. We found they were of a family consisting of the mother, two daughters and four daughters-in-law, whom we had taught in Khangah Dogra district in 1899. Then they could hardly repeat the ten commandments. The advancement made during the year was both a surprise and a pleasure. We have already tried to impress upon our women the duty of telling to others what we teach them, and some of our efforts in this line have borne fruit. On the last day of the year, we came across the parents and sisters of a woman whom we had taught several summers ago. The woman was not very promising and we sometimes wondered whether it paid to go out to her village, especially for her. We were touched to find how much this woman had taught her relatives. Though heathen they have lost belief in their idolatrous shrines, and they are asking for a teacher to teach of the true God.

Non-Christian Work.

"Work among non-Christians is most interesting, and when in district we are always sorry that we cannot give more time to it. In a few places there was a decided opposition against us and we were refused admission to some houses, but we were not dismayed, as there were plenty of other doors open to us. In our travels through the jungle, we often meet with bright, interesting, lovable women into whose seclusion we bring bright bits of the outside world, which we hope creates within their hearts a longing for something better for themselves.

"As we become better acquainted with the women in our yearly visits, we are pleased with the welcome we receive and the evident pleasure with which they listen as we tell of Jesus. It is surprising how quickly some of these women get hold of the plan of salvation, and we believe that God's word will not fail to bring forth fruit in his own time.

GIRLS' SCHOOL.

"The girls' school, non Christian, in Lyallpur is not large. Four girls read in the gospels; the others are beginners, but they have a lesson each day in Scriptural history. The Christian teacher has been faithful and worked according to her ability but she has been hindered by poor health, and for a time her work was given up, while she went to the Sialkot Memorial Hospital. This teacher is well-fitted for a Bible woman. A stronger and better educated teacher is being sought, with the hope of bringing in and holding older girls."

Zafarwal.

In report of Christian work in Zafarwal district Miss S. A. Young says:

"The importance of this work grows on me as the years go by. All important as is the evangelistic work, it to a great extent is dependent on the Christian work, for not until the church is more firmly established, and in accordance with God's own plan, will it be the centre of spiritual power, through which the unconverted will be reached and brought to know God. So while Christian work, (that is instructing and building the native Christians up in faith and good work) is important in itself, it becomes doubly so in relation to the other work.

"In some ways the past year was a trying one. While we cannot say the famine prevailed here, many of the people did suffer, and many were obliged to leave their homes to seek food and employment in other places. This of course interfered with regular instruction and was a real hindrance to the work. Many houses are still closed, but we are told that the former occupants will return in a few months.

"During the year we have visited in 60 Christian villages. This does not include the congregation at Zafarwal and the surrounding villages. These are some of the encouraging features of the work in villages where there was marked progress: a greater interest on the part of teachers and workers; a higher standard of Christianity held by the workers, and a stronger desire of the people to be brought into full membership of the church.

"Organized work is much the same as last year. The Tapeyala missionary society was not able to keep up regular meetings on account of a long continued illness of its president, the one person capable of being its leader. The Zafarwal society, while it has not undertaken any new work, has faithfully maintained all of its old work and kept up good interest. During the year the society has supported a famine orphan and assisted in the support of a poor widow.

"We have but one small school for girls in Zafarwal, opened less than a year ago, but through it we are reaching children hitherto beyond our influence. One heathen father has given us his three little motherless girls to educate and he himself is no longer unfriendly to the Gospel. Sozi, our first teacher, who for years was a Bible woman in this district, was called a few weeks since to a higher service. Her place has been filled by another, who gives promise of good work. It is our plan that our little school will be a preparatory to the girls' boarding school at Sialkot."

NON CHRISTIAN WORK.

The non Christian work of Zafarwal district is reported by Miss Fannie C. Martin as follows:

"The hot season was spent in Zafarwal. When God in His mysterious providence removed from our midst Rev. R. R. McClure I was given supervision of this work for the summer, as there seemed to be no other to take it. This arrangement changed all previous plans, but we accepted the work, feeling that God so ordered, and that he would be our guide and helper.

"During the year we visited in 84 non Christian villages, 28 of them being new. Personally we met with many hundred women to whom we tried to make clear the way of the great salvation. We were received almost everywhere, but in all the district we found no harder place to work than in Zarfawal city, where efforts have been made for years to reach the people. We found women in some of the Hindu houses who seemed interested in the gospel and who said, 'We do believe, but how can we become Christians?' It is the fear of friends. They need your prayers."

Pathankot.

Miss Mary J. Campbell reports of her work:

"The year spent in Pathankot has been full of work. We rejoice at the beginning made. Eighty-five homes have been opened in our town, in all of which we have attentive hearers.

"A nice little school for girls down at the opposite end of the town gladdens our hearts. It is steadily growing in favor with the people, though some of the older women say we are working against the spirit of their religion by introducing female education. 'A girl should never go outside her own home or become known to the world,' they say, 'and if a girl who can read is married to an uneducated man she will not obey and respect him.' But these few believers in the 'good old times' are rapidly becoming less and now India is daily taking more interest in the education of the little girls.

"A few days ago I visited a home in the outskirts of the Hindu town of Shahpur in our district. An ancient mosque, said to be at least four hundred years old, stood near at hand. The husband and wife who live in this humble little home care for this little building, lighting its one tiny lamp every evening and making it ready every day for those who come out to say prayers.

"We were received kindly by the woman and her daughter. Our conversation was at length interrupted by our hostess stopping long enough to greet a venerable appearing man who came walking up the path with a bundle on his back. 'This' she said 'is our teacher'. 'Yes' said the man, 'I go about teaching the Word of God just as you do. I am called by our Mohammedans the Pie Padre, the head-priest.'

"I then inquired about the number of Mohammedans in the town, and what success he had in teaching them. 'There are 300 Hindu houses and only 60 Mohammedans,' he replied, 'and sad to say our Mohammedans are more like their idolatrous neighbors than like those who follow Allah and his prophet; all their association being with Hindus they become like them.' 'Do they give no heed to your instructions,' I now asked. 'No, indeed,' he answered, 'they cannot for their ears are deaf and their eyes are blind.'

"He bore it all very philosophically, while my heart that day had been stirred within me as I saw how the town had been given wholly to idolatry. The main streets of the town had many idols. I saw two small images of Brahma, the four-headed god, 'the lord of creatures,' one at either end of Main street. Monkeys, which are worshipped by the people, leaped from roof to roof showing their teeth at us, in disapproval and threatening at times to jump down on our heads.

"True we had much reason to be encouraged, for some of the women had received us very kindly, and one old woman said that since hearing our message about the one true God she would cease the worship of idols. A young man upon hearing this twitted her and said, 'Oh, aunt, you will be back tomorrow as usual at the place of worship; you cannot keep away.' 'No, I'll not be there,' she said earnestly, 'I have been deceived long enough.'

"This is a fair sample of the whole of the new district into which I have come. Not one Christian in our villages; nothing but black heathenism. The work of taking the gospel into these out-of-the-way places is a difficult work, but Oh, how joyful the task, if only the people accept Jesus as their King. Please remember the work in this district."

Pasrur.

Report of work among women and girls of Pasrur in charge of Miss Emma D. Anderson:

VILLAGE WORK.

"Owing to the great scarcity of food for horses and camels the missionary was unable to visit all villages where Christians are living. In some places we found very few people, the majority having gone elsewhere to find food for themselves and cattle. Other villages were entirely deserted. About four months were spent in the district. In most places there were evidences of some progress. While in the villages I lived with the Christians and as near like them as possible and in this way obtained a better insight into their home life. I found 1631 Christians living in 91 different villages. The spirit of liberality is growing and those workers, who are dependent upon the people, are very hopeful in regard to self-support.

PASRUR CITY.

"With the exception of some work among Christians very little time has been given to city work. Many women, however, from the city and near villages have received the gospel message in the home of the missionary.

BOARDING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

"Desiring to see more of the life of our girls, a boarding school was opened in the mission house at the beginning of last May. Thirty girls have been in attendance, coming from nine villages of Pasrur district. Each girl furnishes her own clothing, bedding and dishes and some give contribution of food. The object of this school is twofold: first to create a desire for education; second, to prepare girls to enter the second class of the boarding-school at Sialkot and thus help to do away with the primary department there. Our girls have made good progress, especially in Bible study.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

"During April and May a six week's school was conducted for the wives of workers. The summer schools from year to year have been a great blessing to our women. The desire for knowledge and self-improvement is constantly increasing and now there are few wives of our workers who cannot read the Bible for themselves. Five of these women attended the Y. W. C. A. Convention at Ambala and they were able to tell much of what they saw and heard when they came home.

FAMINE WORK.

"As all are aware India was visited a year ago by the most terrible famine of modern history. It was my sad privilege to have a part in caring for the starving and in rescuing little children. Three trips were made to the famine stricken districts and 157 children were brought back to the care of our mission.

The church at home by its liberal contributions made it possible not only to feed thousands, but to open institutions for the orphans. Eighteen of these children, ranging in age from three to twelve years, are with me at Pasrur. With the exception of the three youngest all are enrolled in the day school. They are being trained to do the work of the orphanage.

MEDICAL WORK.

"Last year arrangements were made with Dr. Mary A. Platter, of Sialkot, to open a branch hospital and dispensary at Pasrur. During the year 3757 out-patients and 56 in-patients have been treated. God has been our helper, and in answer to prayer we have some wonderful recoveries. We feel that our little hospital has been a spiritual blessing to many of our people, Since August last we have had the assistance of Miss Rusa Nasu Ali in the school and dispensary."

Sialkot.

Miss Jennie B. Morrison reports of work in Sialkot district:

"Villages visited, 100; Christian visits, 120; Non-Christian visits, 75.

"No special progress was noticed in our district work this year. The women are slow and dull, and they showed little disposition to learn. There seemed, however, a good disposition of inquiry among the heathen, some of whom have been baptized. Some of the workers' wives are learning to read and write which is a hopeful sign. The work of the summer school was most encouraging."

Miss Sallie E. Dickey tells of work in Sialkot City:

"Zenana work has been carried on in the usual way. Many houses are open which were visited more or less regularly and the gospel was taught wherever the missionary went. In most cases the women listened willingly to the reading of the Word, but as yet there have been very few conversions among the zenana women. We believe, however, that there are many secret believers. Indeed many of the women say they believe but they are afraid of husbands or fathers. Faithful Mary Anna is no longer able for the work she used to do, and because of illness in the family the pastor's wife could not do much either. She has a number of zenanas though that she tries to visit.

GIRLS' SCHOOLS.

"The school for Mohammedan girls was open all the year except for a short time when cholera was very bad in the city. The Bible was daily taught, and the girls showed great interest in it as well as in their secular studies. The girls enjoy the sewing lessons and some of them made marked improvement in the use of the needle. The school for Hindu girls has been open only a part of the year because of inability to secure a suitable teacher. Since October it has been in charge of a Hindu enquirer. The branches taught and methods used are the same as in the Mohammedan school.

"The Bible school for village workers and their wives was held later than usual, just after the Annual Meeting of the Mission Association in October. Fourteen women came regularly to class. Those who could not read were orally taught the catechism, Bible verses and bhajans. They also had a reading lesson."

GIRLS' BOARDING SCHOOL.

Miss Josephine Martin says of the Girls' Boarding school at Sialkot:

"In making our report this year we cannot but thank God for his help, love and mercy, for we have felt his nearness in time of need. He has called to himself one of our teachers, a girl of devoted piety and much promise, who was one of our two graduates at the beginning of the year. We miss Ralimi Bibi, but can only say, 'It is the Lord, let him do what seemeth to him good.' One of the famine orphans of 97 also died on the same day at the hospital and the two were laid to rest side by side. Four other girls, who were with us at the beginning of the year, but who had gone to their homes, were called away to the better home beyond. This has been a year of fatal sickness, but we rejoice that our girls were ready when the Master called.

"In all 130 girls have been in our school during the year, the monthly average being 109. Thirteen of the girls have made a public profession of their faith in Christ and in many others there have been marked signs of growth in grace. Two finished the school course, and there are four others who, we hope, will pass the next final examinations. A building consisting of two class rooms with two verandas was recently erected from funds contributed by friends at home and here which bears the name of the Lydia Mossman Martin Memorial. On Friday, January 4th, the building was formally opened by Mrs. Brown, wife of Colonel Brown, Commander of the Sialkot cantonment. Rev. A. B. Caldwell offered a dedication prayer.

"The girls, teachers, and especially her co-worker, regretted much to part with Miss Mary A. Lawrence, who is about to return for a rest to the home land. For nearly three years she has faithfully and lovingly served the Master in the work of this school,

Our prayer is that God's blessing may be with her. Miss M. R. Martin, appointed to take Miss Lawrence's place, began work at the opening of the year and was given a hearty welcome by teachers and pupils. May the beginning of the 20th Century bring us added blessings!"

MEDICAL WORK.

Dr. Mary A. Platter reports of Memorial Hospital, Sialkot:

"If we measure success by the number of patients seen and the hard work performed then the Memorial Hospital and its dispensaries have had a most successful year.

"Number of out patients, 15,235 (i. e. treatments given.) We have had 129 in door patients, and treated 300 gynecological cases, also performed 20 major operations and 100 minor.

"As usual the missionary ladies of Sialkot district were furnished with medicines, and Misses Morrison and Dickey report 700 patients. A flourishing branch dispensary at Pasrur is being carried on under the care of Miss Anderson. She receives her supply of medicines from Memorial Hospital and reports 3,759 out patients and 55 in patients. Many of her cases were famine children under her care. The grand total of all cases and visits for the year foots up at 20,109.

"I have not tried to do much city work, for two reasons; one is, I have no Bible woman to follow up my work, and the other is, I have all I am able to do in the hospital. The constant changing of workers, either because they marry or get consumptive and die, makes the work very trying. Every little while a new helper has to be trained and that takes time and patience. We have had some very interesting cases, with extremely satisfactory results; one was the removal of an immense ovarian tumor. The woman made a fine recovery and was a model patient, doing exactly as we wished, and was very patient with having to lie quiet for several weeks. She was very grateful for the wonderful relief and returned a short time ago to show me how well she was. The success of the operation was a good thing for the hospital. We have had opportunities to do a good many other operations, but people so often do not come until it is too late to benefit them, or they are not willing to come and stay in the hospital long enough to be built up before an operation to make it safe. Our Bible woman is doing good work. She keeps the attention of patients and they always seem interested in listening to her. Some grow impatient in waiting their turn and others come back to sit awhile and hear more. We can never tell the results, but we do know that it is ours to sow the seed and that it is God who gives the increase.

"Within the year, four of our servants have been baptized, and two of them were received into church membership. As all servants and hospital helpers gather for morning worship we number twenty-two. They enjoy singing the psalms in Punjabi, and they listen attentively to the reading, for they know they will be questioned to-morrow on what they have heard to-day. A short time ago I suggested to our Christian servants that we have a prayer-meeting every Saturday night just among ourselves. I was gratified at the pleasure they showed as thirteen of us met together. Each one comes with a verse bearing upon the subject selected and I am happy to say that they are all learning to lead in prayer. We are hoping to receive great blessings."

The Good Samaritan Hospital, Jhelum.

Dr. S. E. Johnson reports: "Last year we gave a short resume of ten years medical work at Jhelum and Bhera, showing gradual progress in every department, and now we are again permitted to tell what the Lord has done through His servants during the year just closed.

"In March, Miss Moran (in charge of the dispensary work for the last ten years) asked for eight months leave, which was granted, and in the same month the medical missionary in charge was granted a much needed rest of seven months, and was at the same time appointed, by the Women's Board, a delegate to the Ecumenical Missionary Conference in New York, a rare privilege, which she greatly appreciated.

"During her absence the medical work in the Good Samaritan Hospital was under the direct care of Miss Matthews, the hospital assistant, a graduate of the Ludianah medical school. She was assisted by native Christian helpers, who have been trained in the same school. The Surgical oversight was under the care of the civil surgeon of the station, who did most of the major operations, and gave medical help when necessary. The religious work was mostly done by Miss Ella Gordon, who very kindly took the morning Bible class of Christian workers, and made all payments, thus making it easier for the superintendent to go away for a rest.

"During the year 1900, the Good Samaritan dispensary treated 6,579 new cases, and received 6,659 returned visits, making a total of 13,238 cases. This shows a decrease of 2,238 over last year. This was not due to less sickness, but because the famine people were too hungry to think of coming or bringing their sick to the hospital, and those who did come to us begged for food rather than medicine.

"In the indoor department 118 women and 29 children were treated. Of this number 106 were cured, 34 relieved, 6 went away not improved, 1 died, making a total of 147.

"In the surgical department 167 operations were performed, 52 of them major operations. Some of these were of intense interest, although tequiring great care, especially two ovariotomies, which resulted successfully. The surgical department has shown great progress. Peopie are learning to come for help ere it is too late.

Bhera Branch Dispensary.

"This dispensary, under Miss Morgan's care, reports 2,964 new cases, 7,844 old cases, making a total of 10,808 treated during the year; 251 gynecological cases, 30 operations, and 23 confinements. Miss Morgan's own health has been so very poorly that she has been obliged to take three months leave and rest, and we hope her health will improve, so that she can go back to her work, which she has carried on so successfully and faithfully for the last ten years.

"During her absence the Bhera branch dispensary is under the care of Mrs. Sophy James, a graduate of the Ludianah Medical School, after four years instruction and she is well fitted to fill the post of hospital assistant.

"So many requests having come from Bhera to open a small hospital in connection with our Bhera dispensary that we have decided to lay this matter before our mission at its next meeting, and we believe it can be done with very little extra expense, as it will only require an assistant to carry on the extra work which a hospital will incur.

"On the whole the work has been carried on well during the year, and we are very grateful to our Father for His blessing on it.

"Many thanks to Miss Ella Gordon, who, in addition to her own zenana work, looked after the religious and financial work of the hospital, during the absence of the medical missionary, and great credit is due to Miss Matthews and her helpers, who did their part so faithfully that nothing went wrong.

"We return thanks to the friends who remembered the Good Samaritan Hospital during the year 1900. May the Lord bless them abundantly for their gifts to the poor!"

Report of

SECRETARY OF HOME MISSIONS AND MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

FOR YEAR ENDING, APRIL 30, 1901.

In this world of change and sorrow the Christian ear can hear with great joy and gratitude the still, small voice saying, "I am the Lord, I change not."

So although great changes among our workers and our work seem to have come upon us, we look back over the work of the year with thankful hearts, and forward to the work of the future knowing that he will lead us into right paths. The following will give you the names of your workers and their fields of labor:—

Miss Virginia Carothers,—Spokane, Washington.

Miss Martha J. Morrow,—Seattle, Wash.

Miss Alberta Beaton,—Colfax, Wash.

Mrs. Alice Marlin,—Bloomington, Ind.

Miss Elizabeth Wishart,—Pittsburg, Pa.

Rev. H. G. Edgar.—Italian Mission, Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. C. Antorzewski,—Polish Mission, Pittsburg, Pa.

Rev. Thos. M. Chalmers.—Messiah Mission, Chicago.

Rev. J. A. Speer.—Warm Springs Agency, Oregon.

Rev. J. A. Morrow.—Simnasho, Oregon.

"Change" seems to be the order of things in our Indian work at present. Mr. Speer feels that, in justice to himself and family, he must serve the Lord elsewhere, and Mr. Morrow intended to serve only five years when he accepted the appointment at Simnasho; hence he also resigns. As you will observe in reading the following papers on Indian work, both these brethren will, we hope, remain with us until successors are on the field or some other arrangement made.

Your Board asked the presbytery of Oregon at its recent meeting to advise us as to whether the work at Simnasho justified the present financial outlay. The action of presbytery is given in full below.

Knowing that the Master will lead us to a correct decision we will allow the papers to tell their own story.

Warm Springs Indian Mission.

ANNUAL REPORT TO THE WOMEN'S BOARD OF DIRECTORS FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 31st, 1901.

DEAR SISTERS:—Another year of labor, prayer and anxious waiting has rapidly sped away into the vast ocean of eternity to await the end. In making this my ninth annual report in the Indian work I feel that much of the routine of the work here has become familiar to the women of the church, and I do not need to dwell long upon it.

I have been constantly at the work during the entire year, except two weeks when absent attending meetings of presbytery and synod, and during this absence regular services were kept up by Miss Black and Miss Speer.

We have visited the camps and homes of the people as much as my strength would allow, making an aggregate of about 350 visits. This represents a large amount of travel and hard labor, as these visits will average several miles travel by buggy or horseback and much of the time over very bad roads. Indeed the missionary is required oftentimes to hunt his way over pony trails with no road to guide him and over a very rocky, broken country. During these visits we talk and pray with those who are present. If the family is connected with the church, we remind them of their duty as Christians, and if not so connected, invite them to come to the church on the Sabbath and give them a verse of the Scriptures to think about.

When there is serious sickness or death it is our custom, so far as possible, to hold daily religious services at the house, it being customary with the Indians to collect and remain at such times. If near enough to the mission we hold these services in the evening, otherwise during the day,

I have conducted eighteen funeral services during the year, mostly for little children. Two of those who died were very old women, said by the Indians to have been members of the church, but who for many years have not been able to leave their homes, being blind and very helpless. When one is very sick or dies we find the people ready to give serious attention to God's word and seem to appreciate its value as a source of comfort and help in trouble. There are now several persons, members of the church, whose first impressions date from these meetings. Special meetings were held daily in the winter commencing the last Sabbath of December and closing with the Lord's supper on the second Sabbath of January.

While the results in attendance and additions in membership were not what we hoped and prayed for, there was however a very noticeable change for the better as compared with the sad state of affairs a year previous. Two persons united by profession at this time and a few returned to the church we had feared were lost. The Lord's supper has been observed four times during the year and in connection with each have held special preparatory services. These, I am gratified to report, have shown steady improvement, and the last communion held during the present month of March, when we had Rev. Mr. Morrow of the Simnasho mission with us, was quite encouraging, both as to attendance and interest. Four members have been added to the church by profession during the year, two have died and three removed from the bounds of the congregation, which reduces the membership by one from last year. Present number, 125.

There are still some, who were seriously alienated from the church by the influence of the former agent, and who have not yet fully returned. The session has not thought it wise to strike their names from the roll at present, as we are hopeful, with the change of administration, that they may yet be reclaimed.

To explain somewhat the peculiar situation, I may state that the administration of the former agent became so corrupt that some of our better Indians, I believe all who were members of the church, made complaint to Washington. This complaint had a decided influence in securing the agent's removal. By means of spies the agent found it out and learning the names of the Indians blamed me with putting them up to it and declared he would have me expelled from the reservation. Failing in this he set himself to do what harm he could to our church work. Just before his successor took charge, he denounced me publicly before the Indians in most violent terms, and warned them to have nothing to do with me. After moving from the reservation, we have learned that both he and his wife have sent letters to the Indians with many false and slanderous reports about us. Knowing that with such a character we can have no chance of justice, we can do nothing but submit and quietly live the matter down. The indications now are that we are slowly succeeding and with a change of missionaries, which will soon occur, I am confident ths work will make progress again.

We greatly regret inability on the part of the Women's Board to send a committee to visit this field and sincerely trust such a committee may be able to come in the near future. Information about very many things such as the Board and Gen'l Missionary Society may desire, can be obtained in this way so much more satisfactorily than by letter.

My resignation will be in the hands of Oregon Presbytery before this report will come to the public, and I wish therefore to state that my reason for withdrawing from the Indian work is lack of physical strength to do the work in this field as it should be done. I have not lost either interest or faith in the Indian, but feel more than ever his need of the Gospel and the duty of the church to give it. This alone can and this will elevate, civilize and save men regardless of their color or condition. There has been much to try the faith and patience of the missionary during the last two years or more, but this has not influenced me in the least in the matter of my resignation. As already stated conditions have greatly changed for the better and the outlook for this field is to me more encouraging just now than at any time during the five years I have labored at this Agency. It is the Lord's work and must succeed, for he makes even the wrath of man to praise Him. Let us believe that God's purpose to save man will be accomplished and with new faith and zeal identify ourselves with him to that end. "According to your faith be it unto you," are wonderful words and should be a constant inspiration as we work for Christ.

During the year the following donations have been received and used in this field, from:–

1st church Washington, Iowa, W. M. S., 1 barrel of clothing.

W. M. S. Crawfordsville, Iowa, 1 barrel of clothing and fruit.

W. M. S. Brighton, Iowa, 1 barrel of clothing and comfortables.

Y. W. M. S. 6th church Pittsburg, Pa., 1 barrel of clothing and comfortables.

Women's Presbyterial M. S. of Southern Ill,. 1 barrel clothing, quilt patches, etc.

W. M. S. 1st church Allegheny, through the Women's Board, cash, $20.00.

W. M. S. Hebron N. Y., quilt patches.

Juniors, Savannah, Ohio, picture scrap books.

For Christmas we received a fine array of books from the following, which were used on the Christmas tree.

Juniors of the Second and Tenth churches Allegheny, Pa.

Juniors of Marissa, Illinois.

Kings Daughters, Shadyside, Pittsburg, Pa.

Juniors of the Sixth church, Pittsburg, Pa.

Y. P. S. C. U. 1st church, Allegheny, Pa.

A beautiful large scrap book came by express from some unknown donor. It is much appreciated and I am sorry we have not the name of the giver.

Quilt patches and pictures came from some others whose names we have not been able to learn.

My financial statement is as follows:

Cash received.

Simnasho Indian Mission.

To Women's Board of Home Missions:

Dear Sisters:—In submitting our annual report we scarcely know what to say, as there is nothing in the way of figures to show definite results of our work. It is yet a time of waiting for the beginning of the gathering of the fruits of years of prayers and labors with the people.

Your missionaries are continued in good health, and regular services have been held in the church on Sabbath, and many extra days as opportunity afforded throughout the year. The attendance has been reasonably good, considering the circumstances—the inclemency of the weather and miserable condition of the roads during the entire winter. There has been more rain and snow than for many seasons. The attendance on Sabbath has run from tventy to fifty, and the attention and good conduct have been very commendable.

The conditions of the field are not materially changed from last year. The excited, and to some degree hostile spirit that prevailed among some last year has quieted down since the removal of our last agent, and there now exists a quiet spirit of friendliness. There has been also less drinking, gambling, and heathen tom-tom-ing and dancing. In a word, there is a general improvement manifest in the way of good order and good will, which makes it much more comfortable for the missionaries.

We are only sorry that the present superintendent in charge of affairs, with all his other good qualities, is not an avowed Christian, and has not more faith in and sympathy for the Red men. Little has been done on this side of the reservation to restrain the people from wandering, and induce them to care for their allotments and homes, and also to give some kind of respect to marriage laws.

Good work was done by Supervisor Wright, who had charge during the interim, in checking cattle-stealing, gambling, and drinking, and also in requiring compliance with legal marriage relations. We would have been much pleased if he had remained in charge at least one year. Since he left one marriage ceremony only was celebrated at our station.

At the time of the writing of our last report, it seemed that there would be a division of the people, and we hoped it would be overruled for the good of the mission. A part were following the chief, who had thrown off the mask of friendship to the mission. He had organized in a large tent a rival meeting on the Sabbath, and the sound of the tom-tom and their wild, weird, heathen song was distinctly heard at the mission, nearly a mile distant. A feast was served, and everything was done that was possible to break up the service at the church and to carry out an avowed purpose to reject Christianity and revive old heathen worship. The chief loved his pre-eminence, and was afraid his power over his people might slip away from him. But there was a remnant of the people, among whom was the old war-chief, Suea-pal-mah, which remained loyal to the mission.

After a short season of festivities at Christmas this opposing feature seemed to break up, and the chief, with most of his followers, have returned to the mission.

The condition of this work appears to furnish a parallel with that among the Megs, described by Dr. Gordon in "Our India Mission," chap. XVIII.

Both the Megs, and Warm Springs Indians received the Christian teachers joyfully. Both seemed ready to accept Christianity. Upon consideration however each demanded exemptions from full asceptance of Christianity. The Megs were willing to secure baptism, but stipulated for:

1. Marriage ceremony according to the old heathen forms.

2. Liberty to work on Sabbath.

3. Acknowledgment of their own religion, religious teachers and gods equal with the new religion, its teachers and Jesus Christ.

The Warm Springs Indians' stipulations:

1. Marriages are made by the older Indians for their children, and in many instances the ceremony is performed by the heathen chief. If the agent insists, the Christian ceremony may be added and the law of the state vindicated; but this is not necessary. Many of the Indians have thrown off the authority of the chief in this matter.

2. The Sabbath is kept fairly well by the better class of Indians.

3. More emphatically do they insist upon their own forms of burial; although even here the missionary is courteously listened to during a lull in the wailing and bell-ringing.

4. But the strongest of their opposition is their insistance upon the acknowledgement of their own religion, their teachers and gods, as equal with Christianity, its teachers and Jesus Christ.

Says Dr. Gordon: "Mr Scott distinctly informed them (the Megs) that no such conditions could be entertained for a moment. 'No man,' said he, 'can cross a river in two boats. You must forsake all for Christ or you will not be counted worthy of Him.' "

Now after all these years Mrs. Anderson in Women's Magazine for March reports that these Megs are beginning to accept Christianity,

While a large proportion of the people are very ignorant and lack the intelligence to grasp the matter of religion of Christ, yet a majority have had opportunity to hear the gospel message, and have come to a fair understanding of the way of life and the requirements of the gospel. Quite a number are favorably disposed toward Christianity, and when interrogated say they believe the Bible, that God's word is true, etc. But the most disappointing fact is, that as yet none have come forward, with resolute and martyr spirit, to renounce openly their old superstitions and take up the cross of Christ, and so become the leaders and teachers of others.

The old Indians say: "We cannot read the book—we have never gone to school—we cannot understand—we cannot become Christians." They say that the school boys and girls can read the Book, and they can become Christians all the same as white people.

Let me relate somewhat in detail the meetings held at Kish-a-walh's house on the 22d to 27th of February. Kish-a-walk's little daughter, only child, died on the morning of the 22d, after long illness. Word was at once sent to the mission. Accompanied by my daughter Frances I went at once to the house and found a company of friends, forty or fifty, there. They gathered into the large and comfortable house, seating themselves in regular rows around the room on the floor. Kish-a-walk explained that he wanted some one to read the good words and teach his friends, who had gathered to sorrow with him, and that he was glad that I had come. He said: "The body of my baby will remain here four or five days; then we will put it in the ground. We want you to come every day and read and sing with my friends." So in compliance with the arrangement we went through the snow, rain and high water for four or five days and conducted services. Most of the friends were fed and lodged by Kish-a-walk, while a number were coming and going. They all seemed to be perfectly under his control, and as soon as I arrived would gather for service. There were a few Christian Indians present from Warm Springs who rendered valuable assistance in the meetings, by leading in prayer, making very sensible talk, and in relating their Christian experiences. Mrs. Simintue, an old Wasco woman, never failed to lead the company in a very fervent prayer.

Kish-a-walk said in part: "My heart is very sad to-day. My daughter has departed; only her body is here now. Her spirit has gone to heaven. . . . . I liked to see her in this house, and I was praying all the time that God would let her stay a few days with me. . . . . But now my heart is a little glad; she has gone, and I think it will be only a few days when I can go to see her, all my friends, and Jesus in heaven- . . . . Now I am saying to you, my friends, you must not go in the bad ways; you must believe God's words. . . . . You cannot carry your sins, you will fall down. My friends, you must turn from following the old way. I do not believe any words but God's words. I cannot read, but the missionary has come to teach us the good book. My friends, do not believe anything but the Bible. . . . It is just like this: A man is riding along a long road, he gets very thirsty, but a man meets him and gives him a drink. I am that man, and it is you who came to me with the good words. I am not thirsty now."

Holequella, Sidwalder and other Christians spoke in the same spirit, emphasizing the acceptance of the Bible and forsaking the old teaching of the fathers.

Respectfully submitted,

J. A. MORROW.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

To Treasurer of Women's Board:

ACTION OF PRESBYTERY.

SALEM, OREGON, April 12, 1901.

Mrs. H. C. Campbell, Allegheny, Pa.

DEAR FRIEND:—The work on the Indian Agency occupied much of the time of the Presbytery at its late meeting. The following action was taken in reference to the Agency:

1. We recommend that the estimates for the mission work at Warm Springs, as scheduled by Bro. Speer for the coming year, be approved.

2. We recommend the appointment of Rev. W. W. Gordon for missionary at the Warm Springs Agency.

3. We recommend that the resignation of Bro. Speer be accepted to take effect on July 1.

In reference to Simnasho, we might state that there was considerable time occupied in the discussion. Your last letter to me had been received; also the one to Brother Morrow. Mr. Morrow tendered to Presbytery his resignation as missionary. He stated that he had his resignation already written and lying in his desk at home, but that he had deferred sending it in in expectation that there would be a committee from your Board to visit the field and that he would wait till after you came. But upon the receipt of your letter and the referring of the question of continuing the work at Simnasho to the Presbytery, he would present it to the Presbytery now.

The general opinion was adverse to abandoning that work. Under the conditions existing it would leave that people practically destitute. The following action was taken:

1. That the resignation of Bro. Morrow be accepted, to take effect Sept. 1, 1801.

2. That the work at Simnasho be referred to the committee on Indian work, and that the Women's Board be urged to send a committee to inspect and decide as to the future of this field.

3. That the following estimates be asked for the continuence of the work in this field (in case it is decided to continue): Missionary's salary, $1,200; aid for sick and destitute Indians, $50; Sabbath-school supplies as follows—Junior Quarterlies, 40; Olive Plants, 50; Lesson cards, 50.

The committee on Indian Work is one appointed by the Presbytery and consists of Rev. J. H. Gibson, T. J. Wilson and Elder McCoy. Mr. Speer expects to leave by the 1st of July, but I do not think it would do at all to leave that place without some one being there. I think he ought and will stay till his successor arrives if he is urged to do so.

Your friend,

H. F. WALLACE, Supt. Missions.

You will be pleased to learn that, after a great deal of prayerful consideration, it was decided to appoint a field matron to labor at Warm Springs. Miss Ella Montgomery has been chosen and has accepted the position. She expects to proceed to the reservation as soon as possible after the Monmouth convention, which she hopes to attend, and where you will all have an opportunity to meet her.

We have also asked S. A. Tate, M. D., to act as our medical missionary at same place. He hopes to be transferred to the Agency as government physician at a smaller salary than that which he receives at his present location. We have agreed to make up the difference in salary, knowing that a United Presbyterian Christian doctor will be a very great assistance to our work.

Messiah Mission.

Our Jewish work in Chicago, under the ministry of Rev. T. M. Chalmers, seems to be in a very encouraging condition, as the annual reports will show.

Chicago presbytery, as you will notice, asked for an increase in the appropriation of three hundred dollars. Your Board regretted that it was obliged to refuse the request, but it seemed as if twelve hundred dollars was as much as could be given to that special work at this time. We would be glad, however, if Presbytery would supplement our grant and thus make it possible to give Mr. Chalmers a larger salary.

CHICAGO, ILL., March 16, 1901.

To The Women's Board, Greeting:

First of all in this annual report I want to praise our gracious Lord for permitting me and mine to continue another year in the difficult but blessed work of holding up Jesus the Messiah to His brethren after the flesh. "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." "Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless His holy name."

Years ago, long before I ever had a thought of laboring among the Jews, I asked God to give me difficult work, work that few others were willing to do. Little did I dream He would lead me to Israel. I knew nothing then of the work among the Jews. But God knew, and years of living in constant contact with this blinded people have taught me how hard the work is, and at the same time my love for them and for this service has grown continually deeper in my heart. The work is often in itself very repellant (who that knows the filth of the Russian Jew, or the pride of the "deformed" Jew, does not understand this?), but Jesus goes with us in it, and this makes it easy; yea, attractive. I know of no work in the world that could be so precious to me as unfolding the divine Word to the inquiring mind of a Jew.

In this report I desire to carry forward my opening keynote of praise. "Serve the Lord with gladness." After a year of glad service I praise the Lord Jesus for blessing the work of Messiah Mission more than in any year before. While the attendance in our first year (when we had the help of a Jew) was greater than in any year since, yet the real interest among the Jews and the spiritual power in connection with the work were greater in 1900–01 than at any former time. This was especially noticeable in the last five months. As this report is written two months earlier than last year's, I shall give figures for the period from March 1, 1900 to Feb. 28, 1901.

The following tabular statement will show something of the work done within that time:

No. of meetings in the mission hall, 138.
Aggregate attendance in hall, 4,223.
Average attendance at each meeting, 30 3-5.
Number of street meetings, 19.
Aggregate attendance in street, 2,385.
Average attendance in street, 125½.
Missionary calls, 1,047.

It is a matter for praise to God that, beginning in October and November, He has filled our souls more abundantly with the Holy Spirit, and so has enabled us to work in the clearer consciousness of the Spirit's presence and power. This made our first annual conference on Jewish mission work, held Nov. 19, to be very precious to all who were present. It was a glad day, and the blessing of it has flowed out over many a day since.

I praise God that the number of inquiring young men coming to the hall was much greater than ever before. We have earnestly and plainly made known to them the way of salvation. We have surrounded them with much prayer, and lovingly urged them to flee from "the wrath to come," and to take God as He is revealed in Jesus Christ into their lives. No conversions have taken place among them so far as we know, but we are aware of the terrible pressure put upon all inquirers to prevent their turning from Judaism, and it is not to be wondered at that young men, with the world before them, and threatened with social ostracism and loss of employment, have not only not been converted but have even felt obliged in many instances to cease visiting us. Still we have new ones ever coming, and some of these inquirers will surely turn to their Lord and serve Him. "Even so then at this present time also there is a remnant."

I praise our gracious Lord for opportunity to preach the glad news of salvation to many Jews and Gentiles on the street. We were not able to hold as many open air meetings as in our first summer, when we held 40. The frequent failure of either helpers or the police officer was the cause of this. Nevertheless we had some very precious meetings in the open air, where many listened eagerly to the gospel message. The seed was sown. Eternity will show the result.

Much praise is due our almighty Lord for His help in the work of visiting from shop to shop and house to house. This work in a city like Chicago is often especially difficult. One meets so many nationalities and varieties of belief and unbelief. But it gives many excellent opportunities for presenting Jesus as the true Messiah of Israel and the Saviour of men. Lack of space prevents my relating any incidents from this part of the work; otherwise I could fill many pages out of the year's rich fund of experiences—experiences bright and sad, ordinary and peculiar, hopeful and helpful, or dark and discouraging. I wish each friend of Israel by accompanying me for a single day could learn how strange a people the Jews are, and how deeply involved in the dark thralldom of pride, bigotry, prejudice, ignorance and superstition. Then the need of Israel would be clear; love might grow into a passion, and prayer become an agony. But to the mere Christian, to the one who has not entered into God's purpose for Israel, and whose heart beats not with the heart of Christ, it would all seem "a horror of great darkness," unrelieved by the light of God's promises, and he would exclaim, "I am glad I don't have such work." Oh, the pity of it!

I bless and glorify the Lord for the new opportunity given us in our industrial school for girls. It was found impossible to open this school until Jan. 15, 1901. But the delay gave time for full preparation, and we were able to start out in better shape than if we had opened earlier. We can give figures only for the months of January and February. In these seven sessions the school grew from an attendance of 32 the first day to a total enrollment of 112, with an average attendance of 56 5-7 girls. The lowest attendance after the first two days was 58, and the highest 70. Many girls, finding that in the religious exercises we taught them about Jesus, ceased attendance after one or two sessions. But we have now as many in attendance as we can well care for. The girls are already very much attached to their teachers, and we hope an entrance may be effected into many homes. We have a group of enthusiastic teachers, led by Mrs. B. Marvin, of the 2nd church, Englewood, our genial superintendent. The girls are taught sewing, which is to them the chief attraction, and the one thing that overcomes the opposition of some parents. Of course our great object is to teach them the saving truths of the gospel. The sight of 70 bright girls, nearly all Jewish, from homes where Christ is unknown, or where His name is mentioned with hatred and sneering, and where hardly a copy of the Old Testament is found (to say nothing of the New), or if found, exists in a language the mothers and girls cannot read,—here is a vision to stir the hearts of Christians to much prayer and holy effort. He who can look in on such a scene, and not be impressed with the opportunity it offers, must have a narrow conception of our Lord's last command, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." Impress these young hearts with gospel truths, and even if immediate conversion does not result (because of home opposition, etc.), yet many prejudices will be removed, and the way be paved for the acceptance of Christ by some of them.

There are other matters for which I praise our ever-glorious Lord. The unselfish help almost every Friday night of two young ladies from the Bible Institute, the aid of our United Presbyterian people, especially the faithfulness of the helpers in the industrial school, and the growing interest in Israel and Messiah Mission among our missionary societies, are reasons for praise and thanksgiving. "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so."

T. V. DUGAN, Treas.

The committee on Home Missions of Chicago Presbytery, having under its direction the Messiah Mission to the Jews of Chicago, presents herewith annual report of Rev. T. M. Chalmers, missionary in charge of said mission; also annual report of treasurer, the Rev. T. V. Dugan, for year ending March 31, 1901.

The committee has met regularly in the interests of the mission when careful attention has been given to monthly reports of missionary, details of the organization, etc; and we are pleased to report increased attendance at meetings and greater interest in the work by those in the vicinity of the mission.

Respectfully submitted,
RALPH ATKINSON, Chr.

ACTION OF PRESBYTERY OF CHICAGO.

1. That said mission be continued.

2. That the Women's Board continue its support.

3. That the Rev. T. M. Chalmers be continued as missionary at a salary of $1000.

4. That $500 be allowed for expenses of the mission.

5. We recommend that the Women's Board support additional help.

Vote of Presbytery: for, 11; against, 2; not voting, 5; absent, 10.

RALPH ATKINSON, S. M.

Italian Mission.

The Y. P. C. U. of Monongahela Presbytery and the Women's Missionary Society of same presbytery have united in the support of a missionary to the Italians and other foreigners in the down town portion of the city of Pittsburg. Monthly reports are sent by the missionary to your Board. The summary appended is very brief, but such as it is we give it to you.

SUMMARIZED REPORT, FROM MAY 1st, 1900 TO APRIL 1st, 1901.

Average attendance at Friday evening school, 27; Saturday sewing school, 35; garments completed, 144.

All material and supplies have been donated. Outdoor services were conducted, until Nov. 1st, 1900, when the Sabbath evening school was opened, at which there has been an average attendance of 15 scholars.

Respectfully submitted,

H. G. EDGAR.

Polish Mission.

A committee of gentlemen representing three Presbyteries, with Rev. W. R. Wilson, pastor of Tenth church, Allegheny, as secretary, has been doing a good work for some time in connection with Allegheny County Bible Society in sending the Word to foreigners printed in their own languages. At request of said committee your Board assisted in the support of the missionary employed till March 1, 1901, when it was decided to undertake the entire support of this worker until Jan. 1, 1902.

Mr. C. Antorzewski, of whom you have all read in our MAGAZINE, was engaged by the above committee, and his labors have been very satisfactory indeed. He sends monthly reports, but the following is a brief statement of the scope and kind of work done.

110 Stanton St., Buffalo, N. Y.

April 10, 1901.

Mrs. H. C. Campbell.

DEAR MADAM:—Rev. W. R. Wilson asked me to send you an outline of my work.

I visit families and introduce the Polish paper, "Gazeta Pittsburgska." The paper contains the International Sabbath-school lessons, and from time to time, different articles which help to suggest the study of the Bible and help to lift the people up to a higher plain. With the paper we give a Bible or a Testament as a premium. If I fail to take a subscription for the paper, I try to sell a Bible or a Testament.

In order to be able to sell a Bible or a Testament, it is necessary to read a chapter or more, and in order to get their attention at all, I show them some of my flower cards from Palestine, which I always carry with me. Then it is quite easy to talk about the Bible land and to connect the land with the Bible and the life of Christ. "Behold I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves be ye therefore wise as serpents and harmless as doves."

Since Nov. 1, 1900, to April 1, 1901, I have visited the following places: Buffalo and Yonkers, N. Y.; Erie, New Castle, Wampum, Beaver Falls, Philadelphia, Clifton Heights, Scranton, Priceburg, Duryea, Wilkebarre, Edwardsville, Ashley, Plymouth and Nanticoke, Pa.; Camden, N. J., and Youngstown, Ohio.

During the same time I sold 176 Bibles and 98 Testaments; given away 106 Testaments, 53 portion of Scripture and 3 Bibles. Total 436. New subscriptions taken, 212. All the books which were distributed were Polish, with the exception of a few which were English, German, Bohemian, Slovak, Lithuanian and Russian.

Very sincerely,

C. ANTORZEWSKI.

The reports of our five men are now before you. Including the last one, they cover work in six states. We now turn to the work of our five women, beginning with the report of Miss Carothers, of Spokane, Wash.

Spokane, Wash.

1419 7th Ave., April 13, 1901.

Women's Board, Pittsburg, Pa.:

DEAR SISTERS:—It seems hard to realize that another year has passed since our last annual reports were made. Our delightful visit to Pawnee to attend the General Convention, the daily routine of work and the enthusiasm and rest born with the new century, have all so filled the time that it seems very, very short. April, 1901, steals in upon us and reminds us that another denominational year has almost closed and that reports of our stewardship must be given.

First of all we would "praise the Lord for His goodness and for His wonderful works to the children of men." and we would make grateful acknowledgement of the many ways His love has been shown to us. It is a great privilege to be called a worker under our Women's Board for Spokane, and it is also a pleasure to submit to you my third annual report.

Eleven months of the year have been spent in work, the month of May being spent in Nebraska. When one begins to sum up the work there seems to be much of a sameness with former reports, and yet the work is different—new faces, new conditions and new opportunities are opening up to us all the time.

The work in our Glendale mission for the year has been very encouraging. Our Sabbath-school report for the year was made from January to January; so the report from April to April would vary a little. The average attendance for the year to Jan. 1, 1901, was seventy-one. For the first quarter of this year, which brings us to the first of April, our average attendance was eighty. The average collection was a little over two dollars per Sabbath. On children's day, last July, a collection of $9 45 was taken up for the India famine sufferers, and on a recent Sabbath the school voted $5 to our State Sabbath-school work. So our people are reaching out in helpfulness to those outside of our own circle. Our superintendent stated recently that our last reports showed the best record in attendance, as well as in a financial way, that our school had ever known.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 13, we began a weekly prayer-meeting at the chapel in Glendale, and it has met each week since with a few exceptions. There have been a few evenings when it seemed best to omit our prayer-meeting for other meetings. The attendance has been beyond our expectations, as the average to the first of April was twenty-three. We trust some of the seed sown at these meetings will bear fruit unto eternal life.

The Glendale Ladies Aid Society has been at work during the year. It has paid $20 on the new church building, has bought some clothes for a needy family, and has $10 left in the treasury. It has also collected and distributed clothing to families who had need of such help. The society also sewed two days for a woman who is partly paralyzed. As our members are nearly all mothers, we read a book on social purity—a matter which every mother of daughters should know and think about—and other interesting reading.

An account of our work at Glendale would be incomplete without mention of our new church building. A grant of $1000 was given us by the Board of Church Extension, provided we would raise $500 ourselves. Our people "had a mind to give and work" and the necessary amount was pledged and collected. Fifteen hundred dollars has materialized into a neat, little church, which is nearing completion. A picture of it will soon be published on the front page of the Midland, and we hope that every one who looks at it will send up a petition to the Heavenly Father for His blessing on our work in Glendale. The church building was very much needed, and with it will be opened greater opportunities for the Master's work. Our earnest prayer is that our Home Mission Board will grant an appropriation and send a minister to this field, so that regular preaching services may be held. It seems to us that this is the only way to make the work there progress as it should.

During the year I have attended 364 services held in connection with our church work. Until I gave up the Intermediate C. E. work in December, I attended six services and taught two classes each Sabbath. I only missed one mid-week prayer-meeting in the First church during the year. Outside of our own church work I have also attended a number of meetings, including the local Union C. E. and the W. C. T. U.

I have made in the eleven months 1285 calls. These have been made largely in the interests of our Sabbath-school work. Quite a number of the miscellaneous calls were in homes where there was sickness. Some very satisfactory work was done in homes where sorrow entered. I have had the privilege and pleasure of doing the work and also sitting up whole nights where help could not be hired. I was in one home where God took a little one to Himself and had the privilege of leading the parents back to duty and to God. They had been church members, but had strayed away from the plain path. I was quarantined with them four days for scarlet fever.

I have several "shut-ins" that I try to visit regularly, and while I have tried to bring a little brightness and joy to them I am sure they have been an inspiration and help to me.

It has been a real labor of love to collect and pay over to Miss Brown, of the Deaconess Home, our share of the board of a dear old lady in the Old Peoples' Home. She has suffered a great deal this spring from having a cancer removed from her face. It has been a real privilege to read and pray with her.

I have made a great many visits to the hospitals during the year and have carried flowers and reading matter to the sick ones; also read or had prayer with them.

I distributed fourteen bundles of clothing where I found need and a great deal of literature and leaflets in homes where there seemed a dearth of good and religious literature. A great many flowers have been carried to the sick and "shut ins" where they were left as "a thought from God."

I had charge of the Intermediate C. E. until Dec. 9, when Mrs. McLeod, a very efficient leader, took the superintendency. I gave it up because I felt I could not do justice to the work. It made two meetings Sabbath afternoon between 2:30 and 5:00 o'clock, with the meeting places a mile and a half apart. I often would be too tired to enter with much zest into the Intermediate meeting, so asked to be relieved. Until the close of school last June the society had an average attendance of twenty. It dropped down during the summer months to eleven. The society sent $5.00 to the India famine sufferers; also paid their full quota to the local union fund raised to bring Miss Kate Hans, of St. Louis, to Spokane as one of the speakers at our State C. E. Convention and had $3.00 in the treasury towards the support of a child in India. The work with the Intermediates was pleasant, and I was sorry to give it up.

I find it hard to incorporate in a report many of the little things that go so far towards making the whole work in a measure successful—a word, a prayer and a ministry here and there which may mean so much to us but seems so little to tell about.

Thanking you all for the kindly interest, co-operation and consideration you have shown in so many ways,

I remain,

Your sister,

VIRGINIA CAROTHERS.

Dunlap and Seattle, Wash.

Miss Morrow's good work at Dunlap and Seattle speaks for itself.

To the Women's Board:

DEAR FRIENDS:—In presenting my annual report, will say that my time has been given to work in the congregation and to the mission at Dunlap. The enrollment was 33, with an average attendance of 21. I had charge of the school with usually one assistant from the church. The school was interesting and helpful I believe. There were a number came who never attended church or Sabbath-school before. We were meeting in a small house rented by the school board. The house was sold just before public school closed, leaving us without a place of meeting, and no other room could be obtained for that purpose. We met outside one day. Then Rev. W. W. Gordon, who was supplying the Seattle pulpit, kindly consented to go out one Sabbath afternoon. He preached in a grove to an appreciative audience. I had given personal invitations to all within walking distance. This was the first preaching service held at Dunlap for several months. The next Sabbath the Baptists, whom we had provoked to good works, secured a real estate agent from Seattle, who sometimes preached, though not an ordained minister, to come and hold services for them. I consulted with the session and it was thought best to close the Sabbath-school until September, when the new school building should be erected.

There being no special work and many being away camping for the summer, the congregation without a pastor, with the approval of session, I visited my father and mother on the Indian Reservation, whom I had not seen for four years. I came back to Seattle Aug. 26th. As soon as the school building was finished the Baptists held their meetings in it. Dr. and Mrs. Spalding visited the place with me shortly after their arrival. After consultation it was thought inadvisable to reopen our Sabbath-school, as the field was too small for two schools, though the Baptists were not reaching one half as many as we had in our mission. One of our members at Dunlap said to me not long ago: "Miss Morrow, you did a great good in coming out there and organizing a Sabbath-school. They wouldn't have a Sabbath-school now, no preaching either, if you hadn't stirred them up." We can say with Paul, "We rejoice that Christ is preached whether it be of contention or of love."

In my rounds of visits from house to house among all classes and conditions of people seeking children for Sabbath-school, and extending the invitation to come, I have found all shades of belief and unbelief. I have sought to hold up Christ before them as the only Way, knowing that all souls are alike in guilt, and need striving to impress the personal invitation, "Come for all things are now ready," and yet "there is room," realizing the necessity of an unselfish love that seeks not theirs but them if we would win souls to Christ.

In the ten months I have made 1152 visits; have called almost every Sabbath morning to take new children to Sabbath-school; have taught a class in Sabbath-school part of the time, teaching in both church and mission school. The Home department class enrolls 43 at present. The lessons are carefully studied by nearly all of the members. I have visited the absent and sick; have given copies of the Bible in homes where it was not found; have distributed a quantity of religious papers and books, also several bundles of clothing. I interested some friends in a poor family and gave them a Thanksgiving dinner. I discovered two girls, whose mother was a disreputable woman, and brought the facts to the notice of the police guardian, who placed them in the Industrial Home. I have been interested in several working girls and have followed them up and endeavored to keep them in touch with spiritual things. I helped to prepare program and make arrangements for Sabbath-school rally on September 30th, where 130 were present. Dr. Spalding made an address to the children. This was the first day with us. I also helped with the Christmas entertainment. I have met with the W. M. society every month. We have followed the subjects given in the Magazine and usually have interesting meetings. We sewed one day for a sick family, entertained the Presbyterial W. M. S., helped with two receptions by the congregation, and gave the annual congregational dinner. We held our annual Thankoffering service March 31st. The offering amounted to $34.

Dr. Spalding held evangelistic services the last three weeks of March, followed by communion service. Eleven persons united with the church, six by profession of their faith in Christ. The meetings were well advertised, many personal invitations being given by members of the congregation. I distributed 195 invitations. The church was well filled every night and a quiet thoughtfulness was manifested. The congregation is getting in good shape for aggressive work. The Sabbath-school numbers more than ever before in its history.

In reviewing the work for the past year, my thought is one of regret that I have not been able to accomplish more for "Him who gave himself for us." Although the results are not what we hoped for in many respects, yet we believe much progress has been made. Many discouragements and disappointments have not lessened our faith in the final success of our work in this city. As Dr. Judson said, when asked what was the outlook for missions in Burmah, "Our prospects are as bright as the promises of God'.'

I trust that God will own and bless the words spoken and the prayers offered, that all which hinders may be forgotten and that

He will make His work in us glorious.

Respectfully submitted,

MARTHA G. MORROW.

Miss Beaton tells of her continued labors in Colfax:

The Women's Board of U. P. church :—

DEAR SISTERS :—I can scarcely realize that a year has gone by since I sent my last resume. The year has brought many difficulties, also many blessings, and although we have not made the progress we ought to have made, nor accomplished all the work we had planned, yet we feel sure the Lord will take care of the good seed that has been sown.

I will not take your time telling you of some of the difficulties we have to meet, except to say, what every one says who tries to do any Christian work here, that it is a very difficult field. It is not popular to be an active church member, especially a member of the United Presbyterian church. We have taken in four new members, but have lost twice that number by removals. We are still in need of workers, our working force being very small.

The attendance at our services is a little better, and the work of the Sabbath-school Junior society is as it has always been very encouraging. The Senior C. E. has improved very much during the last few months.

We do not feel so encouraged over the condition of the Woman's Missionary Society. The ladies are not interested enough in the meetings, and although we have tried every scheme we could think of to make the society interesting to them, yet we do not make much progress.

The missionary's work here is very different from the work of one in the city. We do not have a large field, and after being here two years and a half, one knows almost every family, and the church they attend, and unless a new family moves in we do not have any new calls to make, and we find these confined to a certain number whom we hope to benefit.

Our Sabbath-school enrollment is about sixty-five, not more than a dozen of these being connected in any way with our church. While most of the children attend other schools besides ours, and a few of them come from homes represented in other churches, yet a large number are from non-Christian homes, and here we try to reach the parents through the children. My work has taken me into all kinds of homes, although the very poor are few, and I have always met with a welcome and have tried in every way to advance the cause of Christ among these people.

I feel that in reporting 875 calls it will seem very few, but in this small place it is not possible to make any more. Beside the calling of course there has been sick ones to care for, and sewing and helping in many ways those who needed help.

I have just missed one Sabbath with the exception of the month of June, and I think about two prayer-meetings on account of illness.

The greater part of a week I spent with Dr. Hays and Mr. Reid at Hooper, where we organized a church. The work there is very encourageing, the people being very earnest and willing to do all they can.

Praying that the Lord will add his blessing to the work of the Women's Board, I am

Your sister,

ALBERTA BEATON.

Bloomington, Ind.

Mrs. Alice Marlin presents her first report to our convention. She is partly supported by the congregation of First church, Bloomington.

To the Women's Board:

DEAR SISTERS:—Since the 20th of November I have been engaged in city mission work in Bloomington, and now have the pleasant privilege of submitting to you a résumé of my work during the past four months.

My first thought is that of gratitude to God for the privilege of being a laborer in the Master's vineyard, and also to you for the great support you have given me. As I look back over the past four months I see many things to encourage and make us more earnest in our efforts. When we look at our work from week to week, we feel that we have made little progress, but when we look back over it all we are rejoiced to note the advancement that has been made. Homes have been transformed in appearance, greater interest is manifested in spiritual things, and the Bible is read and studied in many homes. Our hearts have been gladdened by the erection of a chapel in our little mission field, which was dedicated on the evening of November 29, 1900. Much good seed has been sown in the field through the untiring efforts of our pastor, Rev. W. A. Littell, and the faithfulness of superintendent and teachers. During the past year twenty-nine from the mission have accepted Christ. The Sabbath-school was organized with an enrollment of twenty-five, which has been increased to one hundred and forty and is self-supporting.

Preaching services are held in the chapel on Monday evening by the pastor. The attendance is good. A women's prayer-meeting is held each Thursday in the different homes. A mission band was organized four months ago, which meets each Saturday afternoon and has a membership of sixty-seven. One hour is spent in Bible study and one-half hour in sewing. From November 20 to April 1 I have a record of 527 calls. Children have been gathered into our Sabbath-schools and literature and catechisms distributed.

The Bible has been placed in a number of homes and clothing and provision given to a number of destitute families. The Bible and other good books have been read to those who cannot read and to those who are sick. Much of my time during the last two months has been spent in ministering to the sick in these destitute homes. A missionary's life is full of little ministrations directed to both the spiritual and physical natures that cannot be reported but which may in God's own good time and way bud and bloom and bear fruit to his holy name.

I find many who are disheartened and discouraged and almost tired of life, and here is the most difficult part of my work—to comfort those who are yet strangers to Christ and that peace that passeth all understanding. I can only rely on God's promise, "Go and I will be with thy mouth and teach thee what thou shalt say." It is God that worketh in me, and to His name be all the praise and glory. That God may use me as an instrument in His hand of doing much good and advancing His cause is the prayer of

Yours,

MRS. ALICE MARLIN.

Good Hope Mission.

Our Good Hope Mission, under the efficient leadership of Dr. Miller, still continues to grow and prosper, so much so that the services of a special missionary were needed for only a part of the time, as appears from the following:

Mrs. H. C. Campbell.

DEAR FRIEND:—I herewith submit report for the year 1900–1901 at Good Hope Mission, as by your request of April 3.

During April, May and June, 1900, I visited at Good Hope Mission on the basis of half time, giving each afternoon of the week to the work except Monday. In April 110 visits were made; in May 114, and in June 108, making 332 visits in all, in the three months. In July and August it was thought best to omit the regular visiting work on account of the hot weather, many of the people being away from the city. During that time, however, I still attended the regular church services while I was at home and made occasional visits where it seemed necessary. In the two months I made 20 calls.

On September first the work was resumed and then for two months, September and October, I worked on the basis of full time, spending five days each week visiting among our people. In September I made 208 visits, in October 120.

During the remainder of the year and the beginning of 1901 until February I attended the regular and mid-week services and made such visits as seemed to be necessary in cases of sickness or trouble. In November 37 visits were made; in December 19, and in January 6.

The regular work was again taken up February 10th, and during February and March I have been working on basis of half time again, giving alternate days, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays each week to the work. In February 84 visits were made and in March 106.

For the year, therefore, from April 1st, 1900, to March 31st, 1901, I report 932 visits made, having given only seven months to the work, and five months of this time working half time. During the whole year I have not failed to attend the Sabbath and mid-week services at the mission chapel, except during the three or four weeks I was out of the city in the summer.

The work is interesting, and we feel that God is blessing it to the more than 130 homes represented in our mission Sabbath-school.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH WISHART.

Allegheny, Pa., April 9th, 1901.

Conclusion.

All the foregoing is a very meager statement of the work that could be recorded. Of the seed sown in human hearts, through words and deeds of kindness and love, only God keeps the record, and He will see to it that due reward shall be given. One interesting fact to be noted in the following financial statement is, that the expenditures in this department have exceeded the receipts by more than seven thousand dollars, clearly demonstrating the wisdom of our policy in always reporting a cash balance at the close of each year.

This large outlay may be explained by the fact that a request came from the Board of Home Missions asking us to assist it in new work undertaken in very important fields. After prayerful consideration it was decided to grant the request and the necessary amount of money was paid to treasurer of Home Mission Board. We hope you will rejoice to know that the new work in Home Missions this year was paid for by the women of the church.

HOME MISSIONS.

Received during the year 6,774.01.
Expended " " " 14,271.90.

MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

No work undertaken by us gives us more real joy than that under the above caption. Our only regret is that our knowledge of persons to whom we could be helpful through this fund is so limited. We urge all who know of ministers or their families in circumstances where a little assistance would be acceptable to report names and addresses at once.

Receipts, $581; expended, $432.74.

Respectfully submitted,

(MRS. H. C.) ELIZABETH CAMPBELL.

MOUNTAIN WHITES.

The Women's Board, at a late meeting, directed your Home secretary to make investigation in regard to the Mountain Whites and report at an early date. Owing to illness and bereavement in the family of the Home secretary, no report can be presented at this time.
